LEY, NO. 4 NAZI, ENDS LIFE

HANGS HIMSELF WITH GI TOWEL IN ALLIED CELL

Labor Boss Awaited War Crimes Trial

NUERNBERG, Germany, Oct. 26 [Friday]—(AP)—Dr. Robert Ley, 55, nazi labor boss, hanged himself last night with a noose fashioned from strips of a towel in his Nuernberg jail cell where he awaited trial as a major war criminal.

Dr. Robert Ley

Ley, who had alternated between tears and black periods of depression since his capture last May, came to a messy and determined end in what was apparently a long and carefully planned suicide.

He ripped an American army towel into strips, tied the strips together and soaked the knots in water to keep them from slipping. Then he tied one end to the plumbing, stuffed his throat with bits of his own underwear, and after slipping the noose around his neck, sat on the toilet seat and strangled himself to death.

Only Feet Visible

Shortly before Ley's suicide, Capt. Hubert H. Biddle of Bremen, chief prison officer, had changed all the mattresses in the cells to forestall any attempt to secrete suicide instruments.

The prisoners were inspected every 30 seconds by a guard, but the guard looking thru a peephole could see only Ley's feet as he sat on the toilet seat and he was not suspicious until too late.

Ley was cut down by a prison officer, Lt. G. H. Graven of Madison, Wis., and artificial respiration was administered by prison doctors, who pronounced Ley dead after cardiazol failed to have the desired effect.

Ley, a lover of luxurious living, died in a bare prison cell amid grim surroundings in sharp contrast to the life he led as chief of Hitler's labor bund whose motto was "Strength thru joy."

Fourth on Allies' List

He was listed fourth in the indictments of 24 chief Nazis by the allied prosecutors a week ago, being preceded only by Goering, Von Ribbentrop, and Hess.

Ley was captured on May 16 by the 101st airborne division near Berchtesgaden, acting on a tip of the German underground. He reached for a vial and attempted to swallow its contents, but the intelligence officers were too quick for him and knocked the poison from his hand.

Ley was among the most fanatical of all the Nazis. He rose thru the party's ranks to become one of Hitler's most powerful lieutenants. As leader of the German labor front he controled 95 per cent of all the gainfully employed persons in the reich, probably 25,000,000 to 30,000,000 workers.

He edited two newspapers, one of which has been described as "the

BY RITA FITZPATRICK

That American fashions in modish seven league boots have overtaken and surpassed Parisian styles was proved definitely yesterday afternoon and evening at the sixth annual Chicago Tribune American Fashions shows in the W-G-N studio theater.

Altho all seats for all performances were sold out weeks in advance, throngs of women called THE TRIBUNE requesting tickets. Many of those fortunate to have secured places weeks ago came with babies in their arms, and others, determined, not to miss a new trick of sleeve or drape, brought opera glasses.

Voting Is Determined

The latter precaution was unnecessary, as each of the beautiful 50 ensembles in the 1945 American Fashions collection could be seen from every part of the studio. A carpeted runway pierced the center of the spacious studio and 13 of the nation's loveliest mannequins strolled gracefully and leisurely from the gold and silver curtained stage.

With an intensity and appreciation born of sacrifice and longing during the war years, the audiences at both performances yesterday voted determinedly for the grand prize winners of $2,000, $1,000, and two $500 awards. A preview audience of 550 Chicago stylists had cast their votes Wednesday evening. Votes cast at today's matinee and evening showings will be totaled with the others to select the principal winners, and will be announced over W-G-N after the last show this evening.

The results of the three showings so far prove that the 1945 woman likes her practicality mixed with elegance.

Designs Are Original

The four leading costumes, chosen by the audiences so far, are a gray suit trimmed luxuriously in beaver, a white wool, cocktail suit touched dramatically with green sequins, a white crepe evening gown topped with a striking purple and white coat, and a delightful teen-age, double duty day time and evening frock of green velveteen and plaid taffeta.

All of the 50 ensembles in the show had been selected from among thousands of sketches entered in the American Fashions contest by amateur and professional designers thruout the country. Each of the successful contestants have been awarded $50 and their designs executed into stunning reality by the country's top flight dressmakers and tailors.

The results show that American designers have an originality, a freshness, and an artistic talent superior to their Parisian predecessors.

Bespeaks a New Day

The American Fashions collection bespeaks a new day, a day of simple elegance, of confident beauty, and of American dominance in the style world. The fabrics alone used in the costumes are works of art. There are rich metallic moires, heavy lustrous satins, gold encrusted crepes, and soft, luxurious velvets.

But the designs are subtly simple, catching grace in the drape of a sash or dash in the cut of a lapel. Beside them, new Parisian fashions, with the exaggeration of hip and hat, appear grotesque.

It is a collection for every girl and every woman. There are costumes for the flip teen-age miss and for the sophisticated lady. The teen-

MR. BUMBLE AND OLIVER TWIST

Charges Fast Tire Workers Get Beaten Up

Akron, O., Oct. 25 (AP)—E. J. Thomas, president of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company, said today there was a labor slowdown in his plant and that it had reached a point where workers were beaten up if they exceeded the union-prescribed production scale.

Thomas told a group of reporters that such beatings were rare, but said "any man who violates the work rate doesn't enjoy life too much." His firm has been on a six hour day and 36 hour week since V-J day.

Predicting the tire industry would produce 70 million passenger car tires in 1946 and 1947 if allowed to operate even on a six hour day, he said 85 per cent of each tire would be made of synthetic rubber.

Denial by Union

C. V. Wheeler, president of the Goodyear local of the CIO United Rubber Workers, told reporters later there was no slow-down here. He said workers in the Goodyear plants "set a fair pace, and what management is trying to do is put in a speed-up program."

Wheeler declared the workers could produce enough tires to meet the demand at the present rate. He was not quoted as discussing the beatings charged by Thomas.

Thomas made his statements to a group of 16 reporters who have been across the nation and back to survey post-war reconversion problems.

"We are now faced with a six point union demand that we cannot possibly meet without raising prices," Thomas said. "They are asking a six hour day, 30 hour week, a pay increase of 30 cents an hour, with an adjustment of all inequities, 10 cents an hour extra for night work, and double pay for seven holidays.

Waits Government Policy

"We don't know how to answer this and we won't know which way to move until we get a definite government policy."

Goodyear needs 2,500 more men than it can get, Thomas said, and is now operating at about 75 per cent of capacity.

The labor slowdown approximated nearly 20 per cent, he asserted, adding that absenteeism was as high as 10 per cent. The slowdown existed despite all workers being on a pay-by-the-piece basis, he said, with good workers averaging $1.30 and hour.

10,000 JAPS GIVE UP ARMS TO YANKS AND CHINESE AT TSINGTAO

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

TSINGTAO, China, Oct. 25—Maj. Gen. Eiji Nagamo, who commanded Japanese troops in this area, today took off his white gloves, adjusted his horn rimmed glasses, and signed surrender papers under which 10,000 Japs laid down their arms.

Then as he unbuckled his samurai sword, laid it on the table and saluted a gathering of United States marine, naval, and Chinese central government officers, 5,000 Chinese gathered in the grandstand of the Tsingtao race course cheered and applauded.

Maj. Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd, commanding the United States 6th marines, and Lt. Gen. Pao-cheng, representing the Chinese war ministry, signed the surrender documents.

4 DIE, 19 HURT, AS TRUCK AND TRAIN COLLIDE

Madison, Ill., Oct. 25 (AP) — Four persons were killed today and 19 were injured when an Illinois Terminal railroad train hit a trailer-truck at a crossing here. The dead were F. R. Groshong, 67, Venice, Ill., motorman on the train; Miss Eva May Streeper, 18, Alton, Ill.; Allen R. Smith, 28, Litchfield, Ill., and an unidentified woman.

Seriously injured were Ralph Truss, 36, Indianapolis, Ind., driver of the truck, and Mrs. Catherine Carmody, Granite City, Ill.

Groshong and the two dead women were trapped in the caved-in front of the two-car train. Their bodies were dragged from the wreckage by Madison firemen who for 45 minutes fought a fire started by blazing gasoline from the truck. The truck overturned, spilling its cargo of automobile wheels over near-by lawns.

TELEVISION 'EYE' SEES IN DARK BY INFRA-RED RAYS

New York, Oct. 25 [Special]—A new television pickup "eye," a camera tube so sensitive that at times it can see better than the human eye, emerged from war time secrecy today and was demonstrated in a studio of the National Broadcasting company.

The device, described as "image orthicon" and resembling a flashlight 15 inches long, picked up studio scenes with the aid of a small flashlight, then a couple of candles, a match, the glowing end of a cigaret, and finally a scene in the dark, relying only on infra-red rays, which do not react on the eye.

The tube promises clearer television pictures under all conditions day and night, particularly outdoor night events.

Jurors Uphold Heiress in Suit for Separation

Mrs. Alice Lyons, 45, of the Stevens hotel, traction heiress, triumphed in her bitter and sizzling divorce court fight with her husband, Dr. Horace Lyons, ear, nose, and throat specialist, last night when a jury in Judge John A. Sbarbaro's Superior court returned a verdict in her favor on all disputed points.

Specifically, the jury found that she was living apart from her husband thru no fault of hers, that she was not guilty of habitual drunkenness, and that she was not guilty of constructive desertion.

The first finding—that she was living apart from Dr. Lyons thru no fault of her own—would be sufficient under the law to allow her a decree of separate maintenance, which she seeks.

Jury Out Over Six Hours

Dr. Lyons' cross-bill for divorce charged his wife with habitual drunkenness. It was on this point that the entire trial, which began a week ago Monday, hinged.

The jury of eight women and four men retired at 4:35 p. m., and reached its verdict shortly before 11 p. m., establishing a new Cook county record for length of divorce court jury deliberations. The usual time is 30 to 60 minutes.

The four men, it was reported, were for Mrs. Lyons from the start. Thru the long debate, it was said, they won over a number of women jurors who apparently were inclined to side with Dr. Lyons. On one point all 12 jurors, it was said, agreed early. This was that Mrs. Lyons was not an habitual drunkard.

The toughest knot for the jurors was that relating to constructive desertion. The physician had alleged that his wife's conduct forced him to leave her.

Trial Costs County $10,000

Both Dr. Lyons and Mrs. Lyons were in court when the verdict was read. The doctor showed no reaction, but his wife smiled, and her lawyer, Benjamin H. Ehrlich said she was "very happy." Robert E. Cantwell Jr., Dr. Lyons' lawyer, made a motion for a new trial which will be heard next Thursday.

The case went to the jury after the attorneys presented their arguments. Ehrlich labeled Dr. Lyons a fortune hunter who sought to cast his wife aside for another woman. The reference was to Mrs. Jeanette Gartz of 1300 N. State st., whose husband, Adolph F. Gartz Jr., plumbing heir, shot himself to death in April, 1944. During the trial Dr. Lyons denied he was enamored of Mrs. Gartz.

The trial lasted nine days. It cost Cook county an estimated $10,000.

PEARL HARBOR 'GAG' BLOCKED BY HOUSE G.O.P.

'Cover Up' Measure Withdrawn

BY WILLARD EDWARDS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25—Under a fierce Republican attack, house administration leaders hastily withdrew from consideration today a measure attacked as making possible a "cover-up" of the true story of the Pearl Harbor disaster.

This action prevented certain defeat or recommittal of the bill, which provides a maximum penalty of 10 years' imprisonment or $10,000 fine for the transmittal of information obtained from coded messages.

In three hours of heated debate the possibilities of the legislation were so thoroly explored by a series of Republican members, joined later by several Democrats, that Chairman Sumners [D., Tex.] of the judiciary committee agreed to pleas from members of his own committee that hearings be held and the bill rewritten to correct defects.

Called Gag on Inquiry

The bill remains on the calendar and may be brought up when amended to remove all provisions assailed as containing a gag on the joint congressional Pearl Harbor investigating committee.

The temper of the house concerning the bill was demonstrated on a roll call vote. Despite the best efforts of the Democratic whip, a majority of only three votes out of 327 voting was obtained to bring up the bill for discussion. The count of 165 to 162 indicated certain defeat or recommittal later.

The measure passed the senate last June 21 without debate. The war with Japan was still raging. The Pearl Harbor investigation committee had not been created. Sen. Ferguson [R., Mich.] secured an amendment providing that the bill's prohibitions should not affect congressional committees demanding information.

Bill Suddenly Revived

The measure lay in a house judiciary committee pigeonhole for four months without action. Then it was suddenly rushed to the floor today for action.

Rep. Halleck [R., Ind.] led the Republican attack. He noted the all inclusive wording of the legislation which forbids any government employe or member of the military services from communicating or publishing "any material or information which has been, or purports to have been" transmitted in code or derived from coded messages. Employes or members of the military services of allied governments were subjected to the same provisions.

Only the President, the secretaries of war, state, and other departments could authorize subordinates to make public such information, the bill specified.

Provide "Lawful Demand"

As to the Ferguson amendment, Halleck and other speakers observed, it specifies that congressional committees must make "lawful demand" for such information. A majority could squelch requests of the minority for information, they asserted.

"The war is over," said Rep. Michener [R., Mich.]. "I see no reason why the bill should be brought up at this time at the orders of the White House. We want all the facts and the whole truth regarding Pearl Harbor. Nothing concerning that attack can possibly affect the security of the United States."

Rep. Keefe [R., Wis.], a member of the Pearl Harbor committee, said he feared the legislation might jeopardize the inquiry into the Dec. 7, 1941, attack.

Chairman Sumners made a halfhearted defense of the bill but yielded to Rep. Murphy [D., Pa.], a member of the Pearl Harbor committee, and Rep. Kefauver [D., Tenn.], a member of the judiciary committee, who both said they thought the bill needed rewriting to correct "glaring faults."

RUSSIA AND U. S. DICKERING OVER RULE OF JAPAN

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25 (AP)—State Secretary Byrnes disclosed tonight that the United States is discussing with Russia the question of creating an allied control council for the administration of Japan.

This was the first indication of a possible break in the deadlock between Russia and the United States on the Japanese question, one of the major points at issue between the two great powers. Russia has been insisting on a control council.

It was not clear whether such a council, if finally agreed to, would replace or subordinate Gen. MacArthur, supreme allied commander in Tokyo, for the period of military occupation thus far.

U. S. Policy Will Prevail

The state department announcement indicated, however, that the United States would not agree with any proposal which did not provide that its policies should prevail in event of a disagreement among the American, Russian, British, and Chinese members of a control agency.

In other words, officials expected that if this government finally agreed to the control proposal, which thus far it has opposed, it would be on the basis that an American would be chairman of the council and that American policies would become effective in event of disagreement.

The state department's statement, which sought to clarify Byrnes' position on the control council issue, noted there had been "recent diplomatic exchanges" on the subject of a council and how it would work and said that "discussion of the question is continuing."

Russia Reported Compromising

Russia, it was strongly indicated, has backed down from her insistence that decisions of the council could only be made by unanimous agreement of the members—a system that has not worked well in Germany. There were some signs Byrnes and his state department advisers were more favorably disposed to consider the Russian proposition than they had been heretofore.

Thus, some authorities saw indications of more harmony between Russia and the United States.

However, Russia still has not sent word that she will definitely have a representative at the meeting of the allied advisery commission on Japan next Tuesday. Byrnes has taken the position that this mission should be set up before a control council is imposed, whereas Russia has suggested that the council be created first.

Methods Never Clarified

It never has been clear how such a council would work or whether it would replace or assume authority over MacArthur.

The principal characteristics of the German control council are: [1] The French, British, Russian, and American generals on it take turns being president, and [2] no decision can be made except when all four members agree.

This latter rule has stalled the work of the council for long periods. In contrast, Gen. MacArthur has supreme authority in Japan and any time the allied government can't agree on action MacArthur takes American orders.

JAPS MUM ON TRUST BREAKING, SAYS M'ARTHUR

TOKYO, Oct. 26 [Friday]—(AP)—Gen. MacArthur, who urged Japan's premier two weeks ago to break up the multimillion dollar family monopolies, pointedly stated today the Japanese government has not communicated with him on the question. In an unusual move, headquarters authorized this statement:

"No official communication has been received by supreme headquarters of the allied powers from the imperial Japanese government on any phase of the Zaibatsu [big families] question. Any statement to the effect that SCAP [supreme commander of the allied powers] has accepted or rejected any communication on this question is false."

High officials of two of the biggest monopolies, Mitsubishi and Mitsui, this week reported voluntary moves toward partial dissolution of their companies which played major roles in the war.

PEARL HARBOR BLACK MARKET PLOT CHARGED

Senators Are Told of Hula Revels

BY WILLIAM MOORE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25—Navy blushes outshone navy gold braid today when Secretary Forrestal and admirals and captains pieced together the story of hula dancers, roast pigs, and navy politics at a war time navy revel [the navy called it a "luau"] in Pearl Harbor.

When the senate war investigating committee had heard the last word Sen. Ferguson [R., Mich.] charged that the navy is responsible for the theft of a million dollars' worth of its supplies, which he said are being sold on the black market in Hawaiian taverns, hot dog stands, and souvenir shops. He said one admiral in Hawaii had sold $2,637 worth of meat to a Hawaiian tavern.

Admirals Get Scolding

Chairman Mead [D., N. Y.] reprimanded two admirals on behalf of the committee for the laxity of the navy's investigation of its own scandals.

The admirals hurled back a few remarks about "gestapo" investigations, but quickly promised to clean house in Hawaii after Mead rebuked them for using the word "Gestapo."

Mead told the admirals that a navy enlisted man got a deck court for having a 25 cent can of meat and noodles "while an officer who took 1,500 pounds of roasts and steaks goes free." Unless this is completely investigated and the "entire system overhauled we cannot hope to have the navy retain the place of respect required for its officers," Mead added.

The charge that the navy has permitted meats and other foodstuffs to be diverted to the Hawaiian black market by civilians, while Americans have been doing without, came at a hearing on the case of Comdr. Laurence Blodgett, until recently commander of a navy ammunition depot at Pearl Harbor.

Cleared—or "Whitewashed"

Blodgett recently was cleared—whitewashed, committee members said—by a navy court of inquiry and then by a navy court martial of appropriating 1,441 pounds of navy meat and 500 pounds of navy butter for his own use.

The meat and butter, marked as Blodgett's personal property, were found last February in a Pearl Harbor navy refrigerator by Lt. Col. Iven C. Stickney, a marine inspector. Stickney reported the matter, according to the navy, and promptly got a low efficiency rating and a transfer to inactive duty from officer in charge.

Stickney carried his protest to the White House, Sen. Ferguson, and Sen. Taft [R., O.]. Taft notified Forrestal, who turned the matter over to Adm. Nimitz. Nimitz ordered a court of inquiry.

"An Old Buttinsky"

Meanwhile, Ferguson said today, navy friends of Blodgett told Stickney he was "an old buttinsky." Ferguson went further and asked navy witnesses if they had heard that Stickney's life was threatened. They insisted they hadn't.

Ferguson said the board of inquiry found that Stickney had been "highly irregular" in tattling to congress, and the marine officer almost got court martialed. The court, however, approved a court martial trial for Blodgett.

The navy legal staff prepared the case and then held the luau [Hawaiian for "feast"]. Blodgett attended, as did the judge advocate, or prosecutor, of the trial. The hula girls were brought in. And who do you think was announced as the man who gave the two pigs for the feast?—Blodgett.

A "Buttinsky" Again

Committee Counsel George Meader added this information—the navy prosecutor told Stickney before the trial that the court wouldn't convict Blodgett, and informed Stickney that, as others had said, Stickney was "an old buttinsky."

The court martial didn't convict Blodgett. It found the meat and

JUST A WRECK! THAT'S CHICAGO UNDER A-BOMBS

Scientist Pictures Ruin Possible in Next War

BY ROY GIBBONS

Six atomic bombs could wreck Chicago's industries, annihilate its population, and flatten virtually every building in the city in the first 15 minutes of the sneak attack with which an aggressor may start World War III., a spokesman for the association of atomic scientists at Oak Ridge, Tenn., predicted yesterday.

Three or four more bombs would wipe out the steel mills in Gary and obliterate the oil refineries and communities surrounding Whiting and East Chicago, Ind., according to Lawrence S. Myers Jr., the spokesman for the scientists, whose home is in Flossmoor.

Estimate Based on Results

"Our estimate of the damage that will be done by atomic bomb attack in the next war is based on only the minimum four square miles of complete destruction wrought by models of the bomb dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki," Myers explained.

More powerful bombs may have been developed since that time, it was hinted by the University of Chicago graduate, who has been working as a chemist in the production of atomic explosives at the government controled Clinton laboratories in Oak Ridge. But of these super-bombs, unofficially declared to be 10 times more powerful than earlier models, if they do exist, Myers said he was not privileged to speak or speculate.

Bombs from Stratosphere

No one can be sure how the next war will begin, but Myers and his co-workers, he asserted, are willing to "guess" that if it does come it will be by surprise atomic bomb attack, rather than by armed invasion or other methods.

"Imagine, if you can," he said, "a thousand bombers suddenly attacking the United States from the upper stratosphere, deployed over the nation in such a manner that each plane would be in position to drop an atomic bomb on some strategic spot.

Chicago Important Target

"Chicago would be one of the most important targets in such an assault. One bomb could destroy the entire stock yards area, and with it our meat supplies for many weeks. Three bombs, properly directed, could destroy our major rail terminal facilities and industries adjacent to such frate assembly and classification yards as the ones in Proviso, Clearing, Markham, and intermediate points.

"A fifth bomb could cause utter devastation thruout the loop area and also among the lake and river port facilities, including Navy pier. A sixth bomb might be dropped on the airport. Thus, six bombs—possibly fewer—could destroy most of the transportation, communication, and industrial facilities of the city, and also annihilate a large part of the congested population."

Bombs May Hit Many Cities

Speaking for his fellow scientists, Myers asserted that some 8 or 10 bombs could accomplish similar results in New York and its environs.

"Perhaps four bombs each would be sufficient to destroy cities such as Boston, Philadelphia, Washington, Baltimore, Pittsburgh, Detroit, Cleveland, Cincinnati, St. Louis, New Orleans, Denver, San Francisco, Los Angeles, and Seattle," he said, basing his warning on atomic energy computations by himself and his Oak Ridge associates. "The United States has about 200 cities of more than 50,000 population. An average of three bombs each would be required to destroy these industrial centers.

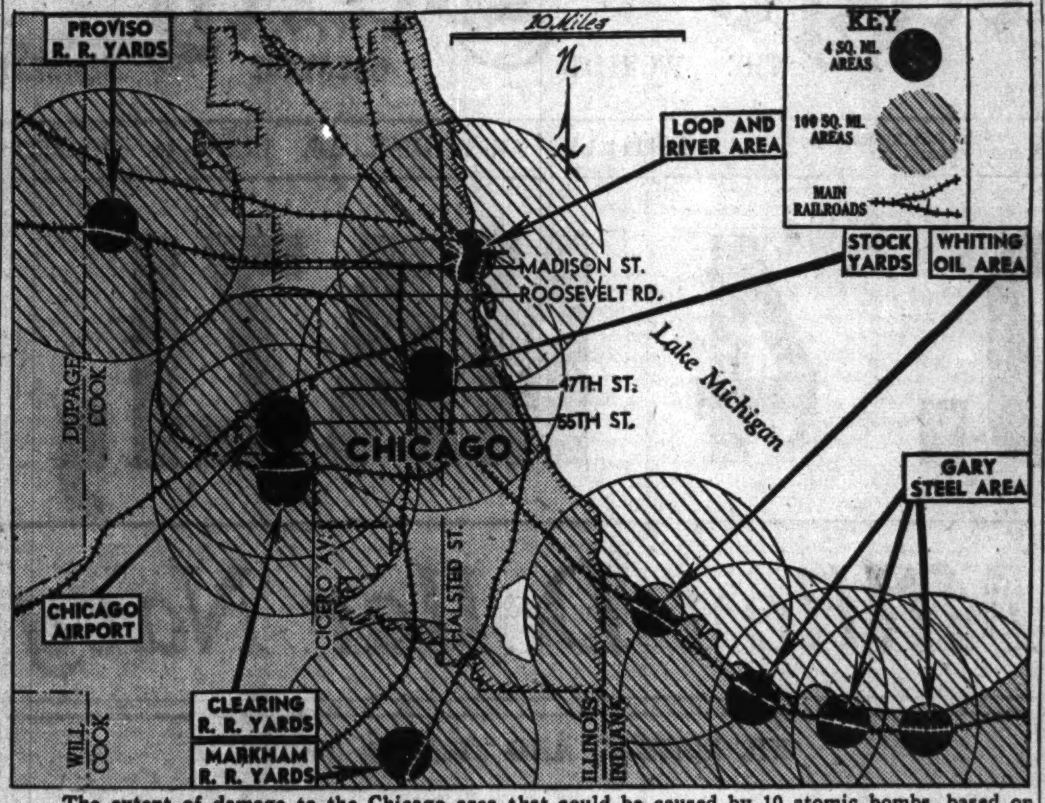
15 Minute Disaster

"It is obvious, therefore, that 600 bombs of the Hiroshima-Nagasaki size could render us wholly impotent. The remaining 400 bombs could be dropped on miscellaneous targets and the entire attack could be so timed that it would all be over in 15 minutes.

"The only logical solution is to set up an international control over the chemicals which can be used for the production of atomic bombs. Only in this way do scientists believe that unauthorized production of such bombs can be prevented to let us look forward 10 years from today with any feeling of security."

What 10 Atomic Bombs Could Do to Chicago

(Story in adjoining column)



The extent of damage to the Chicago area that could be caused by 10 atomic bombs, based on what is currently known of their destructive power, is indicated on the map.

COUNT SALM OF MARITAL FAME FOUND SUICIDE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Oct. 20 [Delayed]—Count Salm von Hoogstraeten, 58 year old Austrian playboy, who married Millicent Rogers, heiress to a $26,000,000 Standard Oil fortune, in 1924, and whom she divorced, committed suicide by jumping from his fifth floor apartment in the Hotel Ritz here last year.

The count had been arrested and grilled by the Gestapo for three days for alleged anti-nazi activities but was released. He told the Ritz bartender that he believed he would be rearrested, drained a glass of wine, and leaped from his apartment window.

[After a whirlwind courtship Count Salm married the daughter of the late Col. Henry H. Rogers, oil tycoon, in New York despite the disapproval of her father, who once termed the Austrian nobleman a "fortune seeker." A son, Peter, now 21, was born in September, 1924. The couple was divorced July, 1927, in Paris.]

PEACEFUL USE OF ATOM ENERGY URGED BY KING

LONDON, Oct. 25 (AP)—King George VI. called tonight upon the world's scientists and statesmen to use atomic energy "solely for the promotion of peace and raising of standards of life everywhere." He addressed students of the Imperial college of science and technology at its centenary celebration.

"Regard your knowledge and your skill always in the light of a trust for the benefit of humanity and thereby insure . . . that science may never be put to uses which offend the higher conscience of mankind," the king told the students.

For world statesmen, he asked for the acquisition of wisdom so "that means may be found, ere it is too late, of insuring that new knowledge recently gained is used solely for the promotion of peace and the raising of standards of life everywhere."

COALITION LEADS VOTE IN BRITISH COLUMBIA POLL

Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 25 (AP)—Reelection of the British Columbia coalition government with a commanding majority appeared assured tonight on the basis of early returns from today's election. Some two hours after the polls closed at 8 p. m., coalition candidates had won 14 of the 48 seats in the legislature and were leading in 16 others. The Coöperative Commonwealth federation had won three seats and was leading in seven. Eight seats were unreported.

DEMAND BRITAIN MOVE IN DOCKS WAR AT LONDON

LONDON, Oct. 25 (AP)—London dockers today rejected renewed union moves to end the strike of more than 41,000 British stevedores and said they would not return to work until the Labor government intervened. At a stormy mass meeting 2,000 voted down a union proposal for them to return to work while negotiations continued. The strikers are asking a 40 hour week and wage increases.

HOUSE FACING HOT BATTLE ON ATOM SECRECY

Congressional Authority Main Issue

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25 (AP)—The question whether congress shall reserve the right to prevent any revelation of atomic energy secrets to other nations is to be threshed out on the house floor.

Dr. Karl T. Compton

Rep. Elston [R., O.] is advocating that congress have power to veto any such revelation. He proposed the veto plan in the house military committee yesterday but lost out on a reportedly close vote.

He said he would renew the proposition on the floor next week. He wants it incorporated into the bill setting up a national atomic energy commission.

May Get Backing

Elston may have plenty of support. Rep. Thomason [D., Tex.], ranking majority member of the military committee, has come out in favor of a congressional veto.

As the bill before the committee now stands, the proposed commission could disseminate any information it chooses to foreign powers unless the President says no.

Elston thinks that isn't enough of a brake.

Meanwhile, in the senate, a joint military-commerce subcommittee neared the end of hearings on a more generalized program for scientific development. The proposal before the senate group is for a national science foundation to foster all sorts of research.

Dr. Karl T. Compton, president of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, told the senators that Japan was working on an atomic bomb, but the effort failed because their physicists reached mistaken conclusions and the laboratory was shattered by B-29s.

Compton has just returned from Japan where a group of scientists investigated for the United States government what Japanese science accomplished during the war.

"Could Kill a Rabbit"

Asked by Sen. Magnuson [D., Wash.] about reports the Japanese had a "death ray," Compton said they had a magnetic ray which would kill a rabbit at about 30 yards."

"They told us muskrats were much more resistant," he added with a laugh.

He said the original idea of the ray was that it could be focussed on an airplane engine and, by interfering with the ignition system, could cause the engine to stop.

"They made it work on a Ford car at 30 to 40 yards if the hood was up," he added. "If the hood was down the metal shielded the engine."

Japs Lacked Teamwork

Compton said the "most striking thing" the American scientists found in Japan was the "lack of teamwork" between the Nipponese scientists and their military forces.

One Japanese told him, he testified, that the army and navy officers would "rather lose the war than shake hands."

Dr. Henry Smyth of Princeton university, who wrote the war department's report on the atom bomb, urged in the hearing that many of the discoveries resulting from the project be made public for the benefit of mankind. He said the nation should keep secret only the details of the manufacture of atom bombs and how they are finally put together.

Chile President

Juan Antonio Rios, 57, president of Chile, arrived in Chicago at 4 p. m. yesterday on a Trans-Canada Airlines plane, the first plane of that company ever to land in Chicago.

President Rios, accompanied by his son, Carlos, and aids, has been in the United States since Oct. 9. He has visited Washington, New York, Philadelphia, and Montreal, and will go to the west coast.

He was met at the Chicago airport by Mayor Kelly and taken to the Blackstone hotel. In the evening he was the guest at a reception in the Drake hotel, given by Mr. and Mrs. David A. Bennett.

The Chilean president was elected in 1942. He is a member of the moderate wing of the Radical party in Chile.

REPORT BRITAIN AND U. S. AGREE ON PALESTINE

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune]

LONDON, Oct. 25—President Truman and Prime Minister Attlee have reached an agreement on Palestine. Details are not yet available, but it is known that Mr. Truman pledged the United States to cooperate in a joint policy on Palestine.

What was called here today the "altruism and courage" of President Truman and Secretary of State Byrnes in agreeing to help settle the Palestine problem has aroused the admiration and gratitude of British officials. This is what the Labor government has been working for in recent weeks and now it feels in a position to go ahead with details of the settlement and with an official government statement of Palestine policy expected in four or five days.

It must be emphasized that there has been no accord on specific details nor has Mr. Truman committed the United States to any definite program. That will be primarily the business of the British government dealing directly with the Jews and Arabs.

DISCOVERERS OF PENICILLIN WIN NOBEL AWARD

together with two of his co-workers in penicillin research, were awarded the $30,000 1945 Nobel prize for physiology and medicine, it was officially announced tonight. Receiving the award with Fleming were Dr. Ernest Boris Chain and Howard Walter Florey, both of Oxford.

Dr. Chain, a German political refugee, is professor of chemical pathology at the William Dunn school of pathology, Oxford.

The award was given for the discovery of penicillin and its healing effects in treating infections. The prize was awarded by the Karolinska institute of Stockholm, medical college designated in the Nobel will to name the winners of the physiology and medicine prize.

BOOK WEISBERG FOR MURDER IN McKNIGHT DEATH

Identification by Victim Told at Inquest

Julius [Dollie] Weisberg, gambler and a former Rush st. speakeasy operator, was booked at the detective bureau yesterday on a charge of murdering Joseph McKnight, 48, an Evanston automobile salesman fatally shot in the Regent room at 1 N. La Salle st. Tuesday night.

Weisberg, who was cleared after he shot and killed a man in a loop street 20 years ago, was held without bail in the McKnight killing. He will be arraigned in Felony court this forenoon.

The formal murder charge against Weisberg was placed after a habeas corpus hearing in the Criminal court, and after an inquest at which a detective testified that McKnight, before dying, had identified Weisberg as his assailant.

Dying Statement Direct Charge

The McKnight identification was quoted by Sgt. William C. Walsh of the detective bureau at a crowded inquest hearing in, the county morgue. Coroner Brodie presided.

Walsh gave this record of the dying man's interrogation:

Walsh—Do you know who shot you? McKnight—Yes.

Q—Who was it? A—Dollie Weisberg shot me.

Q—Do you know him? A—Yes, I do.

Q—I have a man downstairs. If I brought him up, do you think you could make an identification? A—Yes. [Weisberg was taken into the hospital room.]

Victim Identifies Weisberg

Q—Is this the man who shot you? A—Yes.

Q—Do you know why he shot you? A—In an argument.

Sgt. Walsh said that the hospital surgeon halted further interrogation at that point. Weisberg, he said, stood mute.

Charles Morrow, 844 Ainslie st., manager of the Regent room, also was a witness.

Morrow testified that McKnight and Weisberg were standing at one end of the bar, and that he heard McKnight curse Weisberg. "I told them to break it up," Morrow related.

"I turned to walk to the other end of the bar again, and when I got halfway I heard two shots. I turned around and saw McKnight stagger. Then I turned and ran to the front door. I heard several more shots."

The inquest was continued by Coroner Brodie to Nov. 6 at the request of Assistant State's Atty. Edmund Grant. Weisberg did not testify.

Later Weisberg, who is 49, appeared before Chief Justice Harold G. Ward of Criminal court in a habeas corpus writ hearing. The prisoner's lawyer, Harold R. Levy, withdrew his petition.

Meanwhile, Grant and police began search for more witnesses, especially two who Grant said are understood to have remarked that they saw Weisberg put a gun in a holster under his coat after the shooting.

Services for McKnight will be held at 1 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 5501 N. Ashland av. The McKnight home is at 131 Clyde av., Evanston.

LIFER WILL ASK BOARD TO OPEN WAY TO PAROLE

Application for a definite parole sentence will be asked, when his case is called before the state division of correction next month, by Ira D. Perry Jr., 45, who is serving a life sentence for murder. He is the son of a wealthy Chicago inventor.

The case of Perry, who was convicted in 1922 of murdering a jeweler during a robbery, became notorious when it was learned he had been freed three years later by a parole board under former Gov. Len Small which secretly commuted his sentence to a manslaughter term. The move, bared by THE TRIBUNE, resulted in an investigation by the Illinois Supreme court, which ruled the procedure illegal and Perry was returned to prison.

Panama Police Break Up Former President's Rally

PANAMA CITY, Panama, Oct. 25 (AP)—Saber swinging mounted policemen tonight broke up a demonstration for Arnulfo Arias, former president and Nationalist leader just returned from exile. No serious casualties were reported.

POLICE TRYING TO TRAP KILLER OF SAILOR'S WIFE

Lorain, O., Oct. 25 [Special] — Police guarded an area along Lake Erie east of here tonight in an effort to trap a slayer who has eluded them since he escaped last night after shooting and killing the young wife of a sailor stationed in the Pacific.

The slayer, whose motive may have been jealousy of the sailor-husband's impending return home, is believed to be afoot, having been deprived of his escape car by a coincidence while he apparently was hiding his victim's body.

The wife, Mrs. Helen Duffield, 24, a Lorain stenographer, was shot four times by a man who stepped into her car and tussled with her. The pretty brunette had driven to a sandwich shop for a cup of coffee after spending the evening cleaning the apartment in which she planned a homecoming for her husband, Paul, a radar man, expected to return next month from three years of overseas duty.

Three Witness Shooting

Three men in the sandwich shop saw the shots fired when they ran to the street upon hearing Mrs. Duffield's screams. As she slumped from the bullets, the slayer leaped from the right side of the car, ran around it and got behind the wheel.

Whirling the car around, and striking a parked automobile in his haste, the slayer drove speedily toward Lorain's eastern outskirts. City Councilman James Romosery and his brother, Paul, who saw the shooting, leaped into their car and gave chase at 85 miles an hour, but the gunman outdistanced them.

Headed toward Cleveland on U. S. Route 2, the slayer turned off on a side road in near-by Avon and drove into a one way lane leading to a greenhouse in an isolated section.

Body In Undergrowth

Police believe he was in the act of hiding Mrs. Duffield's body when the greenhouse owner, Ellis Hoag, made a late visit to the place. Seeing the strange car in his driveway, its motor running, Hoag feared a burglary. To cut off the car's retreat, Hoag set his brakes and locked his car, then left and called police.

They followed a trail of blood to a near-by tangled undergrowth and found Mrs. Duffield's body. Still in the car were the slayer's tan topcoat and scarf.

Police found the slayer's muddy footprint near the body and made a plaster cast of it. Thruout the day and night they watched roads and scoured the district in the hope of capturing the gunman before he could obtain another car and flee from the area in which they believe he may be hiding.

U.S. to Turn Over Bremen to British About Nov. 1

MARINE AND PAL ORDERED HELD IN PARK RAPE CASE

Marine Pvt. Henry Pabis, 18, of 1329 Chicago av. and Roman J. Pystrek, also 18, of 745 N. Elizabeth st., were held to the grand jury by Judge J. M. Braude in Boys' court yesterday on a charge of rape. Bail was fixed at $5,000 each.

The complainant, a woman, 21, said that the two defendants and a third youth, who is sought, overpowered her in Eckhart park, Noble and Chestnut sts., early Sunday. She had met one at a dance, she said, and was being taken home.

Ernest H. Pugh, 18, of 1610 N. Mason av., a sailor at the Great Lakes Naval Training center, showed Waukegan police how he seized a student nurse in the suburb Aug. 10, and raped her. He is held by Oak Park police, who arrested him Tuesday after his confessed rape of a 56 year old widow in Oak Park.

ADM. KING VIEWS N. U. NAVY UNITS IN PARADE TODAY

Visitors Flock to Glenview Air Station Tomorrow

Fleet Adm. King will be the guest speaker this noon at a luncheon in Scott hall, Northwestern university, with Franklyn B. Snyder, university president, and Mrs. Snyder as hosts. The admiral will review the naval R. O. T. C. and V-12 units of the university and attend a naval convocation.

Capt. Joseph M. Carson, U. S. N., commanding officer of the Glenview naval air station, issued an invitation to the residents of north shore and northwest suburbs to visit the station from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. tomorrow, Navy day.

Entire Field Open to Visitors

The invitation, which stipulated that visitors arrive in automobiles because pedestrians cannot be transported, covered the 1,250 acres of the field. The primary training squadron has completed approximately 100,000 training flights since the beginning of World War II. The lake training carriers, Wolverine and Sable, completed 136,428 carrier qualification landings before the operations were discontinued on Sept. 15.

Visitors will be permitted aboard the Wolverine and the Sable at Navy pier from 1:30 to 4:30 p. m. tomorrow. To facilitate handling of crowds expected to view the carriers, arrangements have been made for public use of parking lots on Grand av. east of Outer dr. Entrance to Navy pier may be made thru the main gate of the pier, at the foot of Grand av.

Parade in Loop Tomorrow

Vice Adm. Mitscher will review a parade of 3,000 sailors from Great Lakes, one company of marines, a company of WAVES, and 200 coast guard volunteers at 10 a. m. tomorrow. Starting at Monroe st., the parade will move north in Michigan av. to Randolph st., west to State st., south to Jackson blvd., west to La Salle st., and north past the city hall reviewing stand.

The medium rocket ship 507, tied up at the Michigan av. bridge, will be open to visitors today, tomorrow, and Sunday from 9 to 11:30 a. m. and 1 to 5 p. m. Equipped with 20 five inch rocket launchers, each capable of firing 24 rounds a minute, the 507 is a newly built type which has never seen action.

The LST 312, which will join the Navy day celebration, will be the scene of Navy day broadcasts today from station W-G-N.

Adm. Mitscher will be a special guest at an open house for all army and navy officers and their wives in the Armed Forces Officers' club, 130 N. Wells st., at 2 p. m. tomorrow.

$150,000 Fire Destroys Great Lakes Warehouse

Fire of undetermined origin early yesterday destroyed a warehouse in Camp Robert Small at the Great Lakes naval training center, which was filled with mattresses. Loss was estimated at $150,000. Fire departments from Great Lakes and four neighboring towns fought the blaze for several hours. Camp Robert Small is used as a marine separation base.

OFFER TO CLEAN SOAPED PANES OF BOND BUYERS

The "tricks or treats" taunt of Halloween will be reversed this year when 20 Harrison High students go on their door-to-door tour. They will be dressed in Halloween outfits, but will be on a war bond tour and will guarantee purchasers of bonds against soaped windows.

The students, members of the Harrison student council and band, started their tour in the vicinity of the school last night. They will continue their bond selling efforts until Nov. 2.

Bernard B. Kaplan, a member of the school staff, said the students will clean any windows soaped during Halloween week.

HERE'S A PAPER ISSUED WITHOUT A LINE OF TYPE

The latest developments in a printing technique that requires no type and hence no printers were exhibited here yesterday. The technique, adaptable to both offset lithography and letter press, employs an ingenious typewriter called a vari-typer, described as having a mechanical brain. The machine can estimate in advance the exact number of letters required to fill completely a line of a given column width.

Originators of the vari-typer said it was used extensively by army, navy, and government publications during the war. They said it could be used for books and any other type of publication, including magazines and daily and weekly newspapers.

Used to Issue Trade Paper

During the recent typographers' strike, which closed many of Chicago's job printing plants, the typeless method was used to meet the lack of machine and hand set composition in publishing Advertising Age, Sid R. Bernstein, its editor, said. Advertising Age is a weekly trade paper published at 100 E. Ohio st.

The last three issues, including the current edition, which has 48 pages of editorial and advertising content, were "composed" on the vari-typers by stenographers who mastered use of the machine in three hours, Bernstein said.

The vari-typer is manufactured in New York by the Ralph C. Coxhead corporation, which has its Chicago offices at 53 W. Jackson blvd. The Chicago manager is T. J. Downey.

The vari-typer resembles a standard typewriter in appearance, keyboard, and operation. One departure from a regular machine is that use can be made of any of 80 different type faces in sizes ranging from 6 to 14 point, Downey said.

Lines Justified Automatically

In addition, Downey said, the machine has built into it the mechanical brain known as an automatic justifier, which enables an operator typing in normal manner to regulate the spacing of words so that each line will end at a pre-determined point in the same way lines in newspaper columns do.

Once the machine has completed its work, the typed manuscript is pasted in position on dummy pages. Thereafter the usual procedure of offset lithography or photo engraving is followed to make metal plates from which the publication can be printed.

SIX HOUR DAY NEXT GOAL OF AFL, GREEN TELLS SERVICE UNION

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, asserted yesterday that the organization likely will move for a six hour day. Stopping in Chicago between trains, Green appeared before the 500 delegates of the Building Service Employes' union, meeting in the Morrison hotel.

"Because of the progress of science, which has made possible the production of more by fewer men, the AFL probably will ask the shorter work day in order to spread work," Green said.

He pledged that the AFL will enter the labor-management session in Washington, starting Monday, with every determination to work out a plan to minimize strikes. Green said that his organization will make a sincere effort to bring about true collective bargaining.

Veteran Postal Employe Gets Probation in Theft

Daniel T. Kennedy, 66, of 1630 Balmoral av., an employe of the post office for 33 years, was placed on probation for a year yesterday by Federal Judge Michael J. Igoe for opening letters in the special delivery department where he was employed. Michael J. Boyle, assistant United States attorney, said Kennedy admitted getting about $60, but could not explain his actions.

STRIKES SWEEP CUBA; THREATEN RAILWAY LINES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

HAVANA, Cuba, Oct. 25—A wave of strikes threatens to paralyze important sectors of public and business activity thruout Cuba.

Employes of the Sinclair Oil company here struck today, demanding a 45 per cent wage increase, and leaders of the Federation of Railroad Brotherhood of Cuba announced a nation-wide strike in all railways thruout Cuba at midnight Nov. 1 unless the British owned United Railways of Havana and the American owned Cuban Central Railroad company grant their demands for a 50 per cent wage increase for all employes of both companies.

Minister of Labor Luis Azcarate yesterday ordered government seizure of the National Slaughter and Packinghouse company, a $15,000,000 private concern, after company officials turned down a 60 per cent wage increase demand.

A 24 hour strike in all newspapers and magazines was called at midnight as a show of strength of the typographical union of Havana, which last week demanded the so-called revolutionary occupation and confiscation of editorial offices and printing plants of Carteles and Vanidades, two of the largest weekly magazines here, after its publisher, Alfredo Quilez, refused a 40 per cent wage increase demand.

M'ARTHUR WAITS U. S. POLICY ON ALLIED TROOPS

Still in Discussion Stage, Deputy Says

TOKYO, Oct. 26 [Friday]—(AP)—Gen. MacArthur is awaiting word from Washington, D. C., on the strength of other allied troops to occupy Japan, and the date of their arrival, a headquarters official said today.

When told of a report that British forces were due to arrive at Tokyo Jan. 1, Maj. Gen. Richard Marshall, deputy chief of staff to MacArthur, said: "That's news to me."

The joint occupation problem is still in the "discussion stage" among representatives of the allied powers involved, Marshall said.

Why Envoys Were Recalled

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25 (AP) — Government officials said today that Gen. MacArthur ordered the Japanese to break up their diplomatic system for two major reasons:

1. The diplomatic set-up had become an espionage system long before Pearl Harbor.

2. An outside chance that allied governments might acquire secret Japanese papers bearing on the preparations for war.

The first reason is the more important, officials said, because it is regarded as certain that the Japanese managed to destroy all valuable secret documents prior to leaving their diplomatic and consular establishments.

Allied governments are determined that the Japanese start from scratch in rebuilding their diplomatic system, once they again are qualified to resume intercourse with the world. That was why MacArthur ordered that all Japanese diplomatic and consular officials outside Japan be given one-way tickets to Tokyo.

One official said FBI war time arrests of Japanese nationals for espionage in the United States virtually ceased once the Jap diplomats and consular personnel had been packed off to Tokyo.

$1,580 to Heat

As for Japanese properties to be seized in this country under MacArthur's order, the United States will get no bargain. The District of Columbia assessor's office lists the value of the Jap embassy and its accompanying six lots, 123,750 square feet, at $491,763, plus another 10,275 foot vacant lot valued at $23,119. But any real estate agent who tried to sell the embassy property on Massachusetts av. might have a tough time finding a customer.

For one thing, it would cost $1,580 a month to heat the place.

United States officials estimate that between 300 and 500 Japanese diplomats and consular officials will be returned to Tokyo under MacArthur's order.

The Swiss are looking after Japanese interests in this country, but probably United States officials will take over the embassy property shortly just as they did in the case of the German establishments.

M'CLOY MEETS TOJO, HOMMA IN U. S. PRISON CAMP

TOKYO, Oct. 25 (AP) — Assistant Secretary of War McCloy met some of Japan's most distinguished war criminals today as he got a first hand picture of conditions under which American prisoners of war lived on a visit to Omori prison camp near Yokohama.

Lt. Gen. Eichelberger, 8th army commander, accompanied McCloy on the swift tour of Omori, which now houses Hideki Tojo, Japan's Pearl Harbor premier, and Lt. Gen. Masaharu Homma, former Philippines commander charged with responsibility for the Bataan death march.

The secretary came face to face with Tojo, writing at a small desk in one of the barracks. Tojo snapped his feet, but did not bow.

"Are you getting enough food? Enough rice?" Eichelberger asked Gen. Homma.

NATIONS SET UP GROUP OF 14 TO GUIDE ASSEMBLY

LONDON, Oct. 25 (AP)—The united nations executive committee recommended today that a general committee of 14 be established to direct the work of the general assembly. The decision was reached following a five hour wrangle in which Russia insisted on a smaller committee, giving the large nation's greater weight.

The vote was nine to three with Russia, Yugoslavia, and Czechoslovakia opposing and France and China abstaining. Delegates said the general committee would have wide power over conduct of the business of the general assembly of the world peace organization.

Russian objections were inserted as a footnote to the executive committee report and it appeared certain the whole issue would be fought out again in the preparatory commission meeting and the first session of the general assembly.

MUNITIONS BLOW UP NEAR TOKYO; HUNT JAP WHO LAUGHED

TOKYO, Oct. 26 [Friday]—(AP)—Three hundred tons of explosives blew up yesterday in an ammunition dump on Kuriyama peninsula, 25 miles south of Tokyo without casualties to Americans or Japanese, the army announced today.

A laughing Japanese who was seen near the dump just before the explosion is being sought by American military police, said Maj. Cleve O'Neill, commander of the 95th ordnance battalion.

O'Neill said he did not know whether the explosion was caused maliciously or "thru curiosity," and added that officials were confident they would find the Japanese because they knew he wasn't injured.

The ammunition dump was six miles south of the former Japanese naval base at Yokosuka.

Approve Plan to Return Bodies of U. S. War Dead

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25 (AP) — Legislation directing the war department to return to this country for burial the bodies of service men who died abroad was approved today by the house military committee. It applies also to civilian war department employes who died on foreign soil since Dec. 7, 1941. Bodies would be returned upon application of the next of kin.

CLIQUE PUTTING RING OF REDS ON MacARTHUR NECK

Tokyo Flooded with U.S. Fellow Travelers

BY WALTER TROHAN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25—Gen. MacArthur, allied supreme commander, who is at swords' points with a state department clique over the Japanese occupation policy, is being surrounded with soviet sympathizers in administrative posts.

At a time when Russia is demanding a larger voice in the occupation of a nation brought to capitulation solely by American navy, air, and army forces, the occupation headquarters is being flooded with experts who are communists or who are known as fellow travelers.

The Foremost One

First among these is John J. McCloy, assistant secrtary of war, who as one of the top civilian officials of the war department pressed for a secret directive which permitted communists to gain commissions and assignments to secret war department posts. McCloy recently was sent to Tokyo to participate in occupation policy.

Disclosure of the secret order by THE TRIBUNE early this year led to the creation of a special house committee, which is still active, to determine the extent of the communist infiltration into officer ranks and into such restricted posts as intelligence and war planning.

At McCloy's direction, orders barring communists from key posts and commissions was rescinded. The special investigating committee was told by McCloy that a soldier could be 49 per cent communist and still qualify for any post held by an officer who is wholly American.

Relative on List

McCloy's brother-in-law, Col. Alfred MacCormack, at the assistant war secretary's instigation, heads the units of the Office of Strategic Services transferred to the state department when the super-secret agency was terminated at the command of President Truman. MacCormack brought communists in OSS ranks with him to the state department, which reportedly led Col. Frank McCarthy, former general secretary of the war department who had become chief of state department personnel, to submit his resignation.

Three weeks before McCloy left for Tokyo the Daily Worker, official organ of the American Communist party, which is the mouthpiece of Moscow, reported that McCloy would be sent to Tokyo to see that MacArthur carried out war and state department directives.

A Communist Supporter

Another red sumpathizer if not a communist, Owen Lattimore, has been named a special economic advisor to Tokyo. Lattimore was born in 1900 and educated in China, where his father was a college professor.

The China Monthly, a magazine devoted to telling the truth about China, reported in its current issue of Lattimore:

"During the years following his marriage, his admiration of everything British declined, the monocle [he once wore] disappeared, and because of his championing of the Mongols and their grievances against their Chinese rulers, he became known as a Mongol-iac. During this period he became aware of the vast role in Asiatic affairs to be played by the soviet union and a great admirer of the communist system."

TRUMAN WANTS GEN. MARSHALL TO STAY ON JOB

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25 (AP)—President Truman said today he needs Gen. Marshall as chief of staff. The comment raised a question mark over whether the general will achieve his desire to retire.

Mr. Truman made his remarks at a news conference. He was commenting on a newspaper's suggestion that Marshall, who reached retirement age of 64 last Dec. 31, be placed in charge of the proposed universal military training program.

The President replied that Marshall would add prestige to that program, but said the general still is chief of staff and he is needed for that post.

Plea Is Upheld

Mrs. Mildred Diehm and her daughter, Darlene.

Judge Edwin A. Robson in Superior court yesterday denied a petition by Charles G. Diehm, 29, an aviation machinist's mate in the navy, to reduce his $50 a month support payments for his daughter, Darlene, 5.

The payments were ordered when his former wife, Mildred, 27, of 572 Pine av., obtained a divorce Nov. 19, 1943, on her charge of cruelty.

Diehm asked for the reduction on the ground that he had remarried and was supporting his second wife. Mrs. Diehm's attorney, Irving Eisenman, pointed out that he had remarried two weeks after the divorce, and that his second wife was a teacher who could support herself.

DEATH PENALTY COMMUTED FOR FRENCH GENERAL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, Oct. 25—Gen. de Gaulle, exercising clemency as head of the provisional French government, commuted the death sentence of Gen. Henri Fernand Dentz to imprisonment for life, it was announced today.

Gen. Henri Dentz

Dentz had a distinguished military career. He was former military governor of Paris and Vichy high commissioner for Syria. He commanded French Vichy troops in the conflict which broke out in June, 1941, with the Free French and British attacking from Egypt and Palestine.

The high court of justice, appointed a year ago by the provisional government, sentenced Dentz to death on April 19 on charges of treason and intelligence with the enemy. The sentence of death was passed on Dentz before the trial of former Marshal Petain, under whose orders Dentz was acting in Syria.

Rules Trade Unions Can Sue for Libel in Britain

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, Oct. 25—The British court of appeals today decided that trade unions have the right to sue for damages for libel.

DEGAULLE ASKS COALITION OF 3 MAJOR PARTIES

PARIS, Oct. 25 (AP)—Gen. de Gaulle is willing to continue as provisional president only on condition that France's three major parties form a coalition government, an authoritative source said today.

De Gaulle was reported to be confident that the three big parties—Communists, Socialists and Popular Republican Movement [MRP]—would patch up their differences before the assembly convenes Nov. 6 to draft a new constitution and create the fourth republic.

He will surrender the powers of his provisional government then, and the assembly will choose a president to hold executive power during the assembly's seven months of deliberation.

Socialist Leader Leon Blum today endorsed the idea of a coalition of France's three big parties to form a government of national unity. Former Premier Blum ruled out an alignment of his party with the communists at the expense of the MRP, or vice versa. MRP Leader Maurice Schumann was reported to have expressed his party's willingness to participate in a program of national unity. The Communist party has not announced its stand on a coalition.

CATROUX LEAVES FOR MOSCOW

PARIS, Oct. 25 [Reuters]—Gen. Georges Catroux, French ambassador to Russia, who has been in France since mid-September left today for Moscow by air.

REPORT OF THIRD SON'S WAR DEATH IS CALLED ERROR

Marion, Ill., Oct. 25 (AP)—The War department has reported that Col. Jack A. Wilson, A. A. F., has been missing since a Sept. 27 flight in the Pacific area. It had been reported erroneously that Wilson was killed.

Mr. and Mrs. Hosea Wilson, the officer's parents, have lost two sons during World War II. Lt. Lowell Wilson, the youngest, was killed on his first solo flight in Texas about three years ago.

Maj. Gen. Russell Wilson who, as a brigadier general, was killed as he led one of the first bombing raids on Berlin, was the second son to be killed.

Dutch, Eurasians Beaten; Japs Unharmed

BY ARTHUR VEYSEY
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

AMBARAWA, Java, Oct. 22 [Delayed]—The first of 1,200 Dutch, Eurasians, and Japs jailed by Indonesians here a week ago were being released today. Almost all except the Japanese were still bloody and battered from beatings laid on by former convicts acting as Indonesian guards.

Indonesian leaders here said the men had been rounded up on suspicion that Dutch government "collaborators" were among them.

Seventy-five of the jailed men were being taken immediately to hospitals established by RAPWI [repatriation of prisoners of war and internees] at Nagaland, 20 miles from here. One of these had both arms broken in beatings. Others have wounds of the head, back, and shoulders.

Tell of Prison Beatings

The Dutch and Eurasians said that when brought to Ambarawa prison last Monday they were stripped. The ex-convicts, many of them lifers on murder charges, armed with belts, clubs, and whips, formed a double line along the halls leading to the cells and beat the men as they passed. Only the Japanese escaped the poundings.

Some of them were almost crazy from fear as a RAPWI officer, a squad of Gurkha troops, and four allied press men got admittance to the prison. They clung pitifully to the bars and with fear almost clogging their throats they said: "You won't let them kill us?" or "Thank God, you've come." Some couldn't speak. They only sobbed. Never during the war have I seen such completely broken men. After three years in prison under the Japs the past week has been the final blow.

Talk with U. S. Envoy

BATAVIA, Oct. 26 [Friday]—(AP)—Following up their expressed intention of asking the United States to arbitrate the Indonesian-Dutch dispute, President Soekarno of the "Indonesian republic" and his foreign minister, Soebardjo, today called at the United States consulate, where they held an informal preliminary talk with the American consul general. The outcome of the talk was not announced.

Stalin Appeared Healthy Month Ago, Says Pepper

VIENNA, Austria, Oct. 25 (AP)—Sen. Claude Pepper [D., Fla.] said today that Stalin "appeared in good health—at least he walked and talked like a healthy man" when the congressman saw him a month ago in Moscow.

British Again Cast U. S. as Shylock

BY JAMES SLOAN
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, Oct. 25—The British are beginning again to cast America in the role of Uncle Shylock, as they did after World War I. when the subject of their debts to America was raised.

With no announced progress from the British delegation seeking in Washington, D. C., to obtain a loan of several billion dollars, the British at home are making claims that they did all the world saving that was done in World War II.

"Forces of Usury" Hit

"End Shylockism," the news magazine Cavalcade demanded today in a front page streamer on an article that stated, "Britain need not go to the money lenders. This country has saved the world by its exertions in the cause of freedom and now it can save itself from financial slavery to the forces of usury if it will."

Warning that "pound and dollar fanatics" in Washington are likely to dig up nothing save an economic collision between the United States and the British empire that may "wreck every hope of international understanding," Cavalcade asserted that if the British people were willing to make more sacrifices they need not depend on American financing to save their economy.

"Britain Alone Saved World"

The campaign to convince the British that they won the war was given more impetus by William Mabane, former parliamentary secretary of the ministry of food. He told a Liverpool meeting that "Britain saved the world in this last war singlehandedly, and for recompense the world puts us in the poorhouse."

"If there ever was a case for the cancellation of debts," he added, "that case can be found in the record of our islands. We find ourselves in debt by our honest dealings to some of the very countries that we were instrumental in liberating."

BY QUENTIN POPE
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, Oct. 25—The British government's radio campaign of misrepresentation of America's war role has reached a new peak with a statement that by 1942 Britain's munition's production exceeded the American-Canadian output. The implication was left with the New Zealanders that it remained on that level.

The British quote figures purporting to show they bore more of the war's weight than the United States.

A recurring theme is that civilian consumption rose in the United States during the war while the British cut consumption. The New Zealanders have not been told that the American gains represented the mobilization of jobless millions.

Significantly absent from the British propaganda is the fact that American forces in the decisive western campaign outnumbered the British three to one.

The British Broadcasting corporation devoted much time in its antipodean service on two recent days to its version of the joint production board's report.

Virtually the only details given from this report were those that apparently favor Britain. BBC said Britons were so shabbily dressed by 1943 that even by war standards the Canadians and the Americans would have thrown away many of the garments.

EXHIBITS NEW PRESIDENTIAL FLAG TO PRESS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25 (AP)—President Truman today issued an executive order providing for a new flag for the President of the United States. He exhibited the new flag at his news conference, explaining that work on it was ordered by the late President Roosevelt. The flag carries the coat of arms of the President with an eagle looking toward the olive branch of peace, surrounded by 48 stars representing the states of the Union.

The President's Flag

Replaces Wilson Flag

The new flag replaces a former Presidential flag adopted in 1916 by Woodrow Wilson. The old flag consisted of the Presidential coat of arms on a blue field with a white star in each of the four corners.

A White House announcement said it seemed inappropriate to the late President Roosevelt for the flag of the commander in chief to have only four stars when there are five stars in the flags of fleet admirals and generals of the army, ranks created in December, 1944.

Base Color Blue

Specifications call for a flag base of blue, white stars, light blue chief shield, with white and red stripes; shades of brown for the wings, body, and upper legs of the eagle; white, shaded gray for the head, neck, and tail; yellow for the beak, feet, and lower legs, and dark gray with white high lights, for the talons.

Other specifications are white, shaded gray arrows; shades of green for the olive branch; yellow rays; white, shaded gray clouds, and a scroll of white with gray shades.

U.S. GIVES DUTCH ARMS TO CRUSH FREEDOM MOVE

New 50 Million Lend-Lease Credit Revealed

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25—Fresh fuel was added today to the flames of controversy over charges that the United States government is furnishing allied countries with lend-lease and other arms with which to put down independence movements in their territories.

The Netherlands government, against which the natives of the Dutch East Indies are in revolt, has obtained from the United States a credit for 50 million dollars with which to purchase lend-lease arms and munitions that had been requisitioned but not delivered when the war ended.

Up to last July 1, the date of the last report, the Netherlands had received more than 1⅓ billion dollars' worth of American lend-lease goods, for which it pays nothing.

Want 50 Millions More

A further United States government loan of 50 million dollars to the Dutch government for 20 years at 3 per cent interest is under negotiation.

Javanese revolution leaders have complained that Dutch troops are being trained by the American army in the United States and that Dutch soldiers have appeared in Java wearing American army uniforms. Training of Dutch troops in this country began several months before the end of the war. They were to be used against the Japs in the East Indies. The expense of this training was borne by the United States and charged to lend-lease.

Surplus Arms Sought

While the 50 million dollar additional loan being negotiated is intended ostensibly for reconstruction purposes, it enables the Dutch government to use without inconvenience an equivalent amount of Dutch funds for arms purchases. The Dutch are in the market for large quantities of American military equipment in the far east that is being earmarked as surplus.

At present the bulk of the arms used against the revolutionists in Java is being supplied by the British from the enormous quantities of American lend-lease equipment they had obtained for the campaign in the far east and Oceania.

Used by French, Also

For India and Ceylon alone the British got more than 2 billion dollars' worth of arms and other lend-lease goods. Altogether the British empire received more than 20 billions in lend-lease up to the time of the last report.

French forces used American lend-lease arms several months ago to put down the resistance to French authority in Syria and the Lebanon. Such equipment of American lend-lease origin is being employed by the French against revolutionists in Indo-China.

The British stockpile of American lend-lease military equipment is rivaled by the Russian supply. Russian forces are using American planes, tanks, guns, jeeps, and trucks in overawing the populace, deporting dissidents, and looting the cities and farms in Poland, the Baltic countries, and the Balkans.

ANNAMITE BOY SENT TO PRISON BY ARMY COURT

SAIGON, Indo-China, Oct. 25 [Reuters]—An Annamite youth, 18 years old, today was sentenced by a court martial to 15 years at hard labor "for association with criminals."

He denied the police suggestion that he had seen Lt. Col. Albert Peter Dewey of the United States army murdered or had seen the colonel's body "cut up and burned." The defense alleged that statements made to the police by the defendant were the result of "rough" handling.

[Dewey was killed on Sept. 26 by a small party of armed Annamites and his body has not yet been recovered. He was the son of Charles S. Dewey, former Republican congressman from Chicago.]

Seize Annamite Headquarters

LONDON, Oct. 25 (AP)—The Paris radio said tonight that allied troops had occupied the headquarters of Annamite Nationalists in southern Indo-China. The location of the headquarters was not given. Earlier the French news agency, in an official report, announced that "new operations were started tonight in the Saigon region," supported by warships "which traveled up the Nekong [Phon] river."

Russians Act to Break Up German Lignite Syndicates

LONDON, Oct. 25 [Reuters]—Soveit authorities are breaking up the powerful German companies and syndicates mining lignite, a form of coal between peat and bituminous coal, the allied press service reported today. Pits will be run by local committees and trade unions. In the British zone, the Ruhr coal syndicate has been dissolved and a new organization created for regulating distributing and prices, the press service added.

BIG NAVY FOOD SCANDAL TOLD IN SENATE QUIZ

$1,000,000 Black Mart Plot Charged

butter weren't fit for human consumption and that Blodgett had wanted the 1,441 pounds of meat for fishing bait and dog food.

So the navy distributed the unfit for human consumption food among the various messes, and the navy officer in command, Capt. J. S. Dowell, accused of once blocking the investigation, was recommended for promotion to commodore.

"After the whitewash," explained Ferguson.

Case's "Chief Interest"

Spectacular as was the testimony this morning, committee members explained that their chief interest in the case is its illustration of the way friendships and customs of the navy prevent thoro investigations of navy defections.

Rear Adm. Austin K. Doyle testified that he has been assigned to investigate the whole Hawaiian naval area black market in navy goods, which even the committee investigators conceded is principally conducted by civilians. But the committee said it wants to know why the navy permits the goods to get into the hands of black market operators.

Mead said there is evidence that navy meat is being used by refugees at picnics and family parties.

Charge of "Gestapo"

Vice Adm. Charles P. Snyder took up the cudgels when Mead pointed out that Doyle is not a lawyer or a veteran of any big investigations. When Mead said the officers were responsible for the conditions that brought thefts from navy stores and that there ought to be better investigation service, Snyder snapped:

"You mean a Gestapo?"

"You use that term as a defense," retorted Mead. "Why do you bring up that word? You repel any suggestions for improvement."

Snyder withdrew the remark and promised a thoro investigation.

But the story isn't ended yet.

The committee heard a letter from Adm. Nimitz in which he blistered the court martial for acquitting Blodgett, and Blodgett for his part in the situation when meats were being supplied "at great sacrifice" by the people of the United States.

Blodgett has been retired.

As for Stickney, "the old buttinsky":

Well, he has been cited for devotion to duty, promoted to colonel, and—

WARSHIPS BEGIN CELEBRATION IN HUDSON RIVER

New York, Oct. 25 [Special]—Light from scores of navy searchlights cut thru the darkness above the Hudson river tonight as 11 men of war began the three day celebration that will culminate with the Navy day review by President Truman Saturday afternoon.

The beams came from 24 and 36 inch searchlights, on the superstructures of ships only a few weeks ago blacked out nightly with painstaking care.

Thousands of spectators saw the display, which will be repeated tomorrow night and Saturday night.

Tells of Slap

Merle Guild of Park Ridge exhibits face bruises that his father charges were result of slapping by school principal. [TRIBUNE Photo]

Henry Wiebel, principal of the Theodore Roosevelt school in Park Ridge, was named in a warrant charging assault issued yesterday on complaint of Bruce R. Guild, building contractor, that his son, Merle, 10, had been slapped by the school principal.

Guild, who resides at 231 Gillick st., Park Ridge, said his son related to him that at recess Wednesday afternoon he had jumped from the merry-go-round in the school yard when the school bell rang and collided with another boy. After school that afternoon Wiebel called him into his office, Merle related, and accused him of tripping the boy.

When Merle insisted it had been an accident, he said the school principal shouted, "You're a liar," and slapped him. The marks of the blow still showed on the boy's face yesterday, the father said.

Police Magistrate Oscar Stahle, who issued the warrant, set a hearing for 2 p. m. Wednesday in the Park Ridge village hall.

CHINESE REDS WARNED AGAINST MONGOLIA 'WAR'

CHUNGKING, China, Oct. 26 [Friday]—(AP)—A vigorous warning was sent to Mao Tse-tung, Chinese communist leader, today by Gen. Fu Tso-yi, governor of Suiyuan province in Inner Mongolia, who asserted that communists forces were attacking central government troops in the province.

Fu, who commands China's 12th war zone, said the Communists were bringing in reënforcements, estimated at more than 100,000 men, to the border area between northern Shansi and southern Suiyuan and "must be responsible for any crisis that may result."

The Chinese Communists themselves yesterday issued a bulletin in which they accused central government troops of attacking the Red forces which were withdrawing northward from eastern Chekiang province, southwest of Shanghai.

PEARL HARBOR BLOW DEFENDED BY JAP ADMIRAL

TOKYO, Oct. 25 (AP)—Fleet Adm. Osami Nagano, who launched Japan's sneak attack on Pearl Harbor, said today that if Japanese naval and foreign office plans had not gone awry "for some unknown reason," America would have had warning of the blow.

Defending the attack itself as achieving "far greater success than I had expected," he said in an exclusive interview that it was not a military blunder.

Shortened to Half Hour

"At first," he explained, "we were going to give a one hour notice [formal declaration of war], before the attack but the United States was fully prepared and its communications excellent, so it was shortened to 30 minutes' notice."

Nagano, war time chief of Japan's navy staff, now living quietly on the edge of Tokyo, said he accepted "full responsibility" for making the decision to attack, after a bitter internal disagreement in which some admirals favored striking first at Java and Malaya because they believed the proposed strike at Hawaii was "too dangerous."

Expects to Be Tried

Negano added that he fully expected to be prosecuted as a war criminal for his share in the war.

"The Pearl Harbor attack possibly enhanced the fighting spirit of Americans, but I believe the plan itself was not a mistake on the basis of war tactics," Nagamo continued. "If Japan had not achieved such results, I believe the Japanese would have been defeated earlier."

The strike was set for Sunday morning, Honolulu time, because the Japanese knew most of the fleet remained in port on week-ends. The hour of 8 a. m. was chosen because American officers "were inclined to sleep late on Sunday morning," he said.

DR. REILLY'S MICROSCOPE STOLEN

Dr. Carl Reilly, resident physician at County hospital, reported yesterday to police that a microscope, valued at $185, was stolen from his laboratory.

JEWISH WOMEN VOTE TO EXPAND ZIONIST WORK

Despite the political situation in the middle east, Hadassah, Women's Zionist Organization of America, will continue and expand its efforts to rebuild Palestine as an independent homeland for the Jews. This decision was adopted at the closing session yesterday of the 31st Hadassah convention.

The 1,000 delegates set a national goal of $3,010,000 in a drive for support and expansion of their medical, public health, and youth welfare projects in the Holy Land. They reelected Mrs. Moses P. Epstein of New York City as national president for a third term. The convention was held in the Stevens hotel.

Dr. James G. Heller, chairman of the United Palestine Appeal and rabbi of the Isaac Wise temple in Cincinnati, O., said that the post-war condition of the Jew in Europe made it imperative to hasten solution of the Jew-Arab problem in Palestine.

ABC WILL HALT ITS DUPLICATE MUSICAL SHOWS

New York, Oct. 25 [Special]—The American Broadcasting company has joined the three other major networks in advising their affiliates that as of Monday they would no longer be able to duplicate musical programs on both standard and frequency modulation stations, Mark Woods, president of the company, announced today.

The action of the chains is a result of a demand of James C. Petrillo, president of the AFL American Federation of Musicians, that a double crew of musicians be employed if a musical program is duplicated on both types of stations. Previously American had not figured in the controversy because it does not own FM outlets, but Woods explained that some of its affiliated stations do.

He said American could not assume the economic burden of employing a second set of instrumentalists.

Rider in Minister's Auto Turns Out to Be Fugitive

The Rev. A. C. Klammer and his wife, of Frankenmuth, Mich., yesterday picked up in their automobile a man they believed to be a farm hand, who hailed them on a gravel rd. near the Stateville prison honor farm in Joliet. Before they had gone two blocks a prison guard stopped them and relieved them of their passenger. The hitch-hiker was Carmen Seberino, 21, who was serving a one year to life sentence for robbery. He had walked away from a beet patch where he was working on the honor farm.

NEW AGGRESSOR READY TO PROWL, LANDON WARNS

Russia's Stand on Peace Called Vital Test

Lawrence, Kas., Oct. 25 [Special] —Former Gov. Alf M. Landon warned today that if Russia refuses the "proffered hand of the peace seeking nations, we must not shrink from the tragic fact that a new aggressor is on the prowl."

Alf. M. Landon

Speaking before the Kiwanis club here, the 1936 Republican Presidential nominee called for the abandonment of the "impossible Morgenthau" plan for reducing Germany to 18th century agriculture, asserting that unless our German policies are reversed further financial aid to Great Britain and other countries will be "throwing good money after bad."

Our Honor Tarnished

He said we have tarnished our national honor by participating in the partition of Poland and are fast losing the friendship of Asiatic peoples outside Japan, which we won by our treatment of the Filipinos, by using our forces to restore European colonial power.

His talk follows, in part:

"Our foreign policies involve not only our future peace and prosperity but such every day affairs as—how long your boy is going to stay in the army or navy—whether your boy is to be conscripted under a permanent peace time compulsory military draft—how much of your earnings we are to give to Great Britain—and other foreign countries—as subsidies—and the atomic bomb in the hands of other countries.

"Basic Error" Told

"All the money we may give to Great Britain and other countries, in our interest, to help the economic world get on its feet—all the collaboration that might have been but was not at the London conference—the UNO—will not stabilize the world as long as we push the basic error of the ghastly insane Morgenthau plan in the treatment of Germany, and as long as other errors are committed equally destructive to lasting peace.

"First, we have removed the surplus producing territories of Germany and crowded about 70 million people into what we now call Germany.

"Second, even with this surplus producing area, Germany had to import foodstuffs before the war.

"Third, the Germans will only be able to produce about 1,500 calories per day per person. Two thousand calories are a rock bottom diet to sustain life. Approximately 3,000 calories are necessary for a healthy living.

Can't Buy Needed Food

"Fourth, we are wrecking Germany industrially so that she will not be able to purchase the additional foodstuffs she must have.

"Fifth, all that, plus the mass shifting of peoples around like cattle positively means a great explosion in the future.

"Once again our political leaders have lost the fruits of the glorious victories of our army and navy and we are headed straight for a third world war unless there is an immediate and basic reorientation of our foreign policy.

Subsidy Suggested

"Last January—before it was certain that the impossible Morgenthau plan would be followed—I suggested in some private letters a subsidy for Great Britain. But now that appears to be throwing good money after bad.

"It is unquestionably our great responsibility—and to our great interest—to help restore stable world finances — maximum production — broader markets — and thereby higher standards of living.

"But we completely block all that in our German policies. To strip Germany of her industries and reduce her to eighteenth century agriculture so violently disrupts the economic life of Europe that all the money we can scrape together to advance to other nations is of no avail in restoring stable economic conditions in the world. Therefore, stable political conditions are absent.

Back in Ancient Blood Evil

"It's not too late to build for lasting peace if we recognize that we have been sucked farther and farther into the destructive whirlpool of balance of power politics and race hatreds, and calling that coöperative security. Despite our ideological war banners, we have participated in the ancient blood evil of shifting territories to satisfy the conflicting claims of a victorious coalition.

"We had the friendship of all Asians—outside of Japan—because of our treatment of the Filipinos. We are losing it as fast as we use our forces to restore British, French, and until last week, the Dutch as masters. And yet it is being proposed that we form a western bloc composed principally of those same powers.

"If we join them 'as is,' and stick to the Morgenthau plan, then we will need a permanent draft act and large, permanent armies of occupation with higher taxes, because we will pull the heavy oar both financially and militarily.

"First make the United States a sound financial mooring post for the rest of the world to tie to by reversing our present unsound fiscal policies of borrowing and spending unlimited.

Reverse German Policy

"Second, reverse the German policies for which we largely are responsible. In the interest of a stable world, Germany must be permitted an economic, self-sustaining life.

"Third, all nations abandon their extraterritorial practices. We should stand in the far east as advocating in substance what we did in the Philippines where we set the model for colonial treatment and development of self-governing communities."

POPE SEES UNRRA OFFICIALS

LONDON, Oct. 25 [Reuters]—Pope Pius XII. has received in audience a number of senior officials of the united nations relief and rehabilitation administration, including Lt. Gen. Humphrey Gale, in charge of the European regional office, and Comdr. R. G. A. Jackson, deputy director general, an official UNRRA message reported today.

CHINESE REDS HELD AT BAY BY YANKS AND JAPS

BY JOSEPH HEARST

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

TSINGTAO, China, Oct. 25—The Chinese central government today is forced to rely upon the presence of surrendered Japanese troops, their Chinese puppets, and United States forces to prevent Chinese Communists from occupying important North China cities.

From Tsinan, capital of Shantung province, north to Chinwangtao, a general survey reveals that if not for these forces the Communists would control such cities as Tsingtao, Tientsin, and China's former capital, Peiping. Communists actually control Chefoo, Weihaiwei, and Shanhaikwan, where the Great Wall meets the sea, and virtually all rural sections in this vast area.

Communists United

What will happen when the Japanese are sent home and the Americans withdraw is not clear, but reports—official and unofficial—indicate that the Communists are united in their fight to retain control. At Chefoo, Mayor Yu Ku-ying told Vice Adm. Daniel E. Barbey, commander of the 7th amphibious force, and Maj. Gen. Keller E. Rockey, commander of all marines in north China, that if the Nationalists arrived they would be fought with every resource the Communists possess.

However, the matter of "face" is involved and it is believed Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek is anxious to have his Nationalist troops replace the Japs and Americans in this area as quickly as possible in an effort to show the people that the central government can handle the situation.

Beachhead Established

That the presence of the Japanese and marines has eased if not solved the generalissimo's problem is indisputable. At Tsinan the Jap garrison, estimated at from 10,000 to 20,000, is still preventing the Communists from entering the city.

In Tsingtao the Japs originally kept the Communists out and now the marines are doing the job and in effect have established a beachhead where, if such is Chiang's plan, the Nationalists can be landed safely in order to move inland and come to grips with the Communists. It is the same story at Weihsien, Tientsin, Peiping, and Chinwangtao.

Reds Charge Attack

CHUNGKING, China, Oct. 25 (AP) —A Chinese communist "war bulletin" issued at Yenan today accused central government troops of attacking communist forces withdrawing northward from eastern Chekiang province. The bulletin said the east Chekiang [communist] brigade was surrounded near Hangchow Oct. 4 and had to fight its way out of encirclement at a cost of 213 men killed and wounded.

Chinese Reach Manchuria

CHUNGKING, Oct. 26 [Friday]—(AP)—Trustworthy reports said today seaborne Chinese forces had arrived in Manchuria to replace the Russians, who are withdrawing from that territory in accordance with the Chinese-Russian treaty.

Authoritative Chinese quarters said Russia and China had reached an understanding whereby the Russians would withdraw from Inner Mongolia as soon as Chinese troops could reach there.

LEY, NAZI LABOR BOSS, ENDS LIFE IN ALLIED CELL

Hangs Himself with an Army Towel

Wiped Out Unions

The nazi leader was involved in many acts of violence and was frequently imprisoned during the years the Nazi party rose to power. But his efforts won him distinction in the party and in 1932 he became its organization leader for the entire reich. He was made head of the labor front in 1933.

In this capacity he wiped out all labor unions, brutally and ruthlessly. All union members except Jews were told they were automatically members of the new labor front, and those who objected were killed or thrown into concentration camps.

Ley also fought the Catholic church and led the "Teutonic Faith movement" with which the Nazis sought to supplant Christianity. He created the nazis' "strength thru joy" movement and lectured the "Many Children league" on the "natural, healthy phenomenon of illegitimacy." As a result of his constant haranguing he was said to have had more influence on the German people than any one but Hitler.

The other nazi defendants confined in the prison were not informed that Ley had died. The former nazi's body was removed to the prison morgue pending a decision on its disposal.

Otto Abetz Arrested

PARIS, Oct. 25—Otto Abetz, nazi ambassador in Paris during the German occupation, was arrested in the French occupied zone of Germany this afternoon, according to a bulletin received from Baden.

The bulletin issued by the French authorities in Germany said Abetz was arrested at Todtmoor, 12 miles from the Swiss frontier.

Gaston Bergery, former Vichy ambassador to Moscow and Turkey, arrived today by plane from Ankara and was immediately placed under arrest.

Try Bormann in Absentia

LONDON, Oct. 25 (AP)—The Berlin radio said tonight that the international military court had announced that Martin Bormann, former deputy fuehrer of Germany, would be tried in absentia as a war criminal.

Seize Industrialists

VIENNA, Oct. 25 (AP)—Two leading Austrian industrialists, Hans Malzacher and Fritz Wenk, were arrested by United States troops in a continuance of the denazification program, it was announced today.

Blames U. S. Dock Strike for Army Meat Shortage

CASERTA, Italy, Oct. 25 (AP)—Col. J. M. Lamont, chief United States quartermaster in the Mediterranean theater, told the army newspaper Stars and Stripes today that fresh meat and butter shortages here were due mainly to the "inability of New York port authorities to have ships loaded during the dock strike." He said it would be possible to serve troops fresh meat only once every two days for the time being.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

Oct. 26—Erie Canal Launches a Boom

THE Erie canal was opened 120 years ago today and New York state embarked on one of the most delirious celebrations in the nation's history. A week long procession of barges moved down the canal. The dignitaries aboard were cheered and feted at every stop. There were banquets, parade, and millions of words of oratory.

When the barges reached the Hudson river they proceeded downstream to New York. There virtually the whole population cheered itself hoarse. A vial of Lake Erie water was poured into New York bay as a symbol of the union of lakes and sea.

By a feat as magnificent from an engineering viewpoint as it was farsighted commercially, New York had pushed the canal 363 miles across the state and had brought the undeveloped counties near Lake Erie and along the Mohawk valley into close and easy trade relations with the seaboard. Freight rates fell, passenger traffic into the west increased, and an era of almost unprecedented development began.

During the 12 years following that historic Oct. 26, 1825, frate traffic on the Erie increased so rapidly that by 1837 the canal was carrying 50 per cent more merchandise than all the fleets of Mississippi river steamboats were delivering at New Orleans. Cities served by or indirectly benefited by the canal began a phenomenal growth.

The benefits of the canal were by no means limited to New York state. Ohio, Michigan, Wisconsin, and northern Illinois received an influx of settlers once transportation to the west had become easy and cheap.

The Erie canal was four feet deep and 40 feet wide. The sides sloped and the width at the bottom was 28 feet. It was greatly improved later. Sections of it were incorporated into the New York state barge canal system early in the present century.

BRITISH UNIONS DEMAND END OF LABOR CONTROLS

Plea Highlights Fight Over War Powers

BY WILLIAM FULTON

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, Oct. 25 — Demands of Britain's powerful Trades Union congress for removal of labor controls today highlighted the controversy over the new Labor government's attempt to extend war time powers over personal liberties for another five years.

About half of Britain's working population is subject to dictation of the ministry of labor. Men up to the age of 51 and women up to 41 in key industries enjoy no choice of employment.

The Trades Union congress demanded the government end labor controls for persons over the age of 30. About the only relaxation from war time restrictions so far is that men and women who have been in the army or navy won't be forced out of any job they obtain during their two months' demobilization leave.

Plan Wide Controls

Provision for continuance of labor control was just one power contained in a measure recently passed by the Laborite majority in commons and sent to the house of lords. The Labor government is planning to hang onto hundreds of controls over the daily life and liberties of the people thru the five year extension. As a matter of fact the government proposes to add several new regulations such as virtually unlimited power to dictate prices and charges for services in order to carry out their planned economy program.

Meanwhile, every Briton still has to follow the continental practice of registering with the authorities and carrying identity cards, bearing the name, number, signature, and address at all times. A change of address must be reported within 48 hours. Infractions are punishable by fines and imprisonment.

Aliens Must Register

Resident aliens also must register with the police and carry registration cards. They are compelled to notify police within 48 hours of change of address. They are also subject to other regulations, such as filling out forms stating their last address, citizenship, and other data.

The British government has restrictions on the amount of money its nationals may take upon traveling out of the country. A traveler is allowed to buy $400 in foreign currency if he is taking a trip outside of the sterling area. If he has a child under 16 years of age he can buy an additional $200 in foreign currency.

Any British citizen leaving the country permanently has to satisfy the Bank of England that it is a genuine emigration. Each migrating household is allowed to withdraw funds up to $20,000 in instalments over four years.

18-B Rule Dropped

The strictest kind of rationing is still prevailing over food, soap, clothing, foot wear, fuel, furniture, and gasoline.

The notorious 18-B section of defense regulations was dropped after Germany capitulated. Under this law the home secretary could throw any one into prison without trial upon suspicion.

STORM TOSSED MINES IMPERIL BRITISH LINER

LONDON, Oct. 25 (AP) — German mines torn lose by raging seas pitched dangerously near the giant liner Queen Mary tonight, and fierce gales wrecked an American Liberty ship off the coast of France.

One thousand passengers were aboard the Queen Mary which, prevented by the seas from docking at Southampton, had anchored off Ryde, on the Isle of Wight only a few miles from her home port. At least five mines were seen floating toward Ryde in the narrow channel between the island and mainland. Others were spotted off Brighton, being carried westward toward Wight.

The Liberty ship Charles G. Glover, bound for St. Nazaire, was driven onto a submerged reef 20 miles off the coast late last night. A French rescue ship put out to save the crew, at last reports still safe.

USE OF LIMESTONE

Limestone is the most widely used of all rocks because of the great variety and importance of its industrial uses, and because of its widespread occurrence.

TODAY'S MANAGEMENT-man must play his cards well... never before has he faced so many problems demanding quick and correct decisions.

Swift conversion to peacetime operation is imperative. There are problems aplenty... problems of finance... of distribution... of wages and prices... of methods and materials that make the yardstick of pre-war procedure unreliable. Today's decisions must weigh obligations to stockholders, to employees, to customers and to the public. They must balance financial risks and commercial opportunities. And there is no time for leisurely trial-and-error adjustment to the changed conditions.

To management men the present situation calls for concentrated information... for a publication that reports events and trends having special significance for business and industry, and interprets them in that light. Business Week is the only publication of its kind devoted solely to this editorial aim. And, because it is a weekly, Business Week readers keep on top of the business news.

Concentration—three-way concentration—is the essence of Business Week. First, Business Week's circulation is concentrated upon management men exclusively—a carefully identified, known group of men who manage and make decisions for American business. Second, the editorial contents of Business Week are concentrated exclusively upon business subjects. In turn, this audience of management men sees your advertising message in Business Week when they, themselves, are concentrated upon business problems. For the advertiser it is a powerful combination of values unique in the publishing field.

FINDS PALLOR OF HUNGER COMMON AMONG GERMANS

U.S. Woman Runs Short; Serves Potatoes Only

BY LARRY RUE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, Oct. 25—Wherever I traveled recently in the British and American zones of Germany people assured me they received their promised food ration of 1,300 to 1,500 calories daily. But housewives found it necessary to go to market at least twice daily and stand in line for hours.

American and British physicians and food experts have been stressing for months that a low calorie diet is bound eventually to effect the health of the German population. Already children have become skinny and pale. The pallor of hunger, indeed, is evident wherever one goes in Germany.

In Bremerhaven lives Mrs. June Lorenz, nee Alice Lofland. Under the stage name of June Paget, she danced in "Flying High," a stage hit of the early '30s. She lived in Bremen thruout the war after marrying Capt. Heinrich Lorenz, captain of the German liner Bremen, and has four children, the oldest a boy of 11.

Kept. U. S. Citizenship

"I might have been able to get out of Bremen myself when the war began, but I was not allowed to take the children and I did not want to abandon them," she explained. She retained her American citizenship, however, and even registered her four children as Americans with the American consul.

During the war she helped prisoners of war escape to France. One of these former prisoners told me about her work for the allies before I came to Bremerhaven.

At present, however, she is receiving the same food ration allowed to German citizens. Her case, so far as food is concerned, is typical in the Germany of today.

Family Suffers from Boils

During the four weeks ending Oct. 15, she and her children were fed on a basis of 1,560 calories a day—which now has been reduced to 1,345 calories. She and the children are suffering from boils which physicians say are due to malnutrition.

Besides the regular foods such as bread, butter, margarine, cheese, potatoes, sugar and starch products, there are certain items, such as fruits, eggs and fish for which extra cards are issued but which seldom are available.

"I am registered as every one else is at a certain shop and given a number," she said. "Sometimes it is weeks or months before the number for eggs and fruit falls due."

Mrs. Lorenz said one dish meals are the form of cooking most favored by Germans because of the shortage of gas and electricity.

"Occasionally I am able to prepare a warm breakfast of oatmeal or some other cereal with small amounts of pale blue skim milk and sugar," she related. "But this is a real treat, for on starch coupons I usually buy barley or noodles to make soup for the midday meal,

A Cold Supper

"Supper generally is cold, except when there is enough fat to fry potatoes or when there are leftovers to warm up. It generally consists of any delicacy, such as a bit of sausage, a slice of cheese, or thinly spread butter. My children do not know what it is to drink a glass of milk with their meals.

"Last week, as no vegetables were available and my meat ration had long since dwindled away, potatoes, boiled in their skins and seasoned with Worcestershire sauce, became our one dish supper. I don't know what we would do without potatoes."

In Pforzheim, near Stuttgart and miles away from the Bremen enclave, a German hotel proprietor who had been in the United States told me, "I had potatoes for breakfast, I'll have potatoes for lunch, and potatoes will be my dinner."

SPECIAL PLANE FLIES TODAY TO U. OF I. AIRPORT

Miss Elizabeth Mae Doyle, a graduate of the University of Illinois in 1942, will be the stewardess on the United Air Lines special mainliner, State of Illinois, which will fly from Chicago to the dedication of the new University of Illinois' airport at Urbana today. Miss Doyle lives at 6447 Kimbark av. Aboard the special plane will be trustees of the university and officials of the air lines company.

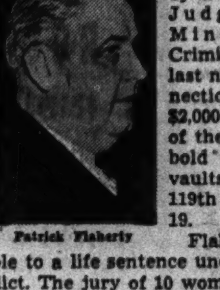
FIND FLAHERTY GUILTY; FACES LIFE SENTENCE

Patrick [Patsy] Flaherty, 43, an ex-convict, was convicted of robbery under the habitual criminal act by a jury before Judge Julius Miner in the Criminal court last night, in connection with the $2,000,000 looting of the E. H. Rumbold company vaults at 624 W. 119th st. last Jan. 19.



Patrick Flaherty

Flaherty is liable to a life sentence under the verdict. The jury of 10 women and two men settled his fate in 1 hour 35 minutes. As the jurors filed in, Flaherty remarked, "That's pretty quick, it doesn't look good." A motion for a new trial made by his lawyers, James Burke and George Crane, will be heard Nov. 6.

The specific charge against Flaherty was the robbery of Robert C. Rumbold, brother of the vault owner. Robert, a watchman, was kidnaped, and his keys to the vault rooms stolen. About $35 was taken from his vault. Flaherty, with Willie Niemoth, was originally tried for burglary. Both were acquitted. Then Flaherty was tried for robbery, but the case ended in a mistrial, resulting in the trial just ended. Niemoth will go on trial Monday before Judge Miner in the robbery case. Prosecutors are Clement Cody and Blair Varnes.

Hearings on Military Training to Start Nov. 8

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25 (AP)—Chairman May [D., Ky.] announced today the house military committee will start public hearings Nov. 8 on President Truman's request for universal military training. The committee has a bill introduced by May early this year calling for one year of training for every able bodied youth as soon as he becomes 18.

CASE OF DOOMED NAZI GENERAL IS UNDER REVIEW

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

ROME, Oct. 25—The case of Gen. Anton Dostler, who was convicted as a German war criminal and sentenced to be shot, is now under review at Mediterranean theater headquarters at Caserta. A final ruling is expected within two weeks. Dostler, the first high ranking enemy officer to be tried by the American army for violating the rules of war, is now at the Aversa prisoner of war camp near Naples.

A five man military commission sitting in the Rome palace of justice on Oct. 12 found Dostler guilty of wantonly ordering the execution of 15 American soldiers. The order was carried out at Punta Bianca in northern Italy on March 26, 1944.

The commission's verdict and the record of the trial were automatically forwarded to the theater commander for review. There has been some delay in a decision because Gen. Joseph McNarney, supreme allied commander in the Mediterranean, has departed. Lt. Gen. Mathew Ridgeway is now the American chief of the theater. Ridgeway has the power to reduce the penally. There can be no appeal.

BANDIT SEIZED, PALS FLEE AFTER $4,000 SLUGGING

One bandit was captured and two companions escaped a police automobile chase yesterday after holding up the South End Currency Exchange, 11415 S. Michigan av.; slugging the owner, Arthur Wall, 51, and seizing $4,000.

Arthur Wall

The captive, who jumped out of the bandit car at 103d st., and Wabash av., identified himself as Clarence Riddick, 25, Negro, 6422 Rhodes av., recently released from Stateville after serving a robbery term.

Wall was slugged when he refused to hand over the keys of the cashier's cage. When the bandits fled, Wall called Policeman John McGraw who commandeered the car of Jack Novak.

Which Insurance Policy shall I buy?

You know the new Illinois State Law makes it important that you carry automobile protection.

Motorists are today being offered automobile insurance by more than a score of companies.

With all these policies to choose from, which will you buy?

In the interests of insurance buyers, Lumbermens Mutual Casualty Company suggests this 6-point Buying Guide. Before you buy any automobile insurance policy, be certain it meets these qualifications:

1. The company must have a strong financial background.
2. The company must have a long established record of prompt and fair adjustment of claims.
3. The company must have offices to serve its many clients throughout the United States and Canada, and its service must follow your car.
4. The policy provisions must be broad, nontechnical and understandable.
5. Supplemental coverage must be available for injuries and hospital expense of the owner and members of the family.
6. The cost must be reasonable.

AMERICANS IN JAPAN

America is supposed to be embarrassed because, participating in joint occupation and control in Europe, it rejects joint occupation and control in Japan. We want something to say in Austria, Hungary, Yugoslavia, and Romania where Russia has moved in with its Tammany Hall and we don't want Russia to have much to say in the home islands of defeated Japan. An inconsistency may seem clear to people who want to see it that way. They get some encouragement at home.

Gen. Marshall, chief of staff, wasn't a great help to the United States when he credited Great Britain and Russia with the salvation of this country, as he did in his report on the war. Unfortunately what he said will not be accepted as the politeness of a modest warrior but as a confession of indebtedness. It comes from a high—Mr. Truman says the highest—military source, can be quoted as a military opinion of the greatest credibility and can be used to the economic, diplomatic, and military disadvantage of this country. It will be.

On the basis of Gen. Marshall's opinion America can be said to be outreaching itself altho no one can see what profit it can expect for itself other than such as comes from a peaceable world. It happens that Gen. Marshall's view of American indebtedness, particularly to Russia, but also to Great Britain, can be disputed with good evidence.

Great Britain undoubtedly saved Russia, not, however, because it so desired. Hitler did not demand the destruction of the British empire. In truth the little brute was a bit of an Anglophile. He was a bit in awe of this Normanized branch of the Germanic stock. His complaint was that the English wouldn't let him get along with them. They didn't have much he wanted or much he couldn't have taken away from them in peaceable trade competition. Russia had everything he wanted.

The English saved Russia by refusing to make peace when Russia was an enemy of England and a friend of Hitler. England refused to make peace with Hitler because it had the United States behind it and Mr. Churchill knew that. He had tangible evidence—a million rifles sent in the dark hours to arm the home defenders. It's all in the record—the betrayal of western Europe by Stalin to Hitler, the Stalin-Hitler alliance, the joint military actions of that alliance, the destruction of Poland by Hitler and Stalin, the appeal of France and England to the United States and the response which came too late to save France but which did give Winston Churchill, our favorite bull dog, a chance to try to get his teeth in the neck of his enemy.

Gen. Marshall has misread current history. It is to be regretted that in doing so he made an excursion into governmental policies. If, as he says, we are the beneficiaries of our European friends, all of whom were facing defeat when we made it a shooting war, then our economic and political approach to the questions which perplex us must be one of submission and not one of free agency.

Russia is back in Manchuria because American victory enabled the soviet army to come back. America is in Europe because it successfully fought its way there. The Americans are in Tokyo because they conquered the Japanese. Americans are in Germany and Austria because they fought their way into these countries. Russia is in Berlin because American troops destroyed the German armies in western Germany and in Italy.

We may be making a mistake in Europe. The excuse for it would be that we have adopted the charter of the united nations and apparently are committed to exercising the authority vested in the security council. That means that we underwrite every treaty and all territorial adjustments, however unjust or dangerous, as soon as the united nations organization gets going. If we are to do that, and our congress has said that we shall, it may be imperative to have as much say so as we can in the arrangements, political and economic, which we undertake to support at all times, against all persons.

In Asia the conditions are different. Russia and China already have agreed as to what the future of the larger part of the continent shall be. They have a treaty, arrived at without our intervention, which settles the status of Manchuria and gives the Russians what they want there. That apparently will be part of the united nations setup. The Russians are in Korea. They have taken the Kuriles. The British, French, and Dutch are hurrying to reclaim what they lost and they will be able to do so, if they can, because the American sea, air, and land power brought Japan to complete submission. None of these nations has any particular stake in the management of the Japanese home island problems. Elsewhere they are free to do as they please. All desire that Japan should be reduced as a military power, and that has been accomplished, as Gen. MacArthur related. The maladministration in Europe entirely justifies the government by a single, competent authority. The United States not only won that authority in war, unaided, but it is the one nation which is not looking for profitable spoils. Our territorial demands will be merely for reasons of military security and will have no regard for exploitation.

The United States is not inconsistent in asking for a free hand in Japan. And it owes no debts to its allies.

MIDWESTERN RIVER TRADE DEFENDED

The United States Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago recently granted a temporary injunction restraining the interstate commerce commission from legalizing certain rates on grain from Chicago to eastern destinations. The department of agriculture, the war food administration, and various barge companies operating on the Mississippi and Illinois waterways charged that the proposed rates would discriminate against barge traffic on midwest inland waterways.

Grain is shipped by barge, by lake carrier, and by rail into Chicago, generally for reshipment to American and foreign destinations east of Chicago. The commission prescribed higher rates eastbound from Chicago on grain brought in by barge than on grain brought in by rail or lake vessel.

The commission recently yielded to the political pressure of southern states in establishing an unsound system of mileage frate rates on certain classes of merchandise. The commission's action in discriminating against the barge lines and shippers of the middle west at the instigation of eastern interests, led by rail trunk lines, looks like some more political expediency.

For more than 50 years the interstate commerce commission has been singularly free from accusations of political bias. Its decisions have been rendered on the basis of proven transportation principles and not as a result of political pressure or sectional clamor. Its excellent service to the nation can be maintained only by a strict adherence to its original sound basis of administration.

THE CHICKENS COME HOME TO ROOST

General Motors corporation concedes fatalistically that its 325,000 employes are almost certain to be led out on strike by the CIO United Automobile Workers. The company's statement is that "in such strike votes the vote is usually overwhelmingly in favor of the strike," altho most workers don't want to strike and hope that the mere threat of a walkout will bring the employer to terms.

General Motors prophesies that the strike may be of long duration, and its only request is that its employes refrain from violence and cause no damage to plants and equipment with which the workers must earn their living when the strike is finally brought to an end.

The labor dispute which is coming to a head in the nation's largest automotive enterprise is not an isolated instance of friction between capital and labor. The nation is torn by labor strife. It would be hard to find a major industry which is not facing trouble.

While all of this is happening the Truman administration is sunk in hopeless apathy. President Truman's abilities are being subjected to stresses which would tax the capacities of a far more resourceful and competent man. So far he has manifested little ability to cope with them. If his administration proves a failure he cannot be held altogether, or even primarily, to blame. He is the inheritor of a veritable Pandora's box of troubles, both on the domestic front and in the field of international affairs. The late President Roosevelt, who was the author of the difficulties, would be no better equipped to avoid the inevitable smash which was being stored up by the policies he created.

It was Mr. Roosevelt who, by establishing lopsided favoritism in the regulation of labor disputes, built up a hierarchy of union leaders who have grown too big for the country. It was Mr. Roosevelt who, by encouraging such leadership to press their demands ever more relentlessly, misled millions of working men into the belief that they were entitled to "rights" which are now approaching such dimensions that the national economy cannot sustain them. It was Mr. Roosevelt whose bland promises, made in the expectation of votes, encouraged the notion that the employer is always wrong. It was the Roosevelt price regulations which now leave producers with the option of operating at a loss if they assent to wage increases which Mr. Roosevelt was willing to require employers to shell out.

If these problems are too big for Mr. Truman, what can one say of his heritage from Mr. Roosevelt in foreign relations? Mr. Roosevelt was not only willing to put the affairs of the United States in an unholy mess, but he insured that the world would enter a period of anarchy and trouble without precedent in history. His decisions at Yalta, which Mr. Truman felt bound to follow at Potsdam, have reduced Europe to misery. Unworkable economic dispositions, starvation, enslavement, and political tyranny are his legacy to hundreds of millions of Europeans.

Mr. Roosevelt made one concession after another to Russia, and not one of the resulting injustices can be recalled. He stored up more trouble for his successor by encouraging every nation in the world to believe that America's wealth and resources were inexhaustible, and that they were to be had for the asking. He is responsible for the belief prevalent in Britain that it is somehow our obligation to carry the empire indefinitely on a remittance basis. The presence of the Keynes mission in Washington today to press its request for six billion dollars is attributable to Mr. Roosevelt.

In all these actions it is easier to perceive expediency, vanity, and the personal ambition of attaining a place in history than it is to discover wisdom or a regard for morality. Europeans are the victims of some of these decisions; colonial peoples of others. But Americans are the victims of all of them. The strife and class conflict at home are but part of the legacy. The hate and resentment of millions of foreigners who have suffered as a consequence of Mr. Roosevelt's intervention await their fulfillment on some future day of reprisal. The chickens hatched during 12 years are coming home to roost.

If, as one theory has it, people can live on their debts if they're big enough, we're in the lap of luxury.—Portland Oregonian.

This is the season of the year when the grasshopper sets in preaching liberalism to the ant.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

ALMA MATER'S FUNERAL

Among the post-war phenomena of Europe, we note a novelty in executions. Czechoslovakia has blown out the brains of the University of Prague, by decree. The sentence was: "To remain closed forever as an institution hostile to the Czechoslovak nation." It was, of course, a center of German scholarship from its foundation until the dismemberment of the Austrian empire after World War I., and perhaps the tradition lingered after the foundation of the Bohemian republic.

* * *

This university was the oldest in central Europe, and its history covers about 600 years. It started as a "studium," or place of study for regional talent, and after a few years it became a "studium generale," to which seekers for knowledge from every corner of Europe might repair. In other words, it rose from college to university rank.

* * *

This change in status was accomplished in 1347 thru a proclamation by Pope Clement VI., who acted at the request of the Holy Roman [German] emperor, Charles IV., who was also king of Bohemia. The next year the emperor issued a charter, which added imperial sponsorship to the papal sanction and gave Prague a front seat in Europe's Ivy league.

* * *

Charles himself had studied at the university of Paris, and he organized the new "studium generale" after that model. Its student body became as numerous as that of the older medieval foundations. Incipient philosophers, theologians, doctors, and lawyers flocked to Prague from all parts of Germany, and also from England, France, Italy, Hungary, and Poland.

In such recitals as this, the names of distinguished alumni are always in order. We will make it short and mention only one, Franz Lehar, composer of "The Merry Widow."

CHICAGO LOVE SONG

I do not see your face in every flower,
For roses never could be called your dish.
Rather, you're in the blossom of each street light
Along Boul Mich.

You walk beside me in the crowds on Randolph,
And sit beside me everywhere I eat:
The Ivanhoe, the Shangri-la, the Hearthstone—
All were sweet.

You're waiting for me still at Clark and Jackson
Beside that lamppost where you used to wait.
I haven't changed a bit in one respect, dear—
I'm still late.

And I've a way of cutting down the distance
Between us, dear, to something less than half—
I just glance at the bubbles in that coke sign

Dreamer at Fireside

There is a fire in the grate these days, filling the room with its warmth. It is loveliest in the evening when its spurting flames and crackling cheer carry its companion off on a sentimental journey.

The room is transformed from a carpeted, upholstered manifestation of modern improvements to the noisy end of a village street, where a blacksmith toils over an open fire and a rhythmic cling-clang fills a smoke-blackened shanty. A chestnut tree, brawny arms, and a girl in a church choir fill in the background of the dream. Sometimes the dream is Cellini before the fire, fashioning an exquisite medallion of gold for some potentate. It might be Scrooge, coming home from a day of grouching, to kindle an economical blaze for himself. Sometimes it is Indians sitting silently before their tepees, or cowboys strumming their ballads on guitars. Always there is the fire, dancing, crackling, illuminating.

Dear house with your open fire! Do you know the pleasure you bring, the scenes you conjure? Truly, you are a house with a warm heart!

JEANNE FOREVER

Jeanne's laughter is like bells across the night;
Jeanne's eyes are like blue stars in autumn water;
Jeanne's smile is brighter than the moon is bright;
December born, she still is April's daughter.

Alas that bloom must ravel, tendril sever,
And winter come to happy hedge and tree.
I wish that Jeanne could just be Jeanne forever—
Immortal in her sweet mortality.

The Linebook of 1945 is a gay thing, and it fits right into the spirit of the times. I won't go all out and say that it is better than ever—it's pretty hard to improve on perfection—but I will say that it's up to the standard of the grand tradition, and that should be good enough for anybody.

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friend of the Yanks will answer questions of service men, veterans, and their dependents by mail if a stamped envelope is sent to 435 N. Michigan av. The Tribune's veterans' bureau, 1 S. Dearborn st., Superior 0200, gives personal interviews.]

Mrs. L. S. asks: "Will you please tell me whether a soldier, just discharged from an army hospital and now being put on pension for a three quarter disability, has to sign his discharge certificate and accept release from the army and then wait until he receives his first pension check to learn how much he is going to receive each month. Should not the soldier be told what his pension will be before he is asked to sign his discharge?"

Before a soldier can receive pension for disability he must be discharged from the army. So long as he remains in the army he gets army pay. After discharge the veteran must appear before a veterans' administration rating board which will determine his percentage of disability. This board is not bound by any finding of the army medical examiners who recommend his discharge. After the veterans' rating board has determined the veteran's percentage of disability the veteran will be told. Payment will be made at the rate of $11.50 for each 10 per cent of disability with a maximum of $115 for total disability.

B. T. Writes: "Can I obtain a subsistence allowance if I am working and taking a part time course under the GI bill?"

To obtain a $50 subsistence allowance, you must be a full time student. If you are working part time you will receive a lesser amount, to be determined by the administrator of veterans' affairs. Veterans pursuing a full time course do not have to show need to obtain the subsistence allowance, the only requirement being a showing of full time study.

DIPHTHERIA PROTECTION

The name "diphtheria" was coined from a Greek term meaning "the formation of a membrane." This coating is typical of the disease and whenever it exists in the throat or nose, the disorder is feared. Its presence can be determined readily by studying a smear from this area.

The malady has been known for many centuries but it first appeared in North America in 1735. Altho Klebs was the first to isolate the organism back in 1883, Löffler gave the world such an adequate description of the newcomer in the following year that the offender was known thereafter as the "Klebs-Löffler bacillus."

This culprit proved deadly for it was not only capable of producing inflammation in the air passages but of manufacturing a toxin which affects the heart, kidneys, and the nervous system. It weakened the tissues to such an extent that secondary invaders moved in and flourished.

As a rule, transmission is by direct contact. During the illness the organisms, which are found in great numbers within the membrane and in the mouth secretions, can be spread easily by coughing, sneezing, or talking. Now and then they are passed to others thru contaminated food, milk, or utensils. Human carriers may also be responsible.

Diphtheria is an all season ailment but is most prevalent in the winter months. Only susceptible individuals need worry and 80 per cent of the adult population has acquired an immunity. The newborn infant has sufficient protection from the mother to last 12 months. From this period until the 10th year, the disease is most likely to be encountered unless the youngster has been safeguarded with toxoid.

The onset is similar to an ordinary sore throat. White patches become visible in the back of the mouth and over the tonsils. These grow larger and, by coalescing, form a grayish membrane. This may spread up to the nose, causing nasal obstruction or down into the larynx or the bronchial tubes. Should swelling in the voice box be extensive, breathing may be seriously imperiled. In the past this accounted for the high mortality in children. The temperature is high and the pulse rapid and irregular. Prostration may be extreme. After a week, the membrane loosens and begins to separate.

The use of antitoxin lessens the severity of the symptoms and promotes more rapid convalescence. The organisms may linger in the vicinity for a long time, however, so that even if healing has taken place, the patient may still be contagious. The discovery of antitoxin by Behring changed the outcome materially as, before this remedy was introduced, 60 to 80 per cent succumbed. It is employed routinely in all in whom the infection is suspected because its value is lessened with each day's delay. In these circumstances, the physician does not wait for the outcome of the throat culture. If the disease occurs in one member of the family, the Schick test should be performed on all the others to determine susceptibility. If needed, the serum may be injected.

Antitoxin affords a temporary defense but should longer protection be desired, toxin-antitoxin or toxoid are preferred. The latter is now utilized to see the child thru the most dangerous years and is usually combined with tetanus toxoid.

LIVING ROOM BED

E. A. writes: I am 17 years old and very nervous. We have a sofa at home where every one who visits us sits. This is my bed at night. Do you think this is causing my trouble?

REPLY

Many girls your age, living under ideal conditions, are jittery, but it is conceivable that insufficient rest and relaxation could be responsible. If at all possible, you should have the privacy of your own room.

DECREASED VITALITY

V. T. writes: As a result of a recent visit to a doctor, I find that I am suffering from a thyroid deficiency. Would this cause loss of weight?

REPLY

This is not the rule, but occasionally the metabolic rate is low in individuals who are below par, with a tendency toward circulatory disturbances and nervousness. In some of these cases the administration of thyroid will not help.

FOOT DEFECT

Mrs. L. writes: Is clubfoot inherited?

REPLY

It is congenital [present at birth] but not inherited. The cause is usually considered to be mechanical in origin, due to an unusual position of the fetus.

Presage

If, heedless of what now is known
Of power that in an atom dwells,
We let War's trumpet still be blown,
Its blasts may vie with Gabriel's,
And Earth, as when her course began,
Be free of her invader—Man.

THOMAS THORNELY
[Spectator (London), Oct. 5]

What Are YOU Doing About the Atom?

It has been two and a half months now since the peoples of the world discovered what a broken atom could do. The longest thoughts, the longest summer, and the longest war of this century have gone, and a bright, desperate effort now is being made to forget the thoughts, the war, and the power of the broken atom. Only the advertising goofs still seek to exploit the latter with advertisments of "atomic bomb sales," atom-izers, and atomic adjectives in a display of thoughtlessness as wanton as it is shameful.

You can shove that suddenly significant word, a-t-o-m, as far back in your mind as you please as you rollick in the joys of peace, as mechanical luxuries and crippled soldiers alike are back in the land, as dress shops are overwhelmed with orders for evening dresses that we can dance, dance, dance, and forget, but you can't get away from it. It comes back. It comes back at strange moments and in strange places. As you stand alongside the Hudson, north of New York, and see one of those great natural craters spanned by a fairy-like bridge. "That rock would be hard to level," you find yourself thinking. Or as you pick up from a forest floor where once was ocean rocks now worn round and smooth by erosion, or quartz veined with brilliant red and green, and wonder, "What elements do you suppose are in here? Could this be pitchblende?" Or as you relax in the soft October now upon us and exclaim at the joyous sight of scarlet vines threading dark trees. Life should be lovely in October, in the post-war, in our brave new atomic world, but the shadow is there.

Remember that frenzy of outrageous, moronic jokes that sprang up the day after the atomic bomb fell on Hiroshima? How account for them at all? Relief from tension? The American tendency, not lessened by the radio, to quip at everything? Our own guess, substantiated by an impromptu poll, is that this manifestation is over.

The poll consisted of stopping various members of the bright set in this office and inquiring, in bantering vein, "What are you doing about the atom?" The person questioned would smile, start to joke, and then speak in serious vein.

The first person cornered was Miss Claudia Cassidy, who takes professional pride in the fact that she has not yet said any one struck the stage like an atomic bomb. Her answer was succinct: "Avoiding it."

Next came Mr. Delos Avery, the only litterateur around here who has read every word of the Smyth report on the a. b. "Which atom?" he parried. "The only atom that matters." "You're wrong there," he replied. "Most of them matter." "Well, what are you doing about U-235?" Mr. Avery meditated for approximately five seconds. This is equivalent to five days' meditation by ordinary men. "I think I will let that slowly disintegrate—along with all the other radioactive elements which, after they disintegrate, turn to lead. Radium, anyway." Then, in afterthought, "At least I would like to."

Other responses:

"For a week I lived with it. I worried. I stopped because there was just nothing I could do about it. There was no movement I could start, no letter I could write, that would be of any value."

"Viewing it with alarm."

"Nothing, except being scared to death."

"Wondering which direction it's going to come from."

"Thinking some one should do something, but what? Every one merely talks."

What else can be done? It has been split, smashed, snubbed, ignored, hidden, transmuted into new forms and, already, by some, forgotten. All that remains is to put it back where it came from. Yet the genii who foamed out of the bottle could never be forced back in.

THE CIO WAGE CHIMERA

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 22—The arguments advanced by Walter Reuther in favor of a 30 per cent advance in wage rates by General Motors are based on an incorrect theory of the manner in which our economic system functions. He says General Motors can "afford" to pay the increase demanded.

Those who sell steel, copper, coal, tires, and other things to General Motors could, of course, say that General Motors could afford to pay higher prices for their products. The basic assumption of Mr. Reuther is that the prices paid for labor and supplies should depend on the wealth or income of the purchaser. Applied to the purchases of workers, the grocer should charge a higher price for butter, eggs, and meat to a worker earning $3,000 a year than to a worker earning only $2,000 a year, on the theory that the worker with higher earnings could afford to pay more.

Would Mr. Reuther contend that firms which are losing money should pay less than standard wages on the theory that these firms could not afford to pay the going rate?

The prices which result from competition are called market prices. Buyers cannot buy for much less than the market price and sellers cannot secure much more than the market price. All buyers of labor or products of a certain quality tend to pay the same price. The competition of workers for jobs tends to prevent wages from getting too high; the competition of employers for workmen tends to prevent wages from falling too low. But to argue that a prosperous firm should pay higher wages than other firms which are less prosperous is to argue that one who owns property does not really own it but is under an obligation to give it away.

Such an argument is really an advocacy of theft. If the prices paid for labor and materials are to rise and fall with profits, then efficient firms cannot accumulate or acquire capital for expansion, and inefficient firms which ought to be liquidated can continue to operate.

Prices based on the "ability to pay" argument would destroy the mechanism which regulates our economy and which continually reduces the effort and cost of producing and distributing goods. The ability to pay argument, if accepted and practiced, would prevent further economic progress and would lead to economic chaos. The only legitimate reason for an increase in wage rates is that existing rates will not attract the desired number of workers. For all products, including labor, prices should advance when the demand exceeds the supply. It is only monopolies which can secure arbitrarily high prices not based on the forces of supply and demand.

DEFENDS TRUMAN

Chicago, Oct. 8—The American reading public is so broad minded, but must resent the impossible statement of Mr. Chase, "Ichabod": "Truman is worse than F. D. R." There is enough to say about Truman without resorting to trying to prove the impossible.

The fact is, Truman is not being Truman, he is being pushed around by Roosevelt New Dealers and the CIO into the position of a pink fellow traveler and European legate who "must" deliver what Roosevelt promised.

A WAR DEPARTMENT LIBEL

CALAS STAGING AREA, MARSEILLES, France, Oct. 15—There are a hundred thousand of us sitting up here in a barren tent city on top of a rocky hill in southern France. There are a multitude of ships sitting down at the harbor; empty, idle, waiting to take us home. The ships continue to wait down in the bay, and we continue to sweat it out up here on the hill while the army passes our names thru an endless labyrinth of absolutely useless and unnecessary paper work and red tape. We want to go home now!

One of our buddies here in camp received a newspaper clipping from home a few days ago. It was an official war department announcement to the effect that all men who have 85 points or more in the army and are still here in Europe, are either undergoing court martial for having committed a misdemeanor, or are in hospitals being treated for venereal diseases. The spokesman who released that gross bit of propaganda is just as much a criminal as Laval, or Quisling, or Hitler. He is deliberately stabbing in the back all these fellows who were drafted to come over here and fight this war for him. It is untrue. If we are still over here it is because the army is not capable of the job of getting us home, or, because they don't want to get us home too fast because that would put too many high ranking officers out of a job.

When we do get home, get out of our way. We have a lot of changes to make.

DRAKE MURDER INQUIRY CITED AS PRIME BUNGLING

Confusion, Delay Mark Investigation

(This is the fifth of a series of articles in a survey of the Chicago police department, the things it does well, and the things it does poorly, its make-up and recommendations for its improvement.)

BY ORVILLE DWYER

Failure of Chicago's best police talent to solve the mystery of the murder of Mrs. Adele Born Williams in the Drake hotel nearly two years ago is cited as an example of what's wrong with the police department.

Even police have admitted that the Drake case was bungled. Chief among the many failures was lack of proper coöperation among the various police elements.

Mrs. Williams, 55, wealthy wife of Frank Starr Williams, a state department attache, and former wife of Edgar Born, wealthy clothier, was fatally shot in her room on the eighth floor of the Drake the night of Jan. 19, 1944. Her slayer was an unidentified woman in black, who apparently had been hiding in the room. Mrs. Williams' daughter, Mrs. Patricia Goodbody, also was in the room and also fired upon.

Bungling Starts Early

Bungling began at the start. In the first place, police authorities permitted crowds to swarm about the eighth floor corridor, and in or near the death room, thereby damaging or impairing potential fingerprints and otherwise interfering with an important "spot" investigation.

Only Lt. John Quinn, veteran police hero, wanted to adopt routine police methods—namely, to detain likely witnesses until they told their full stories. Superiors overruled him.

Confusion so marked the early phases of the inquiry that the murder gun—still the best clew to the crime—was not found until nine hours after the shooting. It was discovered on a stairway landing between the third and fourth floors, and it was not city police but hotel detectives who found it.

Four Investigating Groups

At the time some question arose as to whether city police had searched all the way down the stairway as directed. At first it was indicated they hadn't, then later it was stated they had. In any event, the tardy find didn't help the investigation.

In the first week of the inquiry four separate groups were working on the case—the Chicago av. district police, the detective bureau, the state's attorney's office, and the coroner's office. Still later a fifth department, the late Capt. Michael Naughton's "Scotland Yard" detail, entered the case.

In the opinion of Virgil W. Peterson, operating director of the Chicago Crime commission, this amounted to a case of too many cooks spoiling the broth.

Harmony Never Attained

"With so many groups working on the case, no one knew which had full charge," said Peterson. "Each, however, claimed that responsibility."

These groups pursued their pet theories, which conflicted with one another, and thus the harmony that might have been achieved by an authoritative command never came into being.

Worse yet, however, in the belief of some students of the case, was the police department's disregard of its scientific facilities as embodied in the Chicago crime detection laboratory, headed by Charles M. Wilson.

Altho rated second only to the FBI laboratory in Washington, it was not asked to assist in the murder mystery until three days after the shooting! Why the delay has never been explained, but it is cited as the prime example of lack of coördination.

More Police Bungling

Fresher than the Drake case is the Horwitz case. Theodore Horwitz, 42, of 537 Roscoe st., was found dead, his body mangled, in an alley behind the Eastgate hotel, 162 E. Ontario st. Sept. 22, last. Police and a coroner's jury conceded it was a mystery. Police knew only that he was a reputable real estate dealer and plastering company official.

But a few days ago police learned something important—that a suit begun by his company had led to the exposure of a bribery scandal in Detroit, Mich., sending three Detroit councilmen and two Chicago contractors to prison. But police didn't dig up this information themselves. They first learned of it in a story in THE TRIBUNE, six days after Horwitz's death.

[Another of this series of articles on the Chicago police department will appear in an early issue.]

Mrs. H. J. Gochenour, 76, of Vandalia, Fayette county, waited a long time, but yesterday she had her first airplane ride. The air line pilot at the controls was a member of the younger generation of her family, Capt. Lynn Grady, Riverside, Cal., the husband of her granddaughter. Mrs. Gochenour will visit Grady's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul L. Grady at Pebble Beach, Cal.

COUNCIL O. K.'S HIRING 200 VETS AS POLICEMEN

Police Commissioner Allman yesterday was authorized by the city council to employ 200 temporary policemen to augment the regular force. The temporary men will be veterans of World War II, and will be eligible to take civil service examinations for permanent appointments. The council also empowered Fire Commissioner Corrigan to add 35 men to the fire department to be assigned to the six ambulances which the department owns.

SPENDS STOLEN $3,000 IN SPREE; GETS 3 YEARS

For his one "grand spree" during which he spent almost $3,000 taken from his employer, Albert Russell, 43, handyman at the Roach Funeral home, 3604 Ogden av., was sentenced yesterday by Chief Justice Harold G. Ward in Criminal court to 1 to 3 years in the penitentiary on a charge of larceny. Russell admitted taking the money which his employer, Miss Irma Roach, had been saving for an educational fund for relatives. Russell said he spent the money on clothes, night clubs, an automobile, and traveling. He was arrested shortly after his disappearance last June 27, in Los Angeles, Cal.

ACTORS' EQUITY SPLIT BY FIGHT OVER RED ISSUE

Frank Fay Case Branded Free Speech Gag

BY FRANK HUGHES
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

New York, Oct. 25—Alfred Harding, assistant president of the Actors' Equity association, an AFL union of stage performers, said today no radical element was in control of the Equity council, which cleared five actors of attacking the Roman Catholic church thru attending a Red front rally where the church was criticized.

He admitted in an interview, however, that he "did not know how long" Equity's officers could keep the association on the nonpolitical course they claim it always has followed.

Meanwhile, Arthur Garfield Hays, who bears the "liberal" stamp, being affiliated with 13 "Communist front" organizations, according to Dies committee reports, today came to the defense of Frank Fay, prominent actor censured by Equity for alleged criticism of the five performers.

Raps Free Speech Ban

Hays abandoned the party line, writing to Paul Turner, legal counsel for Equity:

"Actors' Equity appears to have reprimanded Frank Fay for an expression of opinion about other members of Equity. Were this the policy of all unions, would we not have a very effective bar upon free speech? I wonder why Actors' Equity felt that this was any of its business? I would like to have your views."

Harding said today that Equity includes all shades of political opinion, from "extreme radical to extreme conservative." Asked how much power the Communists held in the association, he paraphrased the words of Hans Unser: "We have no Communists or Fascists, only anti-Communists and anti-Fascists."

Fay Asks Inquiry

The squabble between pro-Communist and conservative factions in Equity began last month when Fay, star of the Pulitzer prize play "Harvey" and a prominent Catholic layman, asked for an investigation of Equity members who participated in a Madison Square Garden rally Sept. 24.

The rally was sponsored by the Joint Anti-Fascist Refugee committee to raise funds for "Spanish Republicans," allied with the Communists in the Spanish civil war.

Margo, Sono Osato, Jean Darling, Luba Malina, and David Brooks—all of them prominent players here—spoke briefly at the gathering. Later Prof. Harold J. Laski, head of the British Labor party, broadcast a message to the meeting. He spoke of the possibility of a "Vatican sponsored King of Spain trying hastily to learn the vocabulary of the four freedoms." He asked whether a Spanish monarchy "is likely to prevent the Catholic church in Spain from remaining a rich monopolist at the expense of mass poverty."

"The five players had been invited to the rally originally to give entertainment," Harding explained, "but the theater authority, which has charge of all benefit performances by Equity members, ruled that if they gave entertainment the authority would have to cut in on the proceeds. Therefore, it was decided that the five would merely speak and then leave for their shows. They had no knowledge of what Laski said until they read it in the newspapers the following morning."

Fay told a reporter two days later that he was going to ask for an Equity investigation of the incident, and the story was published Sept. 27.

The Equity council, a body of 50 actors, met the next day, Harding said, and Fay made his demand. Fay relates that he was booed down by leftists in the council.

Fay Named in Charges

Prior to this meeting, Harding said, the five performers filed charges against Fay under a clause of Equity's constitution concerning conduct prejudicial to the association or its members. He said Fay was invited to file charges against the five under the same clause but refused.

"The council felt that it had to accept the charges against Fay for hearing because they were in writing and met all the conditions set forth in the constitution," Harding said.

"This council voted unanimously that the five performers had not participated in any attack on the Catholic church, and there were some devout Roman Catholics who participated in that vote," Harding continued.

The council then proceeded to try Fay on the charges the performers had brought against him. Fay attended only the first session of the hearing, Harding said, and was not allowed to bring counsel because the hearing was not a legal trial.

After three days of hearings, the council voted to "censure" Fay, the lightest penalty the council could impose.

He added that there seemed to be no middle ground of opinion in the dispute, terming it a case of "He who is not for me is against me" in both camps.

Jobs First Interest

The vast majority of the 4,000 members of the association is either completely indifferent, mildly leftist, or mildly conservative, interested first in steady employment and advancing careers.

The Communist party has four or five "whips" in Equity's council, who thruout the years have followed the party line. When Russia was at peace, they condemned the "imperialist war," and when Hitler attacked Russia, they clamored for United States' entry into the conflict.

Day by Day on the Farm
By BEN MARKLAND

Oct. 25, 1945

WHEATON farm workers usually have no time for guessing games, but when they discovered a small cavern in the driveway of one of the farm homes early this week they were puzzled as to whether they had unearthed an Indian grave, a storm cellar, an old cistern, or a root house made by some early farm settler. After all guesses had been expounded and analyzed, the participants agreed that the cavern must have been a cistern or a root cellar, with the latter the more probable.

Truck Bares Hidden Cave

A 10 ton truck loaded with sand broke the roof of the cavern. A caterpillar tractor hauled the truck out of the hole, then all the men gathered round to opine on the origin of the small cave. The presence of large stones along the side of the hole indicated a cistern. Later, one of the men found a number of large planks, decayed with age, standing vertically to form another wall.

Inasmuch as the hole seemed too small for use as a storm cellar, the majority decided that it originally was a dugout for winter storage of potatoes, fruits, and root crops.

Historical Interest Aroused

The main point of interest to farm residents was the revelation that more than half a century ago there was a dwelling of some sort at the site of the main farm home. A man who has resided on the farm for more than 50 years recalled that there was no residence or other building on that site when the property was bought in 1894. There was, however, an avenue of shade trees leading to the location, indicating that there probably was a residence near the site prior to 1894.

The first impression that the hole might have been an Indian grave certainly was not fantastic in view of previous findings of Indian artifacts on the farm property. In past years, men working in the farm fields have found arrowheads, Indian beads, a stone scraper, and an Indian knife. Indians of the Potawatomi tribe once lived in northern Illinois, and the finding of Indian relics on the farm indicates that tribesmen may have had a permanent settlement or a hunting camp on the site.

★The GARDEN★

ONE common error committed by gardeners is that of breaking the top soil after fall plowing or spading. Discs, harrows, and hand rakes have no place in the program of fall preparation of garden soil. If the soil is plowed, it should be left in the furrow. If spaded, the clods should be left on the surface, not raked or broken.

When the soil surface is left rough, the numerous pockets retain winter snow and rain and thus conserve ground moisture. Furthermore, if the surface is rough, a maximum amount of soil is exposed to the beneficial action of alternate frosts and thaws. Such weather action breaks the heavy soil particles, thereby eliminating the necessity for using discs or rakes after plowing.

Fall plowing is not recommended for porous soils, especially those of sandy texture on sloping ground. Heavy winter snows will level soils of this type, and packing will result. There also is danger of erosion of light topsoil from sloping plots.

STRIKE GROUNDS 62 OF AIR LINE'S 68 DAILY FLIGHTS

Six flights into and out of Chicago were maintained yesterday by American Airlines system thru the efforts of foremen and supervisors as a strike of ground crew and maintenance workers went into its second day. The strike, which was started in New York Tuesday, spread yesterday to Detroit, Mich. Most flights into and out of that port were canceled.

Airline officials said approximately 1,300 passengers were affected by cancellation of 62 of the 68 flights into and out of Chicago Wednesday and yesterday and that, altho some airmail is piling up, most of it has been sent by rail.

Flights maintained here yesterday included the Washington-Chicago plane arriving at 2:51 p. m. and departing at 3:45 p. m., eastbound transcontinental flight arriving at 5:40 p. m. and departing at 6:20 p. m., and westbound arriving at 11:22 p. m. and departing at 11:56 p. m.

155 on Strike Here

The walkout of 155 mechanics and maintenance men in Chicago was a development of the strike of 658 workers in New York of the American Export Airlines, the overseas company of American Airlines. Officials said 15 workers quit at Detroit.

Company officials said the controversy is complicated by the fact that two CIO unions—United Auto Workers and Transport Workers union—one AFL union, and an independent union include mechanics and maintenance workers.

The company had announced on Oct. 1 that it would pay 48 hours' wages for a 40 hour week, but that, because the change would require an increase in the mechanic and maintenance force and 20 per cent more workers must be trained, the new wage schedule could not be put into effect until Jan. 1, 1946. The striking workers are seeking a flat increase of 9 cents an hour in addition to the company's proposed schedule.

Union Opposes Pullman Strike

Norman Harris, staff representative of the United Steel Workers union [CIO], yesterday termed the strike of nearly 1,000 workers at the Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company's plant at Hammond "an out and out wildcat demonstration which we are doing our best to end with all speed."

Approximately 40 out of 60 drivers for the Eureka Tea company, 500 W. 26th st., went on strike yesterday and picketed the plant in a dispute with the company over a paragraph in their contract requiring a week's notice before an employe may be fired.

CIO AUTO WORKERS' VOTE FAVORS STRIKE AT GENERAL MOTORS

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 25 (AP)—Wage earners in General Motors corporation plants thruout the country favor a strike to obtain a wage increase of 30 per cent, but there will be no strike until negotiations in progress break down.

Walter P. Reuther, vice president of the CIO United Automobile Workers' union, made this assertion in a statement today as the national labor relations board announced the result of the first strike referendum taken among the "big three" motor car manufacturers.

The NLRB reported that General Motors workers yesterday voted 70,853 to 12,437 in favor of a work stoppage. There were 364 void votes.

Today a similar vote was being taken among hourly rated workers employed in 22 Chrysler corporation plants thruout the country. The result of this vote, also on the 30 per cent wage increase issue, will be announced tomorrow. On Nov. 7 the board will poll employes of the Ford Motor company.

CIO Members to Picket Stockyards Gates Today

Several thousand members of district 1 of the United Packinghouse Workers union [CIO] will picket the gates of the Union Stock Yards this morning, Herbert March, district director, said. The move, he said, is to promote demands for a pay increase of 25 cents an hour. Packing plant employes will be challenged to show their union membership cards.

WITHDRAW ALL PICKETS FROM MOVIE STUDIOS

Union Agrees to Parley on 33 Week Strike

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 25 (AP)—All pickets were ordered withdrawn tonight from Hollywood studios as union leaders and screen producers agreed to renew over a peace table their efforts to end the 33 week old walkout.

They called a conference for tomorrow in an effort to iron out the maze of controversies sufficiently to enable several thousand striking film workers to return to their jobs by Monday.

The pickets were ordered withdrawn by Herbert Sorrell, head of the striking conference of studio unions, after he held a preliminary conference with producer representatives.

Withdrawal of the pickets came after another day of violence. Despite Warner Brothers studio's announcement that it would abide by the Cincinnati agreement between the AFL and the producers to settle the strike, more than 500 pickets massed at the studio today.

Want Studio to Pay

"We are not classing them with the others because they used tear gas and water," Sorrell said. "We are asking Warner's to indemnify every person hurt on this picket line. Approximately 300 persons will have claims, some for as much as $500 each. Warner Brothers are going to pay for this."

Asked who would pay for three automobiles upset by pickets outside the Warner studio when mass picketing was started, Sorrell replied: "We are not."

One picket, Isaac A. Gibbs, 56, was injured today when he and others tried to block an automobile that approached the Warner gates. Gibbs was knocked down and suffered an injured leg as the automobile, containing only one man, plowed thru the crowd and into the gates.

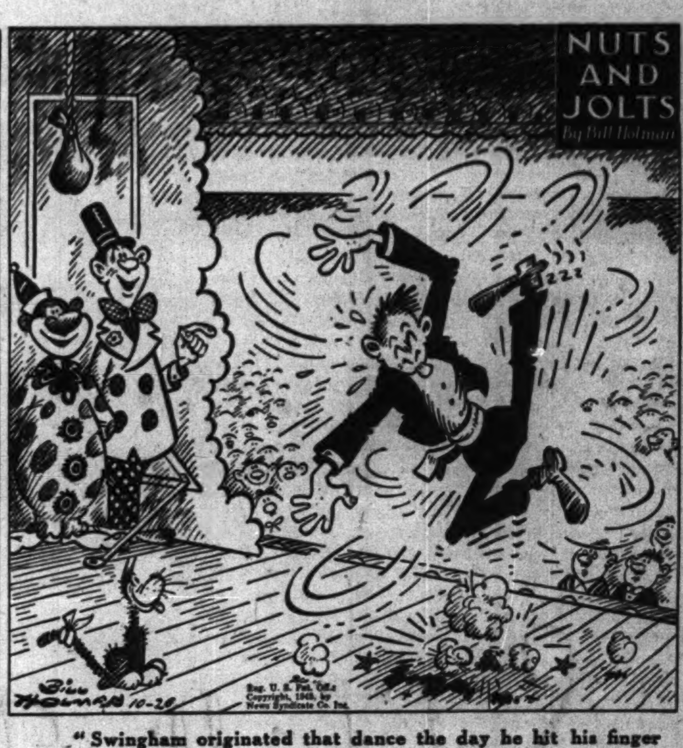
Pickets rushed angrily to follow it in but the gates were slammed in their faces.

Later several other automobiles approached the gates but were driven away after pickets seized one and rocked it and threatened to overturn it. A few of the pickets suffered bloody noses in the scuffle.

Basic Issue Settled

The basic jurisdictional dispute that precipitated the strike has been settled. That was the issue of whether the painters' union or the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employes, both AFL, should be bargaining agent for 77 set decorators. Earlier this month the NLRB announced that the set decorators had voted by a 55 to 45 margin for the painters' union, which was in Sorrell's group.

The strike continued because Sorrell's unions demanded that all strikers be recalled to work at once, that all contract protection be reëstablished as of the start of the strike, and that permanent machinery be set up to handle future jurisdictional difficulties.



"Swingham originated that dance the day he hit his finger with a hammer."

BUS STRIKE VOTED

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 25 (AP)—Greyhound bus drivers and maintenance and terminal workers in the midwest, south, and east have voted to strike at midnight Oct. 31 after failure to arbitrate working conditions for all employes and wage demands for terminal employes, a union official said today. The present contract expires Oct. 31.

Fred C. Powers, president of division 1126 of the AFL Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes, said conferences to arbitrate the mileage rates dispute for Overland Greyhound drivers had proved successful, but other points were unsettled.

MILK DRIVERS UNDECIDED ON DAILY DELIVERY

Twenty-five hundred members of the Milk Wagon Drivers union, local No. 753 [AFL], left open last night the question of whether they are to resume daily retail deliveries to homes on Nov. 1 when the office of defense transportation ban is abolished.

After a closed meeting in the Plasterers' hall at 330 S. Marshfield av., Peter J. Hoban, local business representative, said the members authorized their executive board to decide whether to retain the system of deliveries every second day or restore the daily deliveries. The members stipulated, however, no change should result in the elimination of routes or wagon drivers and that all 480 members now in military service be reëmployed.

They voted to resume seven day a week deliveries, instead of the present six day a week deliveries, to wholesalers and stores.

SHAFER CHARGES CIO STRIKE TIES UP ARMY FOOD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25—Interference by a CIO union with army food shipments scheduled for soldiers overseas was charged today by Rep. Shafer [R., Mich.], who called upon War Secretary Patterson to have the food shipped before it spoils.

Shafer told the house the army is seeking to move more than half a million dollars' worth of army-owned perishable foodstuffs from plants of the General Foods Corporation at Battle Creek, Mich.

He said the plants are strike-bound as a result of a dispute between the company and the CIO food handlers' union. Shafer said the army has not moved to break the strike but has sought to have its own soldiers remove food already purchased by the war department for overseas use.

The CIO has refused to accede to the army's request, with the resulting danger of food spoilage and shortage of food for our troops abroad, the congressman said.

McFetridge Confirmed as a Park Commissioner

The city council yesterday confirmed Mayor Kelly's reappointment of William McFetridge, head of the Building Service Employes' union [AFL], as a park board commissioner for a new five year term. The term will end April 25, 1950.

NATION TO HEAR TRUMAN LABOR POLICY TUESDAY

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25—President Truman announced at his press conference today that he will disclose his long awaited wage-price policy in a radio address next Tuesday at 9 p. m. Chicago time. His address which will be 30 minutes long, will be broadcast on all networks.

Mr. Truman said he would meet labor and management representatives at a conference he has called for Nov. 5 to formulate a permanent program for the settlement of labor disputes. The conference will include 18 representatives of labor, 18 of employers, and 3 nonvoting public representatives.

How to permit an increase in wages without raising prices to such an extent as to cause further inflation will be the burden of the President's address to the nation.

Cabinet Can't Agree

Amid the strikes for higher wages that are impeding reconversion, Mr. Truman has been struggling with this problem for the last fortnight.

First he announced that he would issue the wage-price program after the cabinet meeting last Friday. The cabinet couldn't agree, so the President postponed the statement to last Monday. After another conference with economic advisers on Monday, Mr. Truman again confessed himself unprepared to take a position. He said at his press conference today, however, that he would have the program in shape by Tuesday night.

Opposes Price Advances

Labor organizations generally are demanding a 30 per cent wage raise, which would give the workingman the same take home pay for 40 hours of work as he received for 48 hours and overtime during the war. Employers contend that a 30 per cent raise is out of the question without a compensating increase in prices.

The President in the current conferences has manifested opposition to any plan involving a material advance in prices, fearing it would engender a greater degree of inflation than already exists and wreck any prospect of post-war prosperity. On this point he is being variously advised.

Administration economists say a 24 per cent wage raise without increasing prices is feasible. Commerce Secretary Wallace says pay would be boosted 15 to 20 per cent without raising prices more than 3 or 4 per cent.

Asked if he had given C. E. Wilson, president of General Motors, any encouragement for his proposal to raise the work week from 40 to 45 hours, Mr. Truman snapped that he had not.

Mr. Truman announced the temporary appointment of John R. Steelman, former government labor conciliator, as special assistant to the President.

POLICE ALERT IS ORDERED ON AUTO SPEEDERS

In an effort to cut down traffic accidents, city and park police were ordered yesterday to be alert for traffic violators, especially speeders. Lt. Thomas O'Donnell of the city motorcycle division, said 20 men are assigned on the day shift thruout the city and 20 on the 4 p. m. to midnight detail. He said his men average about 2,800 arrests a month for speeding. From Aug. 1 to yesterday, park police have issued summonses to 3,438 speeding motorists, Chief Roger Shanahan reported.

CLEAR ARMOUR IN CRASH THAT KILLED WOMAN

The grand jury yesterday concluded a two day investigation of the head-on automobile collision Oct. 7 in which Mrs. Myrtle Cooper of Evanston was killed by the car driven by Philip D. Armour Jr., of 1500 Lake Shore dr. The jury voted a no bill.

The accident occurred on Skokie rd., Northbrook, as Armour and a friend, David J. Bryan of Lake Forest, were driving to a world series baseball game at Wrigley field. A coroner's jury returned an accidental verdict after hearing Armour's testimony that his car must have swerved to the wrong side of the road when he stooped to pick up his handkerchief from the floor of the car.

The grand jurors heard seven witnesses. One of them was Armour, who was attended by Atty. Ferre C. Watkins and two other attorneys. One witness, Thomas Brown of Glencoe, a forest preserve ranger, said he arrived at the scene a short time after the accident and that Armour told him he was trying to pass a truck when he crashed into Mrs. Cooper's car.

General Arnold and Dodge Chicago Plant Management

Thank Dodge Chicago Plant Employees

Everyone who has worked at the Dodge Chicago Plant, where many thousands of Wright R-29 Super Fortress aircraft engines were produced for the United States Army Air Forces, will be interested in and proud of the following letter from General Arnold, which expresses his appreciation for the work they did.

The Dodge Chicago Plant management also wants to extend its congratulations and thanks to all those who co-operated to make this production job possible.

L. L. Colbert, General Manager
DODGE CHICAGO PLANT

HEADQUARTERS, ARMY AIR FORCES
WASHINGTON

22 October 1945

Mr. L. L. Colbert, General Manager
Dodge Chicago Plant
Division of Chrysler Corporation
7401 S. Cicero Avenue
Chicago 80, Illinois

Dear Mr. Colbert:

The war record set by the management and the employees of the Dodge Chicago Plant in producing engines for the B-29 Superfortresses, the B-32 Dominators, and other large four-motored bombers for the United States Army Air Forces is typical of American ingenuity which enabled us to win the war.

The record shows that the Dodge Chicago Plant met and even exceeded every production schedule set by the Army Air Forces despite the multitude of engineering changes that were necessary to bring the R 3350 engine to its present high standard of efficiency, and at the same time reduced costs more than 50 per cent below the original estimates, saving millions of dollars for the American taxpayer.

It is a pleasure for me to pay tribute to you and the employees of the Dodge Chicago Plant. Despite the pressure and difficulties of the war years, you rose to the task and accomplished what seemed to be the impossible in producing large numbers of the finest aircraft engines the world has ever known. Each of you can be proud of your service. Your record speaks for itself.

I send you the best wishes and hearty thanks of your Army Air Forces.

Sincerely,

H. H. ARNOLD,
Commanding General, Army Air Forces

EVER SIP A $2,000,000 OLD FASHIONED?

Here's the recipe below! We call it a $2,000,000 "dream of a drink"—because that's what Fleischmann invested in grains, skill and research before we released one golden bottle of this rich, luxurious, straight bourbon whiskey. We make it in limited amounts. We have to—it's so delicious!

FIRST, GET FLEISCHMANN'S BOND THEN DO THIS!

1
Place ½ level teaspoon of granulated sugar in Old Fashioned glass! Add 2 or 3 dashes of Angostura bitters, and just enough water to dissolve the sugar!

2
Muddle thoroughly. Add ice cubes; and 1½ oz. of smooth, delicious Fleischmann's BOND! Then stir!

3

SENATORS LASH ARMY ENVELOPE MISUSE BY OPA

Assail Propaganda Sent with Checks

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25 (AP)—Republican senators gave the office of price administration a working over today in the senate banking committee. Sen. Taft of Ohio led the attack with these accusations:

1. The OPA is improperly slipping continue-price-control propaganda into envelopes containing allotment checks for wives of service men.

2. The OPA takes the stand that "every business man is a crook until he proves otherwise," and it has "spies" to harass business concerns.

3. The OPA is delaying reconversion by insisting on price ceilings, which discourage people wanting to get back into production.

Bowles Defends Slips

Price Administrator Bowles, who was giving the committee a report on his agency's work, snapped back.

Of No. 1, he said the envelope slips just say that inflation is a bad thing. "Is that debatable?" he asked the committee.

He called No. 2 "an absolutely fantastic statement."

As for No. 3, he asked for "authentic cases in which OPA prices ever have kept down production."

Chairman Wagner [D., N. Y.] told Bowles that "I'm very glad" the anti-inflation appeals went into the envelopes.

Millikin Objects

But Sen. Millikin [R., Colo.] interposed that "the law [creating the OPA] doesn't say to put throw-aways in military envelopes."

At OPA offices later, it was said that the slips-in-envelopes project was sponsored by the office of war information early in the war. It was explained that one month these slips might carry messages from the OPA and another month from the war man power commission or other agency.

Bowles commented at one point that his agency follows the law to keep prices at a point "generally fair and equitable" to business.

Won't Disclose Name

Another time, Taft was quoting from an Indiana business man's complaint against the OPA. Jerome M. Ney, deputy OPA administrator, asked for the concern's name.

"O, no," replied Taft. "You'll say that's a threat to the OPA and you'll go to that fellow and beat him down."

Sen. Hickenlooper [R., Ia.] told Bowles he knows of six manufacturers who say OPA price policies are keeping them out of production, or at least limiting them.

House Controls Asked

Sen. Capehart [R., Ind.] suggested the OPA ought to set a ceiling price on the product of each manufacturer or processor, with percentages added for wholesalers and retailers. Bowles remarked there are millions of businesses.

The banking committee never got around today to Bowles' appeal for price ceilings on new and used housing, but it did come up in a senate small business subcommittee, hearing complaints by small business. John B. Blandford Jr., national housing administrator, testified "an explosive and disastrous price inflation" threatens unless controls are put on home prices. Sen. Wherry [R., Neb.] disputed this.

ASSAULT TRIAL IS ORDERED FOR UNION OFFICIAL

Judge Leonard C. Reid in Criminal court yesterday set Nov. 21 for trial of Frank Carroll, business agent of local 701, Auto Mechanics' union [AFL], for the slugging of a union member who had repudiated the union as his bargaining agent at the Greyhound Motor and Supply company.

Carter Olsen, 30, of 2500 N. Washtenaw av., a mechanic for the company, has accused Carroll of being one of four men who beat him last Sept. 8 near the company's plant, splitting his lip and knocking three teeth out.

Judge Reid, after hearing arguments from Atty. George Bieber, quashed three counts of the indictment charging mayhem. The court ruled that the splitting of Olsen's lip by his teeth did not constitute mayhem.

The judge, however, ordered Carroll to stand trial on two other counts in the indictment charging assault and battery and conspiracy to commit assault. The conspiracy count carries a maximum penalty of one to five years in prison upon conviction.

Excellent Yield

Sugar beets are being harvested in southern Cook county and the farmers are combatting the sugar shortage by producing approximately 34,000 tons of beets on about 2,000 acres, Elmer Meyer of the Lake Shore Sugar company, Holland, Mich., said yesterday.

The season has been excellent for beets, and yields are averaging 16 to 17 tons per acre, he added. Yesterday in Lansing 11 carloads of beets were loaded, and almost equal activity is going on at Blue Island, South Holland, and Chicago Heights. In these localities the sugar company has built large loading machines that can put a truckload into a frate car in five minutes.

In 1942, 3,000 acres of beets yielded an average of 15 tons per acre, Meyer said.

SETTLING DOWN TO JOB IS EASY, AIR ACE SAYS

Even men who have known war in some of its most violent and exciting and supposedly glamorous aspects, say as combat flyers, will have no difficulty settling down again to a humdrum civilian job, Lt. William J. Masoner Jr., 28, predicted yesterday.

Lt. W. J. Masoner Jr.

Lt. Masoner, navy air ace officially credited with 12 Japanese planes destroyed in the air, is back in his home at 467 Kent rd., Riverside, awaiting his discharge. He is enthusiastically reëntering his old profession, that of heating contractor.

War Not Glamorous

"All I wanted out there was to get home to a normal existence and to a place where things were nice and quiet," he said. "Our life definitely wasn't glamorous. There was fear when you were in the air and worry before you went."

He described as completely erroneous the idea some civilians have that flyers are merry daredevils who even in the midst of combat indulge in sparkling repartee over their intercommunication system.

"I never heard any of that snappy conversation and I never talked to anybody else who heard it," Lt. Masoner said. He called combat flying a deadly serious business.

Jap Plane Came Head-on

Flying his fighter planes and fighter bombers, Lt. Masoner looked death in the face many times. Once he saw a Jap plane coming head-on toward him with the apparent intention of ramming his plane. Just when a collision appeared certain the enemy craft turned over, smoking.

Twice Lt. Masoner dropped low thru a hail of flak to strafe Jap surface ships and disrupt their fire. Once his plane was disabled over an enemy air field in the Philippines but he nursed it out to sea and made a water landing.

One of the costliest episodes of the war for the Japanese air force was a search mission which Lt. Masoner flew from the carrier Lexington on Oct. 23, 1944. The American group destroyed 13 enemy planes without loss to themselves. Lt. Masoner personally accounted for six.

Lt. Masoner, a graduate of Northwestern university, was commissioned an ensign in the naval reserve in 1939.

Granted Delay

Terrence Druggan, beer peddler during prohibition, was 15 minutes late and without an attorney when he appeared yesterday before Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan on a criminal information charging him and his company, the Midwest Packing company, Inc., of Barrington, with violating office of price administration regulations. Judge Sullivan continued the hearing for a week to allow Druggan to get an attorney.

age group is an innovation in the show this year. The eighteen young outfits include school and play clothes, "dress-up" frocks, coats, and even pajamas! The 32 adult costumes include suits and coats, afternoon and dinner dresses, and cocktail and evening gowns.

A highlight of the show this year was a prologue depicting the cycle of fashion every hundred years from 1545 to that mysterious year 2045. The latter costume was a futuristic speculation by the leading surrealist artist, Salvador Dali. The Dali costume has been a mystery up to now, altho the other historical gowns were reproduced in all their rich colors in last Sunday Tribune's rotogravure section.

If Dali's dreams come true, women in 2045 will wear costumes reminiscent of the middle ages with one exception. With wings attached to their dresses they will be able to fly at the slightest provocation. Of misty blue silk jersey with rose wings, the gown emphasizes the eternal female figure. The slender waist is encrusted with strange pearl and crystal faces. A red velvet crutch, one of Dali's symbols for the weakness of mankind, supports one arm. Clocks, another favorite Dali symbol for the futility of time, decorate milady's futuristic shoes.

But until such strange times, the American woman will be a graceful figure representative of good taste and harmonious artistry, if the 1945 American Fashions collection is a prediction. Altho highly individual, the designs indicate certain trends.

The soft, rounded shoulder line for day time frocks and for dinner dresses is definitely noted, as is the slender silhouette with only slight emphasis on the hipline. Generally, this emphasis is created by a low, gathered sash. Sleeves in suits and coats will be generous with wide cuffs of either fur or self-material. The dolman sleeve is good again.

Evening gowns will accent elegance in rich materials and in glittering sequins and beading trim. Hats will be large with a nostalgic return to tams, turbans, and feathers. Muffs are a must with that smart urban suit.

A novel note, which might well be copied by women handy with a needle at home, was the gloves worn with almost every costume. Either very long or in jaunty, gauntlet style, they were made of the same material as the suit, coat, or dress they complimented. In several cases, a motif on the dress was repeated on the cuffs of the gloves, such as flowers and bandings.

Because the purpose of the American Fashions contest and show is not only to encourage designers but to create lovely clothes for the average girl and woman, this year a pattern book of the smartest of the teen-age ensembles in the show is being made available at the Tribune public service offices.

Easy to make and lovely to look at is a charming double duty teen-age frock made of green velveteen and plaid taffeta. One of the most popular numbers in the teen-age grouping, the dress at first appears to be a party frock with a simple, green velveteen bodice, high neckline, and drop shoulder sleeves. The skirt, a gay whirl of the taffeta, accents a tiny waist.

Then presto! The long swishing skirt is removed, and a pert, day time frock of forest green velveteen is revealed, smart enough for an early evening date and still simple enough for the classroom. It is as young as cokes, as gay as jive.

Copying big sister, "the boogie brat" likes her tailored clothes cut with a snap. One gold wool coat shown is a masterpiece of tailoring. Jaunty with saddle stitching around the entire opening and hem, it features pert slits in the back and at the sides, convenient for the hop, skip, and a jump mood. It is worn over a smart brown dress, with the same shade being used for a gay beret and gloves.

For that boarding school lass who likes to be hostess at those forbidden midnight snack parties, there is a dream version of pajamas. Of yellow linen, it boasts wide bell-like trousers topped with utterly feminine ruffles embroidered with red dots. But that's not all. There is a coat to match, with the ruffles repeated at the bodice. Who wants to sleep, anyway?

Big sister, however, likes to dream and to be a lady. The adult collection provides the required costume for every occasion. First she can be a vision of autumn splendor in a breath-taking suit of gray wool and silver beaver. So subtly have the fabric and the fur been blended that the costume is in reality a tone poem.

Over the slender skirt, the tunic jacket is trimmed in a draped shawl collar of the beaver, which continues to form deep pockets. Wide, pointed cuffs of the fur give dash to elegance. The perfect hat is a high turban.

Startling yet conservative is a black and henna wool suit. The jacket, with wide dolman sleeves, is highlighted with a huge motif of the henna wool across the left front and sleeve. The dashing, large beret reverses the color scheme with bands of black emphasizing its height. A costume to remember!

The song "Sophisticated Lady" might well have been written for an unusual dress of tobacco brown crepe satin. Simple, sophisticated, and elegant, it is a contrast in sameness using the dull crepe side of the fabric and the sheen of the satin side in a unique design. The slim wrap of the skirt, both back and front, streamline the figure. Audacious are the huge gray and brown feather hat and muff worn as accessories.

But all is not for the woman of the world. For the tiny, pixie-eyed woman who will always look like a girl, there is an evening gown of bright flame and white faille.

A voluminous skirt of the heavy material is emphasized by a snug, almost tailored bodice studded with two huge plastic buttons encrusted with aquamarines. A demure, white faille collar and narrow edging on the almost nonexistent sleeves serves as contrast.

Rarely is there ever found a costume which flatters every woman, both young and old. There is one in the American Fashions collection, so dignified, yet so striking, it might be worn by the woman with a crown of silver hair or the young, career girl on her first important party.

It is a startlingly white evening gown, whose only touch of trim is an embroidered belt of gold thread. It is a costume of outstanding beauty when worn with a coat of white crepe and purple wool. The purple is used for the dramatic back and sleeves, the white for the front. The gold embroidery is repeated at the shoulders and at the neckline.

Another white dream walking down the runway was an ultra evening gown combining the richness of heavy crepe and the shimmer of silk fringe. The mannequin might well have been called the Icicle Princess, except for the warm admiration awakened in the eyes of the women spectators. The dress, a simple sheath, is trimmed uniquely in hand knotted fringe, which falls in gleaming cascades from the daring bateau neckline to the hem.

The crowning moment of any woman's life is her wedding day and her most beloved dress is her wedding gown. Brides are traditionally lovely but the American Fashions bride is breath-takingly beautiful, almost ethereal, in a clinging gown of waxy, white satin.

A headdress of satin, embroidered by hand with countless pearls, is reminiscent of the days when knights wore their ladies' scarves into battle. Completely shielding all the bride's locks, the headdress also forms the nun-like collar, and is misted in untold yards of tulle.

Thruout the entire showing each costume was introduced by appropriate music under the direction of Irving Kaplan.

The descriptions of each gown in the adult division was given by lovely Virginia Clark, director of W-G-N's "charm school" program The teen-age costumes were described by Beryl Vaughan, who formerly played the typical high school girl, "Jerry" on W-G-N's "Citizens of Tomorrow."

The narrator for the historical costumes was John Barclay, the lead in many roles in "Chicago Theater of the Air" productions. Lee Bennett, former singer with Jan Garber's orchestra and now a member of the W-G-N staff, was announcer.

Mrs. Grace Pickering, well known fashion authority, directed the entire selection and the execution of the winning designs. Mary Afflick, W-G-N producer, staged the show.

FASHIONS

By Angela

Gala parties once again are the order of the day, and festive luncheons and tea and cocktail gatherings are more and more numerous as the holiday season approaches. Smooth crepes, sleek satins, and rich velvet dresses are popular for such occasions.

The sheath-like silhouette of the black crepe dress at the left has an added attraction of color in the brief cap sleeves. The fuchsia sleeves are trimmed with glittering multicolored sequins. Small black buttons parade from the flattering vee neck line to well below the waist line of the arrowlike skirt. The dress is available also in aqua and black in sizes 14 to 18.

The black velvet fitted jacket and slim black crepe skirt in the center make another attractive outfit. The fitted jacket is trimmed with three large buttons in which are set three simulated brilliant aquamarine jewel stones. A shimmering white satin vestee completes the ensemble. It is available in sizes 14 to 18 and moderately priced.

The youthful possessors of extremely slender figures will delight in the new black date dress at the right. Of sheer black material, it presents an illusion reminiscent of tissue taffeta. The fitted panel bodice has soft fullness at either side of a vee neck line and brief cap sleeves. The new peg top skirt, straight in back, boasts a graceful and narrow hemline.

The Double Pay Envelope

Several years ago suggestions for the distribution of the double pay envelope were quoted in this column. The source was a booklet on "How to Make Your Budget Balance."

Rigid rules can't be followed in this after-the-war era when many a young husband is reëstablishing himself in business. Yet, if the wife intends to continue working over any extended period of time, some sort of organized plan should evolve. These suggestions might prompt your thinking along the line of successful sharing of income.

The wife, according to the booklet, should contribute from her earnings to each part of the budget except the clothing and personal expenditures of her husband. The amount depends on her salary—one-third to two-fifths toward food and as much toward the other main items on the budget as seems fair.

The husband pays for life insurance premiums, etc., except when the wife has as large, or larger, income than his own. The remainder of the wife's salary goes for her clothing, personal expenses, and saving.

If the wife's job makes household help necessary, then money for it should come from her income. But, when children are born, the expenses of the childbirth and the wife's care should fall on the husband unless his pay check is smaller than his wife's.

FAYE

Late October in Chicago

Blue haze in the air.

A topaz moon rising over Lake Michigan.

BY ELEANOR PAGE

A capacity audience, an enthusiastic audience, filled the W-G-N studio theater yesterday afternoon for the first matinee performance of the sixth annual American Fashions show. Among the spectators were some of the city's smartest and most fashion-wise women, who even as long ago as August had spoken for their tickets.

Their enjoyment of the presentation of the fashions and of the superb models who showed them can be summed up in the words of Mrs. Walter B. Wolf, general chairman of Chicago's largest amateur fashion show, the annual St. Luke's benefit event, who said, "It is an excellent show, the costumes are lovely—and those figures!"

"I envy the posture of the models," said Mrs. Edward A. Cudahy, also of the St. Luke's fashion show committee.

"The teen age dresses are just what you always hope to find for your daughters," was Mrs. Joseph T. Ryerson's comment on the new feature of this year's show, a competition for teen age clothes.

The audience's participation in balloting for favored dresses in each group shown added to the general interest, and many a hot, tho friendly argument flared up between neighbors as to the costumes' relative merits.

"It's a wonderful show, but I can't decide between the dresses," declared chic Mrs. Robert A. Cavenaugh, who was a fashion picture herself in her two piece wool suit of cinnamon and black, trimmed in Persian lamb.

"The stage setting is striking," said Mr. Wayne Wills, who brought several friends to the matinee. "The backdrop is stunning," was Mrs. Chauncey Borland's verdict. "The show is so beautifully run off," was Mrs. Walter R. Kirk's comment.

"A magnificent show," was the enthusiastic expression of Mrs. R. Winfield Ellis, whose seat partner, Mrs. John W. Root concurred wholeheartedly. "I especially liked the bride," said Mrs. Frank Hiter. "The bride is so lovely that she brought tears to my eyes."

"I love it," were Mrs. Leon Mandel's words of praise for the presentation. She and Mrs. David Peck, Mrs. Clarence B. Mitchell, and Chauncey McCormick and his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Brooks McCormick, were guests of Col. and Mrs. Robert R. McCormick at the matinee.

"I have never before seen a fashion show," said Mr. McCormick, one of the few men scattered about the audience. "I thought the dresses were beautiful and the mannequins lovely."

Mrs. E. Cummings Parker, Mrs. A. Bradley Eben, Mrs. Charles Y. Freeman Jr., Mrs. Abner J. Stilwell, who thought the "ABC" costume in the teen age group would appeal to her pretty sub-deb daughters; Mrs. Ralph Applegate, with a helmet of green feathers covering her dark head; Mrs. Graham Smith, Mrs. Frank Bering, Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, Mrs. R. Neil Cowham, Mrs. Cushman Bissell, Mrs. Alfred O'Gara, Mrs. Edward White, Mrs. George Nixon, Mrs. I. Newton Perry, Mrs. Frank Hibbard, Mrs. Will Judy, and Mrs. Walter Ebberson were some of the others in the pleased audience.

"It's the best fashion show I've ever seen, and you can quote me," said the assistant chief usher, Joe Murphy, who has worked at his trade for 24 years, and who apparently is a man of decided opinions. Or so it would seem, from a story he tells on himself, which is that he was left $40,000 if he would marry. He hasn't, and won't, he says.

Chicago Woman's Aid to Sponsor Two Day Housing Conference

A two day housing conference sponsored by the Chicago Woman's Aid, 185 N. Wabash av., will open Monday with a discussion of slums and an inspection of several Chicago housing projects. On the following day Lawrence T. Rogers of the health division of the Council of Social Agencies will speak at 11 a. m. on "The Effects of Housing Upon Health." A noon breakfast will be followed by a round table discussion led by Miss Dorothy Rubel, acting director of the Metropolitan Housing council. Judge George T. Quilici and Alexander A. Liveright, executive director of the American Council on Race Relations, will speak on different phases of housing.

Thru the Looking Glass

There are all sorts of rules and suggestions for achieving and keeping an erect, graceful bearing, but one of the simplest is the old "head up" motto. Keep it in mind when you're walking down the street, and pull up whenever you find yourself plodding along like a tired old horse, with head hanging in a disconsolate way.

When the head is held up, the backbone straightens automatically; you'll find yourself pulling the shoulders back and will remember to pull the stomach muscles in. The whole carriage is improved and, more than that, you take on an air of alertness that implies you know where you're going. It will help, too, to improve your walk and you'll pick up the feet and put them down smartly instead of shuffling along or throwing them about carelessly.

Professional models know the value of holding the head proudly, and you never saw one treading down a runway looking at the ground before her. A model knows that such an attitude would most certainly detract from her appearance and spoil the effect of the clothes. She holds her head high and makes it count in the regal, assured kind of bearing which makes people look at her twice.

If you aren't good at remembering things, try putting little "head up" notices around—on your dressing table, on the desk at work, over the kitchen sink, or wherever it's likely to catch your eye. A few weeks of practice and you'll have acquired the habit. You won't need a verbal or written reminder from yourself or any one else to straighten up and will have acquired a carriage of which you can be proud.

Two Costume Parties Among Tomorrow Night's Festivities

BY JUDITH CASS

TWO of three gay parties planned for tomorrow night will be costume affairs, and those who have been accepting invitations to them are busy with secret plans for disguise. Those who will attend the third, the Victory ball of the Chicago committee of the Arden Shore association in the Drake hotel, will wear formal dress, which means that many a tail coat is coming out of moth balls.

The Saddle and Cycle club's Halloween dinner-dance tomorrow is its only costume party of the year, but the theme of the costumes will not be limited to witches and hobgoblins. Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Berkey, who will entertain at the party, are keeping their costumes a secret. They are expected back today or tomorrow from a quick trip to Florida. Mr. and Mrs. Otto Madlener and Miss Anne Ryerson are others entertaining guests.

The other costume party is a Gay Nineties one planned as the reopening of the old Coach House at the Dunham Woods Riding club in Wayne. It will be the first dancing party there since the pre-war Hunt balls, and, with the relaxing of gasoline rationing, a number of members who live in town are expected to attend. Cocktails and dinner will be served in the clubhouse.

Other parties on tomorrow night's calendar are a Halloween dance to be given in the Knollwood Country club and the harvest home dinner-dance of the Chicago Yacht club. The latter party will be held in the Belmont Harbor clubhouse.

Opera Notes

A large number of Saddle members will be in the audience in the Civic Opera House tonight to hear a fellow member, Louis C. Sudler, in his opera debut as Silvio in "I Pagliacci." He has been in constant demand to entertain at club parties.

The Illinois Opera Guild will mail out invitations today for a tea and musical at 3 p. m. Nov. 6 in the Arts club, at which Bruno Walter, Fausto Cleva, artistic director of the Chicago Opera company, and Mrs. Cleva, and the directors of the opera company and their wives will be the special guests. Mr. Cleva will introduce the afternoon's artists, Bidu Sayao, Kurt Baum, Leonard Warren, Rosalind Nadell, and Nicola Moscona, who are contributing their services to the guild.

To aid the guild's membership drive, the price of admission to the party will be the bringing of one new member for the guild. With the proceeds from its recent benefit fashion show, the guild purchased 25 boxes for the Friday night performances thruout the season, and tonight Mrs. Peter Torosian will be hostess to recuperating service men from Vaughan general hospital whom the group will entertain in the boxes.

At a luncheon which the guild's president, Mrs. Millard B. Kennedy, gave Tuesday in the Camellia House for Miss Sayao, Mrs. Cleva, and the benefit committee, plans were discussed for purchasing extra seats beyond the 25 boxes.

Wax, director of student groups of the University of Chicago, will speak on "Post-War Problems and the Home."

Mrs. Henry W. Hartough, chairman of war service and rehabilitation, will introduce one of the afternoon's two speakers, Harry Pritzker, who is chairman of the war service committee of the Chicago Bar association. His subject will be "The GI Bill of Rights." James Simpson Jr., president of Industry for Veterans, will talk on "Our Returned Veterans and Their Needs." The second half of the program has been arranged by Miss Myrtle L. Carpenter.

Flashing Bags for Evening Wear

BY REA SEEGER

In the wake of all the revived elegance in evening costumes, along come the exquisite trifles, called and carried as complementary bags for each different gown or ensemble. These newly displayed bags flash as intriguingly as any gown with which they will be carried. Sequins in lavish array, each expertly attached by the finest and most skilled hand stitchery, long slender bugle beads that are equally effective and also hand arranged, make bags of outstanding beauty because of the designs, the color combinations, and the composition effects of sequins plus beads plus fine delicate embroidery.

Simulated tiny gems such as twinkling rubies, topaz, amethysts, emeralds, and sapphires are stitched in an all-over pattern on one luscious "deb" trifle of white satin, the bag itself one of those drawstring pouches with a stiff circular bottom. Dramatic huge envelopes, elaborately sequined in multi-colors, are ideal all-purpose bags to wear with any dinner dress or evening gown or with the handsome new dinner suits ablaze with sequin and bead embroidery. There are others of solid, winking black, combining black sequins, large and small, with thousands of tiny jet beads. Honey colored satin envelopes go dress-parade with dozens of topaz colored bugle beads, so do pastel tinted beauties such as frail pink, blue, and deep beige.

One square cut envelope is covered with heavy embroidery of bronze and black sequin flowers and leaves, just what's needed for one of the high fashion black and brown dinner suits or dresses. All whites, solid ruby red, sapphire, and emerald green sequin bags and envelopes come in small, neat sizes or in the larger eye catching sizes, and as always, there is an abundance of all browns and blacks. Glittering and shimmering sequin and bead embroidered bags have never been more imaginative in size, shape, color, and contrast nor in such superb collections.

Church Orders to Hold Mass for Centennial

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS

The restoration of religious communities in Anglican and Episcopal churches one hundred years ago will be observed thruout the world Sunday and Monday in Chicago and Evanston churches under the patronage of Bishop Wallace E. Conkling. Possibly a score of Episcopal and Eastern Orthodox bishops, and many habited religious [persons who wear the garbs of religious orders] from all parts of the country will aid in the observances.

Religious orders came to sad days under Henry VIII. of England. By 1538 the last of 616 religious houses belonging to 16 orders were confiscated. Chapels were desecrated and buildings dismantled and the property turned into Henry VIII.'s treasury. Memberships were dispersed. For more than 300 years there were no religious professions in either the mother church of England or in the daughter Episcopal church in America.

But in the spring of 1845, under the spiritual guidance of a leader of the Oxford movement, the Rev. William Pusey, a group of women religious [women who have taken religious vows] took possession of a small house in London. The movement spread thruout England and finally to the United States with the founding of the Community of St. Mary in 1865.

This community operates St. Mary's home, 2822 Jackson blvd., Kemper hall, a school for girls in Kenosha, Wis., St. Katherine's school in Davenport, Ia., and the DeKoven foundation in Racine, Wis., as well as many other institutions thruout the country.

Clifford L. Terry, president of the Catholic club of the Episcopal diocese of Chicago, which sponsors the centennial, in announcing that a colorful pontifical centennial mass will be held in St. Luke's church, Evanston, Monday at 11 a. m., said there are now more professed members, both clerical and lay, in Anglican and Episcopal churches than before their dissolution under Henry VIII.

A youth rally in the Church of the Atonement, 5749 Kenmore av., at 5 p. m. Sunday will be conducted by the Rev. Bonnell Spencer, O. H. C., with a sermon by Bishop Reginald Mallett, of the Northern Indiana diocese. Bishop Conkling will greet the young people.

St. Luke's church will be the scene of brilliant ceremonies Monday at 11 a. m. with Bishop Conkling presiding as ordinary. Bishop Robert E. Campbell, O. H. C., will be celebrant.

Other officers of the mass will be the Rev. Dom Paul Severence, O. S. B., the Rev. Father Stephen, O. S. F., and the Rev. James M. Duncan, of the Church of the Atonement. The preacher will be Bishop James P. DeWolfe, of Long Island, N. Y.

Monday afternoon sessions will feature the Rev. Granville M. Williams, S. S. J. E., the Rev. Mother Rachel, O. S. A., the Rev. Father Joseph, O. S. F., and Bishop Mallett.

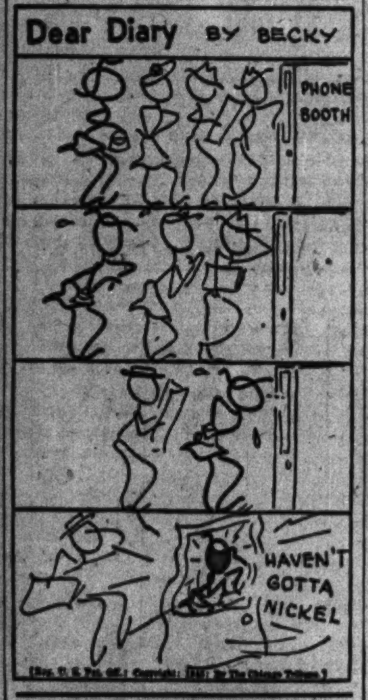
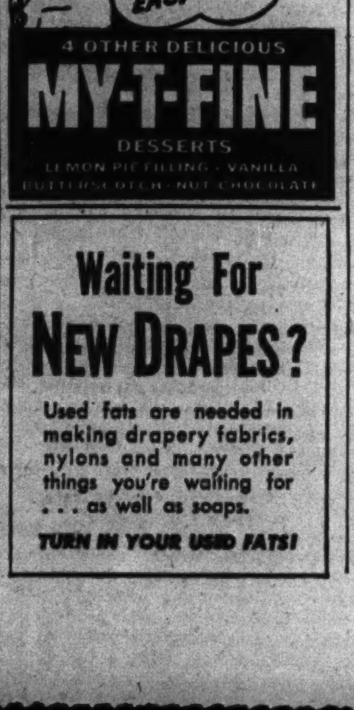
Dear Diary BY BECKY





Jimmy Cagney Puts Action in Jap Spy Movie

"BLOOD ON THE SUN"

Produced by William Cagney, released thru United Artists, directed by Frank Lloyd, featuring James Cagney, Sylvia Sidney, Wallace Ford, Rosemary De Camp, Robert Armstrong, John Emery, Leonard Strong, Frank Puglia, John Halloran, Hugh Ho, Philip Ahn, Joseph Kim, Marvin Mueller, Rhys Williams, Porter Hall, James Bell, Grace Lem, Oy Chan, George Paris, Hugh Beaumont, Gregory Gay, Arthur Loft, Emmett Vogan, and Charlie Wayne. Presented at the Oriental.

By Mae Tinee

Press sheets on the average movie, while large and colorful, seldom contain much of interest except essential casts, credits, etc., but the one issued on "Blood on the Sun" had one page that intrigued me. It was a reproduction of a full page of the New York Times of May 15, 1932, devoting more than three columns to the "Tanaka Memorial," giving parts of the contents of the document, plus both sides of the argument as to its validity.

The type was very small, but, in spite of my protesting eyes, I read every word. We were all busy with other concerns when the issue was raised, but in the light of ensuing events, the statements of the Japanese, who claimed the document originated with the Chinese and termed it "An amusing fabrication—absurd—designed to prejudice public opinion against Japan," made me wonder.

At any rate, said document, a plan for world conquest starting with Manchuria and ending with the United States, is the basis of the plot of the two-fisted Jimmy Cagney's latest picture. There was a Baron Tanaka, and whether this Japanese "Mein Kampf" credited to him ever existed, he's surely a nasty piece on the screen. He's surrounded by others of the same kind, including the brazen Tojo, and a slant-eyed smoothie who's a double-double crosser. But little Jimmy fixes 'em all to his own liking, and even stops, panting from a bone crushing fight, a wild flight, and the effects of several bullets, to toss a few insults and have the last word. Hurray for our side!

When not practicing judo, Jimmy is a newspaper man in Tokyo, running the publisher as well as the paper, able to smell a rat a mile away, and just the boy to splash the blatant document all over the front page. A couple of murders, a veiled lady, and before you know it Jimmy has spies, Tojo, the imperial police, and almost every one else in Japan after him. He smashes his fist into a good many faces, tosses Japs about with a twist of the wrist, and has numerous adventures that are reminiscent of some of the early blood and thunder serials.

There are several rather confusing points which never are cleared up, and I've about decided, after a number of movies on the subject, that all you have to do to be a spy is act like a dope—but kids will eat it up.

The dialog is spotty, sophisticated, and realistic at times, and occasionally weird, as when one newspaper man says to another, seriously, "Don't toy with me."

Mr. Cagney is likable if awfully active, Miss Sidney fits neatly into the oriental atmosphere, and Wallace Ford contributes one of the best and almost the only intentionally amusing bit in the picture.

Sally Tells Why Three Families Request Pianos

BY SALLY JOY BROWN

Several letters requesting pianos have come our way recently.

Mrs. K., who remembers gratefully the aid received from our readers years ago, again turns to this column for aid in locating a piano for her crippled daughter, now 14 years old. The child is able to get about very well on her new braces, and is progressing favorably in school, where piano lessons are available. Transportation can be arranged for a northwest side offer.

Miss X., a southwest side invalid, says she has known and loved the piano since her early childhood, has played both here and abroad, and also has taught music. In recent years, however, she has been beset with misfortune and failing health, which eventually deprived her of her piano. She keenly feels the loss of the instrument and has urged our coöperation in obtaining another.

A south side mother, Mrs. L., is eager to bring music into her home for the benefit and enjoyment of her nine children, of whom two are in high school and five in the grades. An opportunity to study music has been afforded them, and it is hoped that some of the youngsters will be able to avail themselves of the offer. The father's wages are small, but cartage expenses could be managed if an instrument were to be found.

The annual Halloween celebration, with hobgoblins, witches, and grinning pumpkin faces, is the one occasion when a hostess can go completely informal with spooky decorations and festive foods.

If you're entertaining a crowd, keep the decorations and refreshments simple. One of the easiest table decorations [and the most delicious] is the traditional pumpkin shell filled with autumn fruits—apples, oranges, grapes, and cranberries. And Halloween wouldn't be complete without sugar coated doughnuts, apple cider, and heaping bowls of popcorn, but there are many ways to bring the spirit into your menus without too much effort.

Halloween Sandwiches

Cut black cat from cardboard to use as pattern for cutting bread. Spread with deviled ham and sprinkle with finely chopped ripe olives.

Use slices of Boston brown bread. Make eyes of cream cheese tinted light green, nose of white cream cheese, and whiskers of slivers of blanched almonds.

Cut an equal number of rounds from white and whole wheat bread. Spread whole wheat bread with cream cheese and a thin layer of marmalade. Cut jack o' lantern features in white bread and place white bread on top of dark so that spread shows thru.

Spooky Desserts

Bake raisin tarts without a top crust. Using cardboard patterns smaller than the tarts, cut witches or black cats from additional pastry. Place between two cooky sheets to hold them flat and bake for 10 minutes in a hot oven. Place one of these on the top of each tart.

Cut gingerbread in squares and top with orange juice, or serve chocolate pudding with orange flavored hard sauce.

Frost plain cup cakes with orange icing and, using a toothpick, draw on jack o' lantern features in melted chocolate.

Hollow out yellow cup cakes and fill with round balls of chocolate ice cream, or place balls of lemon sherbet in hollowed out spice cakes.

Halloween Confections

Prepare taffy apples using a red-colored sirup. While sirup is still warm, press features of raisins into the sides of the apples. Serve on paper doilies with stick handle up.

Make popcorn balls using orange tinted sirup. While still sticky press in features of nuts.

In estimating the amount of punch needed for a crowd, plan on at least two punch cups [4 ounces] apiece.

Cider Punch
[About 30 punch cups]
1 quart cider
1 quart grape juice
Juice of 2 lemons
Juice of 2 oranges
2 quarts water
1 cup sugar

Combine all ingredients and stir until sugar is dissolved. Pour over a cake of ice in a punch bowl and serve in punch glasses. Honey may replace some of the sugar, but reduce the amount of liquid in the recipe slightly to allow for liquid in the honey.

Sugar Saving Tip

Cranberry sauces, relishes, and desserts can be made with half corn sirup and half sugar while citrus marmalades make any good cranberry treat taste better without adding any sugar.

Prize Recipe: Pecan Nut Cookies

½ cup butter
½ cup sugar
1 egg yolk
½ teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup flour
½ cup brown sugar
1 egg white, stiffly beaten
½ cup chopped pecans or walnuts

Cream butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Add egg yolk, cinnamon, and flour and mix well. Spread very thin on an ungreased cooky sheet and pat down with hands. Fold brown sugar into egg white and spread over cooky dough. Sprinkle nuts on top. Bake in a moderate oven [325 degrees] for 30 minutes. Cut with cooky cutters or cut into squares and remove from cooky sheet immediately. Makes 3½ dozen cookies.

Butter, Lard to Be Cut Four Points Sunday

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25 (AP)—Butter, margarine, lard, shortening, and oils will go down to eight points from 12 points a pound Sunday, the office of price administration announced today.

The OPA also said current ration values will be maintained thru Dec. 1 on the better cuts of beef, veal, and lamb and on all lean pork.

All meats now ration free will continue so during November. The only revision of the meat point chart is assignment of lower ration values for six fat pork cuts and barbecued pork. These cuts range from two to four points a pound.

OPA Adminstrator Bowles said the point reductions for butter and other fats and oils are due to improved supply.

The agriculture department estimates the butter supply will be 12 per cent greater in November. Release of 80 million pounds by the army is given as the reason.

Among fats and oils, lard supply has improved most. It will be up about 39 per cent in November, the agriculture department said.

Bowles reported that the over all meat supply next month is expected to be about one-half of 1 per cent less than in October.

"Up to this time, therefore, meat supplies do not permit the end of rationing," Bowles announced.

Because of foreign requirements, the domestic supply of beef will be down about 13 per cent in November, veal about 19 per cent, and lamb and mutton about 22 per cent.

Offsetting these declines, the heavy seasonal run of hogs to market is expected to boost the pork supply by about 41 per cent.

An agriculture department spokesman said this country's foreign commitments on meat have not been met in full this month, and that this will require heavier shipment in November than had been planned.

Lower point values for fat pork apply to such cuts as plates and jowls.

The new series of five stamps becoming valid Nov. 1 for meats and fats includes the last four red stamps —W1, X1, Y1, and Z1—and one green stamp—N8—in ration book four.

Care Should Be Taken in Beating Egg Whites

The smallest amount of fat from a greasy bowl, a greasy egg beater, or a bit of yolk will prevent the thoro beating of egg whites. When the yolks and whites are to be beaten separately, it will save time to beat the whites first, then with the same beater [without washing] beat the yolks.

George Rector gives you a quick, easy way to make delicious
Meat Base Soups EVERY TIME
HERE'S THE SECRET
Now—even without soup bones—you can make hearty, delicious soups chock-full of good meat flavor.
With Wilson's B-V, you simply make a meat base broth to be added to your soup after the other ingredients have been cooked. (See recipes.)
B-V is a delicious blend of concentrated meat extract and selected vegetable flavors. Use it to add rich meat flavor to soups, gravies, hot drinks, stews, casseroles, etc.
FREE! George Rector's new "B-V Meat Magic Recipes." Send self-addressed envelope to Wilson & Co., Dept. 30, Union Stock Yards, Chicago 9, Illinois.
B-V MEAT BASE VEGETABLE SOUP
Simmer, covered, until tender in 6 cups water, 1 cup cubed potatoes, 1 cup shredded cabbage, 1 cup diced carrot, ¾ cup diced celery, ¾ cup diced onion, 2 tbsp. minced onion, 1 tbsp. bacon drippings, ¾ tsp. salt
Add ¼ cup tomatoes (sieved), 4½ tsp. Wilson's B-V dissolved in a small amount of the hot liquid. Serves 6.
B-V MEAT BASE SOUP STOCK
4 tsp. Wilson's B-V, 4 cups boiling water (including vegetable cooking water*)
Dissolve B-V in a small amount of the hot water (about ¼ cup). Add remaining water and serve.
Use full strength as a bouillon; for soup stock, use less B-V (from ½ to ¾ tsp. per cup liquid) to suit your taste.
*Do not use too much vegetable water unless only lightly salted.

Boiling water
2½ cups Ceresota Enriched Flour
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons Nucoa or shortening
1 egg
¾ cup sugar or honey
½ cup coarsely chopped nuts
1 cup raisins or other dried fruit
Orange rind
Water
¼ cup sugar, corn syrup, or honey
Walnut halves
(1) Squeeze juice from orange and add enough boiling water to make 1 cup liquid (¾ cup liquid if honey is used.) (2) Pour over orange rind ground fine. (3) Let stand while you sift and measure flour; resift with soda, baking powder; and salt. (4) Cut Nucoa into flour until it disappears. (5) Beat egg and sugar or honey. (6) Combine all ingredients, mix as little as possible. (7) Stir in nuts and fruit. (8) Turn into well-Nucoa-d loaf pan. (9) Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) for one hour. (10) Meantime simmer small pieces of orange rind in a little water till tender. (11) Add ¼ cup sugar, corn syrup, or honey; cook until clear. (12) Use as garnish for top of loaf; brush loaf with syrup. Decorate with walnut halves. Yield: 1 loaf 9x5 inches.

Little Children Need to Have Adults Around

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS
[Copyright: 1945: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

The baby's mother had to hang out his wash, make up his bed, and do a dozen other chores in a hurry, which couldn't be accomplished at the same time that she kept an eye on the little walking dynamo, so I said,

"Leave him here in my bedroom."

So in he came in his little striped jersey and soft blue corduroy overalls, with his feet bare, which we've allowed as much as possible ever since he's walked.

If I were a little more fussy, or my room the perfection of order with nothing at all in sight or within reach, he might not have such a good time when I "take over." But as it is, he will play around contentedly for a long while, with only an occasional romp across the bed or with the pillows.

Of course, "helping" me unpack the small trunk that's just been delivered by the expressman is a special event that doesn't take place every time he comes into my room. But there always are little objects he can have and enjoy.

After abstracting scissors and needles, he can play with a sewing bag I use when travelling. A used-up metal lipstick container of which the top slips on easily delights him, pulling it out and pushing it in. Shoe trees are fun to handle, and talk about a little.

The airplane trunk, once unpacked, remains under my west window, because it is a perfect height for him to climb up on, and to use as a vantage point from which can be seen the dogs, kitten, and children on the lawn.

But this satisfaction and contentment wouldn't exist for so long if the baby were quite alone in the room [even if it were safe to leave him.]

We who have the care of little children simply have to accept the fact that, before long stretches of play-concentration begin, these walking and almost-talking babies need the presence and interest of their mother or some other interested grownup.

School Study of Religion Is Called Fascism

Urbana, Ill., Oct. 25 [Special]—A form of religious fascism exists in the Champaign public schools and the superintendent is a "kind of dictator," Landon Chapman, attorney for Mrs. Vashti McCollum, who is seeking to halt religious education in the Champaign schools, charged in a 57 page brief he filed today in the Champaign county Circuit court.

The brief summarized the evidence, points of law, and arguments raised by Chapman in the trial here last month. Board of education attorneys will have two weeks to file their brief and Chapman one week to reply, after which the three judge court is expected to study the case for 30 days before announcing a decision.

Chapman charged in his brief that the school superintendent, because "certain procedures" must be followed in starting religious classes, "has the privilege of permitting or rejecting religious teaching" and "he determines what is moral and immoral and sits in judgment on other people's religion."

"Any duty to teach religion to one's children is entirely self-imposed. The same principle applies to churches. The home and the church may not shift to the school this self-imposed duty."

Charging the Champaign program is in violation of federal and state constitutions and Illinois statutes, Chapman said that "these religious educators come upon the school grounds as private persons with private purposes. They come there to sell religion—their own religion.

"Our government has put religion on the footing of perfect equality. It protects all and favors none."

Singher's Ravel with the Orchestra Persuasive as His Debussy at the Opera

Concert by the Chicago Symphony orchestra, Desire Defauw, conductor; Martial Singher, baritone. Presented in Orchestra hall Thursday evening, Oct. 25, 1945, and scheduled for repetition Friday afternoon. The program:

Symphony in E flat major, Köchel 543	Mozart
Cantata, "Ich, will den Kreuzstab gerne tragen"	Bach
Rapsodie Espagnole	Ravel
Song Cycle, "Don Quichotte a Dulcinee"	Ravel
Bolero	Ravel

Martial Singher, the Basque baritone, made his début with the Chicago Symphony orchestra in Orchestra hall last night, and before the evening was over he had won the concert audience as completely as the operagoers long since mesmerized by his subtly distinguished performance in Debussy's "Pelléas and Mélisande."

Last night it was Ravel's song cycle, "Don Quichotte à Dulcinée," that underscored his triumph, so that he had to repeat all three songs, in the order of the third first, the first second, and the second third, if you follow my diagram. For tho Mr. Singher is a musicianly singer who knows the heartbeat as well as the time beat of a score, the Bach cantata, "Ich Will den Kreuzstab Gerne Tragen," was not the ideal choice for his first symphonic performance. He sang supply and skilfully with the small orchestra at its best when Philip Manuel's harpsichord and Florian Mueller's flute chanted a gaily lovely melody, but the performance failed to capture the pure essence of Bach, and it had interludes of approaching the interminable.

But it left the audience well disposed toward the tall singer, whose stage presence can restore to friendly circulation that almost vanished word, elegance. And the Ravel turned the trick. You know the cycle, of course, the romance to the mimicked plucking of a guitar, the gentle prayer to the madonna of the blue mantle, the song that drinks to joy, all of them a twinkling maze of Spanish and Basque rhythms caught in a net of French bewitchment. Ravel wrote them for Chaliapin's "Don Quichotte" film, but they weren't used for that purpose, so later he turned them over to Singher in one of the happier gestures of contemporary music.

The orchestra, under the direction of Désiré Defauw, played deft accompaniments and set the mood for the soloist with a performance of Ravel's "Rapsodie Espagnole" that in the first four movements had a delicate fastidiousness more than a little reassuring. The finale was comparatively coarse in texture.

However, the Ravel thruout was far happier than the orchestra's way with Mozart's Symphony in E flat major, a curiously shapeless performance that handicapped the Bach it meant to introduce. Nor was the end of the concert a triumph, tho there I can not find it in my heart to blame Mr. Defauw. He took Ravel's "Bolero" from the shelf and was making a success of it until the winds began a very welter of playing out of tune. It was all too reminiscent of a line from a Ravel biography, which says of the "Bolero," ". . . the theme is first played by the flutes alone; a thin faint echo of the chaos to come."

Are Your Children Getting As Good A Start In Life?

Right from the start, the mother of these two children has made sure that they were getting plenty of sunshine, and a diet adequate in bone-building minerals. Their legs will be as strong and straight, and their teeth as sound, as sufficient calcium can make them.

Will your child have these assets? Although even sufficient calcium cannot correct bowed legs after a child is three, an adequate supply is important right through life to keep bones sturdy and help the child look his best. That's one of the main reasons why doctors advise that children get plenty of milk...the best food source of calcium.

However, as children grow older, they are often reluctant to drink all the milk they should have.

That's where Cocomalt can prove invaluable. For not only does Cocomalt give milk a delicious chocolaty flavor that children love, but it is so rich in calcium it makes 3 glasses of milk equal to a whole quart in calcium value.* (Also ensures the day's entire minimum requirements for iron, phosphorus, Vitamin B_1 and D.)

Start your children on Cocomalt today. Save this as a reminder to order from your grocer.

ERICA ADAMANT

Mr. Izenga looked up. French was standing in the doorway watching him. Mr. Izenga muttered, "Annisburg. Dear me, whom do we know in that town?" French disappeared.

Mr. Izenga turned again to the telephone. "Wait . . . wait . . . don't hang up. I'll pay you a hundred dollars."

"A measly hundred bucks? And him a dirty murderer for all his dough? Make it a couple of thousand and I'll talk to you."

A light went on in Mr. Izenga's brain. The Lowerys, of course! Bennet's friend and roommate in college. Sam Lowery. That must be where Bennet had taken refuge.

"Don't bother," Mr. Izenga told the telephone crisply. "I've changed my mind." He hung up, then quickly put in a call of his own. French was back in the doorway again.

Mr. Izenga jiggled the receiver impatiently. "Hello, Leora, this call is very important. It's for me personally. Just clear that line. Tell them Mr. Izenga needs it."

French swallowed a smile. Mr. Izenga's methods got results. "Hello, is this the Lowerys'? This Mrs. Lowery? This is Cornelius Izenga from Lawnsdale. O, you have? . . . well, I've always wanted to meet you, too. Perhaps you can guess why I am calling."

The very sweet feminine voice said, "Uh . . . why . . . just a minute please." Then after a pause it whispered, "I wanted to close the door. I may have to hang up any minute."

"O, how in the world did you . . . I mean . . . he's asked us not to tell, but of course you're not the police."

"No. But, Mrs. Lowery, you must urge him to report at once to the local authorities. It makes things worse for him the longer he puts it off."

French spoke from the doorway. "Don't hang up, Mr. Izenga. String it along." And disappeared.

"And I'm afraid you, too, will get into trouble if you hold him there."

"Hold him!" squealed Mrs. Lowery. "Don't I know it? We don't want him here at all, but what can we do? He came here the very morning he left home. Arrived about 7. It's only 85 miles, you know. And Sam welcomed him, of course. We didn't know anything about his being wanted till the afternoon paper came, and then what could we do? We certainly don't want to go back on a friend."

"But he must surrender for his own sake. It must be voluntary." Mr. Izenga was vehement.

"You're telling me, Mr. Izenga! But you can't make Bennet see it. And the worst thing of all, we have a part time gardener I don't trust for a minute. He'd do anything for money."

"I think he has already tried it." Mr. Izenga explained his being called earlier from her town. "And now, Mrs. Lowery, put Bennet on the telephone and I'll . . . O . . . ."

He jumped. A deafening shriek had come over the wire. He caught only two words repeated several times.

"The police!" The receiver banged down.

Mr. Izenga hung up. He was a trifle appalled at what he'd done. Bill French came in. His smile was eloquent.

"Nice going, Mr. Izenga. I contacted a squad car in the Annisburg vicinity by radio, and sent it to the Lowerys' while you were talking to them."

Mr. Izenga was glad to find Erica alone when he went upstairs. A trooper sat in the hall.

Erica's smile was forced. He quickly whispered the news about Bennet, lest some one else come in and spoil his chance.

Erica sighed. "Do you think Uncle Bennet killed grandmother?"

"It looks bad for him, but I can't believe it. Why? Do you?"

Slowly she shook her head.

Mr. Izenga shuddered. "Erica, do you know who did it?"

"No . . . I don't know." To know you had to be able to prove things.

"But you suspect. You have strong reason to suspect." Mr. Izenga was shaking her in the extremity of his terror.

She pulled away from him. "I don't know a thing. I swear I don't. Every one is free to have suspicions. And I haven't a shred of proof of mine. I . . . . I hope to heaven they are wrong."

Mr. Izenga argued with her for several more minutes.

"At least tell me this, is it some one you love?"

She sighed. "Once, yes."

Newcomb! At last she was seeing the light. And yet his triumph did not last. If Toby were out of the picture, Huntley would move in. And Mr. Izenga was dismayed to find how little he now wanted Erica to marry Huntley. Even Westerly wasn't worth it, he told his amazed self.

"I don't want to talk about it any more. I've some things to say that are a lot more important to me. I never get a chance to see people alone nowadays. Did you know that grandmother lent some of my securities to somebody?"

Mr. Izenga stiffened.

"Did she tell you so? Or leave you a message about it, or a notation in your safe deposit box?"

She looked a little startled. Her hazel eyes were grayer than usual, with tiny gold flecks. "No-no. But it is so. The person who has them told me. You see they borrowed money on the securities and couldn't pay it back. But the person's legacy will be enough to cover the loan, and I'll get them back all right. So I don't want any fuss made. I want you to know so you can forestall any such action if you hear of it."

"But Erica," Mr. Izenga's whisper was piercing. "That is terrible. The legacy was needed you see . . . the police . . ." He stopped, bogged down in his own horror.

"Yes, I do see," Erica said. "I see that the police would instantly say this person had a motive to kill her. And I know he did not. He could not do such a thing. I won't have the police told."

"My dear!" Mr. Izenga was wounded deeply. "But I must remind you . . . look what happened to your grandmother when she refused to let the police know about that first attack on her."

"I know all that," she said irritably. "I can look out for myself."

"If you could only trust me with the person's name," he whispered humbly.

"I can't tell. I swore by all that was holy. Please don't say any more."

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Oct. 25—Since Dame May Whitty has made a smash hit on Broadway in "Therese," how about one of our bright young playwrights doing a different version of "Queen Victoria" [who looked so much like Dame May] so Margaret Webster could produce and direct her mother in it? Bob Hope is delaying the starting date of Ben Hecht's picture. Constance Collier, who's supposed to be in the Hecht picture, is now working with Hope, and he has lost so many days they're way behind schedule. . . . Rita Hayworth is sleeping in these nights in the Columbia studio. Those dressing rooms are so comfortable I've wondered why stars didn't do that more often.

Note to Mama: Hurry! Hurry!

Jinx Falkenburg's mother hasn't seen the loot Tex McCrary, Jinx's husband, brought Jinx from around the world. Mama's driving home from Mexico with a carload of fabrics for her new shop. Nor does she know her son came back to Hollywood on the same plane with Tex. Jinx's most important presents were a string of pearls and a ring to match, which Tex picked up by candlelight during a revolution in Saigon. . . . Orson Welles has gone back to the silent days. He has to have music between scenes and has a hot boogie-woogie piano player on the set. It soothes him, but it's driving the cast crazy. . . . John Ford is the only other director who has music between takes. He had an accordion player on the "They Were Expendable" set, and Bob Montgomery learned to play the squeezebox.

Ho Hum—or Love's Labor Lost!

Johnny Mercer wrote "The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe" and handed out more free publicity than any railroad ever received. Do you know what he got? One free meal on the A. T. & S. F.—and that was a steward's idea. . . . Spencer Tracy won't be able to stay with that "Rugged Path" after January. He's set to hop across the pond as "Sgt. Nelson of the Guards," which Comdr. Frank Weed is putting in script form now. . . . Hoagy Carmichael gets star billing with Dana Andrews, Brian Donlevy, and Susan Hayward in "Canyon Passage"—and why not? When the picture's ended, he'll leave on a personal appearance tour. . . . You'll be glad to know George Murphy will co-star with Lionel Barrymore in Metro's "But Not Good-by."

Too Grim a Reminder

Phil Ohman cut the song "Jealousy" out of his repertoire at the Mocambo after learning what it did to Ann Dvorak. She ran into the powder room shaking like a leaf. Ann explained that during the worst London blitz, "Jealousy" was the only recording they had, and they played it constantly. . . . Congratulations to Hal Hudson of C. B. S. He listens to those service men who need jobs and who've had radio and radar training. If he can find a place for them he does. And he's found quite a few places. . . . What's this? Cary Grant and Clare James, former Miss America and ex-wife of Buzz Berkeley.

Tit for Tat? No, Not Yet

Glenn Ford discovered the double marriage standard still prevails. He plays a hard bitten character in "Gilda," and during a scene Rita Hayworth hauls off and slaps him. Later when he returned the blow, the cast and crew booed him to a man. . . . When Helen Campbell, new English player who signed with Metro, arrived in America, she was asked what she thought about us. Said she, "London all over again—no place to live." She was a WAAF during the war. . . . Hurd Hatfield, the Oscar Wilde of "Dorian Gray," goes into Ibsen's "Ghosts" on the stage with Aline MacMahon playing the mother.

Two Costume Parties Among Society Events

Chicago at 4:30 p. m. yesterday was a quiet ceremony in the home of Mrs. Prosser's mother in the Drake Towers. The service was read by the Rev. Herbert W. Prince of the Church of the Holy Spirit in Lake Forest, where the bride has lived. Mr. and Mrs. Andresen will be at home in Stone st.

The bride's son, Flight Officer David Prosser, was unable to be present at the ceremony as he is in England awaiting transportation home. He hopes to arrive before the publication of his book, "Journey Underground," which will be on the bookstands Nov. 5. The book first was published serially in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and narrates his experiences in the French underground which rescued him after his plane had been shot down. Flight Officer Prosser's father, Maj. Stuart A. Prosser, and Mrs. Prosser have returned to the Churchill following a summer at Southampton.

On the Calendar

As a salute to the October issue of Poetry magazine, which appeared last week devoted entirely to English translations of contemporary French poetry written during the occupation, the woman's committee of the magazine will entertain at tea from 4 to 6 p. m. today in the Lake Shore dr. apartment of its chairman, Mrs. Augustine J. Bowe. Many of the works written by poets who were active in the resistance movement, have been translated by the magazine's former editor, George Dillon, now serving as a sergeant in the army in France. The others were completed by Lt. William J. Smith, one of the magazine's contributors who just has returned from the Pacific. Mrs. Byron S. Harvey Jr. will read some of the poems in the original French.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 spade	Pass	2 hearts	Pass
3 clubs	Pass	5 clubs	Pass
6 clubs	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Four of diamonds.

It is a good general policy to overbid two suited hands and underbid those that are evenly balanced. The latter type depend almost exclusively on an abundance of honor tricks, whereas the unbalanced hands have great playing strength because so many tricks can be developed out of a side suit, which may contain no more than 1½ or 2 honor tricks.

The bidding was sound in all respects. This is not the type of hand which lends itself to treatment by any of the artificial slam conventions. That is usually the case where void suits are held. This is a slam that depends, as so many do, not so much upon the possession of aces and kings, as upon favorable distribution, or in other words, a lack of losers.

South led the four of diamonds, and North's ace was ruffed. The egocentric Mr. East could see nothing but his own hand and immediately set about establishing the spade suit. He would have experienced no difficulty with the hand had spades broken 4-3 [which they did] and the trumps 2-1 [which they didn't]. The ace of spades was cashed and a small spade ruffed in dummy. Declarer regained the lead by ruffing a diamond and another spade was ruffed in dummy. Then a trump was led to the closed hand and when North showed out, the jig was up. The spades now became hopeless because declarer was out of entries to get back to cash them. Declarer therefore had to try the heart finesse which lost, leaving East in a helpless position.

Depite the bad trump break, declarer should have made the hand without any trouble. The proper suit to work on was hearts, not spades. In the first place they were nearer to establishment and in the second place, Dummy has more entries, now that declarer's trumps have been weakened by having to ruff the opening lead. At the end of trick one, since dummy has more trumps, it should be treated as the "boss" hand. On winning the first trick the ace of clubs will show the bad trump break. The heart finesse should then be taken. When North wins, a diamond will probably be returned, tho no lead matters. Declarer ruffs and discards dummy's last diamond on the ace of spades. A small heart is led to the ace and a small heart is returned and ruffed with the king of clubs to prevent a possible over-ruff. A low trump to dummy allows the drawing of trumps and the dummy hand is now solid.

FOOTBALL CROWDS SOAR AT 75 COLLEGES

WILDCATS FEAR PURDUE; WITH JUSTIFICATION

N. U. to Be Host at Game Tomorrow

BY IRVING VAUGHAN

The Northwestern university Wildcats, as they taper off for their next 60 minutes of activity, scheduled for tomorrow in Dyche stadium with the unsullied Purdue Boilermakers assisting, admit they are fearing with all the fervor of a good old fashion football fear, and yet confess to curiosity.

Despite what it may cost in touchdowns the Wildcats want to see the team that among other things made an also ran out of highly publicized Ohio State last week-end.

And the Wildcats are pretty smart even while sticking their necks out against the gridiron carnival company coached by Cecil Isbell. They must play the Ohioans a week hence and what better place to get pointers than from the eleven that plastered the Buckeyes last Saturday by a rollicking 35 to 13, the latter points being mere compliments?

Cecil Also Good Worrier

Merely in keeping with custom, Isbell also is fearing in choice fashion but he isn't afraid of the Wildcats' strength, altho there always is a possibility of anything in football. What Isbell has on his mind is that his gentle little fellows, having dusted off Ohio State as well as a flock of football prophets, may get the silly notion that they have nothing further to worry about. Isbell also was worried before the Iowa game two weeks ago. His playful lads were able to win only by 40 to 0.

There is one thing the Wildcats don't have to think about. Purdue's earlier opponents didn't know for sure whether it was Purdue's strength or the opposition's weakness. The Ohio State game proved it the former and the Wildcats read all about the activity in the papers—activity that had the Boilermakers running and passing until even the officials were anxious for the conclusion.

Cody, Canfield Lead Gainers

When the Boilermakers go to work tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock they will be after their sixth straight success of the season and to attain that goal will have the services, among others, of Ed Cody to whom full backing and half backing are the same thing, and Bill Canfield who keeps so busy playing half back that he doesn't have time to warm up in other positions. Then of course, there is Freshman Bob De Moss who already is such a nifty pass tosser that it is difficult to see how experience can improve his skill.

In five games, three against conference elevens, the Boilermakers have piled up 1,097 yards on the ground and that's a lot of yardage even if fairly well distributed between 10 or a dozen backs. In this case the distribution hasn't been extensive. Of those yards afoot 449 went to Cody in 77 plays and 328 to Canfield in 81 plays. The only other Purdue ball carrier even close is Dave Shaw who in 15 plays, all in one game, rolled up 116 yards.

The Wildcats, while willingly in the role of underdogs, can point with pride to at least a few things. They held the strong Indiana university eleven to a 7 to 7 tie and last week, even though trimmed by Minnesota, uncovered a passing attack that didn't escape attention during this week's preparatory work at Lafayette.

PURDUE SENDS 36 TO N. U.

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 25 [Special] —Purdue's hope of strengthening its hold on first place in the Big Nine football race will rest on a squad of 36 players named tonight by Coach Cecil Isbell to make the trip to Evanston to meet Northwestern on Saturday.

The Boilermaker coach named the traveling squad following an intensive brushing up drill on both offense and defense which virtually wound up preparation for the Wildcat encounter. Isbell indicated he would stand pat on the lineup that started against Ohio State last Saturday, with Norbert Adams, Hammond freshman, remaining in the right half back position.

Cards' Coach Warns of Don Hutson Freeze

BY EDWARD PRELL

"Trouble is," Phil Handler has been telling his Cardinals all week long, "that most fellows freeze when they get the job of covering Don Hutson. Now if you'll just relax, play him like you would any other pass catcher, you'll have more success."

The Cardinal coach didn't guarantee that this formula will enable the team completely to stop the Packers' celebrated end Sunday in Green Bay. He'll be satisfied if the lads just slow him up a trifle. He believes, as other National leaguers who have watched Hutson Sunday after Sunday, that Don is the greatest and trickiest player of all time.

"Hutson has that mental edge, just like Babe Ruth had it in baseball and Jack Dempsey in boxing," Handler continued in his analysis of the Green Bay star. "If the defenders would just forget that it's Hutson they're playing against they'd be a lot better off."

Few Defenses Work

Phil said that more varieties of defense have been tried on Hutson than on any other individual player and added that few of them have worked. He recalled the Packers' championship game with New York last December in the Polo grounds.

"Hutson faked across the field diagonally," said Handler, "in front of the Giants' weak side line backer. The Giants' weak side left end tried to hit him. Mel Hein, the line backer, went with Don. The right half back fell in line and the procession was complete when the safety man joined up. Here were four men stalking Hutson. Ted Fritsch went down the side line and caught a pass for the touchdown which beat the Giants."

So it's not only what Hutson does which always hurts the other team. By making the defenders concentrate on him, Don enables a teammate to get in the open for the pass. Hutson has caught 22 passes for 492 yards in four games, has made six touchdowns, and kicked 18 extra points.

Can't Play Normal Defense

"You just can't play a normal defense with Hutson in there," Phil continued. "But I think we'll give them a game and that we'll move the ball. I tried to get the players up for the Detroit contest, but they weren't ready to play. They have more life this week and I think they've snapped out of it."

Handler was further cheered yesterday when Mario [Motts] Tonelli, full back who has been in service since March 10, 1941, signed a Cardinal contract and was pronounced ready for the Green Bay game. Tonelli, former De Paul academy and Notre Dame star, is a survivor of the Bataan death march. He is on an army furlough of three months.

Up in Green Bay, Curly Lambeau, the Packers' coach, was trying to use his influence to have the rain stop. It has slowed up practice all week, he said.

"The Cardinals will give trouble to any team that takes them lightly," said the foxy Badger. "They beat the Bears and tied the Redskins in an exhibition game."

Lambeau Warns of Lions

Lambeau has been in the pro football business too long to become panicky when another team is leading his Packers in the west, as are the Rams. He warns that the Detroit Lions, who will play the Bears Sunday in Briggs stadium, are not to be discounted in the western division.

The Packers' head man doubtless is hoping his team can coast in Sunday. A week later the Northerners come to Wrigley field to meet the Bears and on Nov. 11 invade Cleveland for a showdown with the unbeaten Rams.

ROWLAND SAYS COAST WILL BE MAJOR LEAGUE

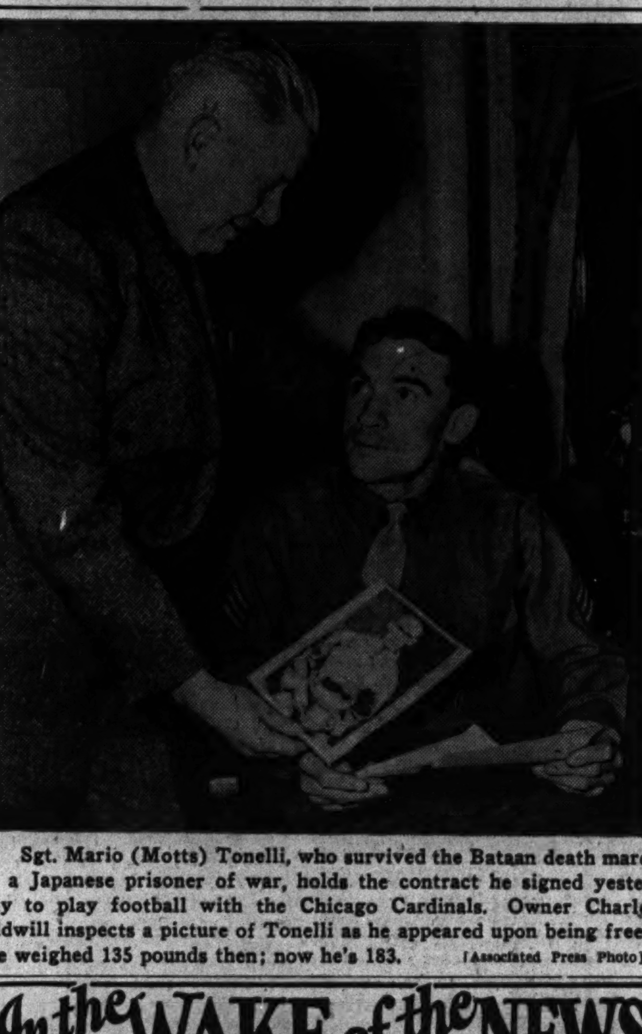
Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 25 (AP)—After some years of talking about it, the Pacific coast league is ready now to start fighting for major league status, declares its president, Clarence Rowland.

Rowland predicts flatly that his league will be operating on a par with the National and American circuits by 1949, if not sooner

Asked where the customers for a third big league would come from, Rowland said not to worry about that. "We've got plenty of people out here, and two of the best baseball towns in the country in San Francisco and Los Angeles," he said. "We drew over 3,000,000 this season, compared to just over 5,000,000 for each of the present big leagues.

"What they [the National and American leagues] would like to do is raid us of Los Angeles and San Francisco, now that they've got air travel," Rowland said. "But we say they're not going to do it. We're going to beat 'em to the punch and form our own big league."

MORE HELP FOR CARDINALS



Sgt. Mario (Motts) Tonelli, who survived the Bataan death march as a Japanese prisoner of war, holds the contract he signed yesterday to play football with the Chicago Cardinals. Owner Charley Bidwill inspects a picture of Tonelli as he appeared upon being freed. He weighed 135 pounds then; now he's 183. [Associated Press Photo]

Piano Lady

In the murky maze of the smoke dimmed haze
Of a tavern just over the way,
On a rattly old tinny piano,
She constantly strums away.

A cigaret drips from her too-red lips
There's a far away look in her eye,
As she drifts from one tune to another
Now and then with the ghost of a sigh.

"Till We Meet Again," you'll hear,
Then for a change she'll begin,
"There's a Long, Long Trail A-winding,"
And a voice or two will join in.

Time was, it is said, when she studied
With the best of teachers, and then,
"She used even to play on the concert stage,"
Some one whispers who "knew her when."

"Avalon," "Roses of Picardy,"
All tunes from that other war,
Down what time dimmed way does her memory stray,
Where does it lead her, how far?

Almost every night in the murky light
Of this tavern just down the way,
Does she try to recapture some long dead rapture,
Some dream of a lost yesterday?

ILLINOIS MUST FIGHT FUMBLES AND MICHIGAN

Always Hope for an Upset

BY WILFRID SMITH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 25—For a gent whose well laid football plans have been disrupted by an unusual series of injuries and illnesses to first line talent, Coach Ray Eliot was most affable today. And this, mind you, while he's preparing the Illini for a homecoming engagement Saturday with Michigan before 60,000 here in Memorial stadium. The outcome presumably will break the deadlock in the won and lost tabulation for Illinois' homecoming games begun in 1910.

It's no longer news, of course, that Illinois has lost Eddie McGovern and Larry Forst because of appendicitis, and Eddie Bray, Stan Sprague, and George Bujan by injury. The memory is poignant here, however, and it does not help Eliot and his boys for them to realize that a steadily improving Wolverine squad will be here in 48 hours seeking a victory all Michigan men place near the top of their preferred list.

They Can't Forget Old Red

Michigan has won 21 games in 30 played with Illinois, but Michiganders and other football fans, for that matter, never will forget the afternoon Red Grange startled Illinois homecomers with his touchdown parade and a 39 to 14 victory. That gridiron explosion 21 years ago has reverberated ever since and Michigan's 3 to 0 victory in the 1925 game on Benny Friedman's place kick, when Grange went scoreless, has been in limbo.

Illinois failed to score against Notre Dame, but the Irish were limited to a touchdown on Phil Colella's 76 yard run on the first Notre Dame play from scrimmage. Indiana got a touchdown and so did Wisconsin in subsequent games. The Hoosiers won, 6 to 0, from Illinois, and Wisconsin was tied, 7 to 7, despite recurrence of fumbilitis, a malady which caused Illinois to lose the ball eight times last Saturday to the Badgers. At Notre Dame, Illinois fumbled nine times and lost possession on six.

They Should Do Better

There is no cure for this pernicious disease, altho experience is supposed to make the players less jittery. Clean ball handling can make Illinois more dangerous offensively. On defense the Illini still may be difficult for Michigan.

Capt. Joe Ponsetto and Hal Watts, Michigan's quarter back and center, respectively, are the Wolverines' line backers. They were superb against Army—Michigan's last game —but it is Illinois' line support which will have more to do with the score here Saturday. Jerry Cies, full back, and Mac Wenskunas, who replaced Bujan at center, are the men on whom Illinois must depend to stop Dan Dworsky, Jack Weisenberger, and Jim Foltz on their spin plays into the line. Both are good defensive men. Michigan can shift its attack to the flanks of the scrimmage line, however, and here Bill Heiss, around whom Colella ran for Notre Dame's touchdown, and Ray Ciszek, replacement for Sprague, are stationed.

Freshman to Start in Line

Eliot has announced one other change in the line for the Michigan game. Bob Lunn, freshman from Spring Valley, Ill., will replace Lester Joop at left guard. The bulwark of the Illini forward wall, Les Bingaman, right guard, remains. Despite 277 pounds, Bingaman is quite agile and he anchors the defensive line stationed opposite the offensive center. All conference teams have highest regard for this massive player.

Tom Zaborac, 205 pounder from Canton, Ill., the speediest back on the squad, continues to be Illinois' principal offensive threat. He hits hard, but Illinois, which at no time has had a well balanced offense, lacks an accurate passer, needs a complementary half back for Zaborac, and has not had, in recent years, a full back who could gain two yards on fourth down.

This should be Michigan's game, but the history of upsets—Tom Harmon and his crew were beaten, 16 to 7, in 1939—must be considered. The Wolverine squad will arrive tomorrow afternoon in time for a brief drill and will be quartered in the Urbana-Lincoln hotel, thus breaking a precedent which has kept most other football squads out of this city until game time.

Illinois' squad, as usual, will escape the homecoming confusion by staying at the Champaign Country club.

GOING YOUR WAY, GOPHERS

Two Ohio State football mainstays—Russ Thomas (left), tackle, and Paul Sarringhaus, half back—are caught by the camera aboard their special train in the Union station last night. They were en route to Minneapolis for their game with Minnesota tomorrow.

Coach Carrol Widdoes (left) of the Buckeyes huddles with Tackle Bob McGinnis and Full Back Ollie Cline.

TWO SONS HIT BY AUTO, WIDDOES STAYS AT HELM

Carroll Widdoes, Ohio State football coach, was obviously worried and heavy hearted last night as he led his Buckeye squad of 33 players thru Chicago and on toward Minneapolis and their game with Minnesota's Gophers there tomorrow.

And even tho the Big Nine title may hinge on its outcome, Widdoes had a worry much greater than the winning or losing of a football game. When he left Columbus yesterday [and he didn't decide to accompany the squad until the last minute] his sons, Tom, 5, and James, 13, were in University hospital there, victims of a hit and run automobile driver.

The boys were struck by the automobile Wednesday night. Tom received multiple fractures of both legs, head and chest injuries, and his condition is considered serious. James was slightly hurt.

The Buckeyes appeared to be in good physical condition. Only Dick Fisher, Paul Sarringhaus, and Steve O'Dea are hampered by hurts, but they said last night that they expected to get into the Gopher game. Those making the trip included:

Michigan Tip to Illini: Don Robinson Back

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 25 [Special] —Michigan Football Coach Fritz Crisler, who has been using from nine to 12 backs in every Wolverine football game this season, may spring another one on Illinois in Champaign Saturday.

The newcomer actually will be an old timer—Don Robinson, who saw considerable action here in 1942 before enlisting in the army air forces and piloting his bomber in numerous missions over nazi held Europe.

Knee Injury Healed

Robinson, released from service some time ago, has been held back from football by an old knee injury which was aggravated during a softball game in Europe. The injury has healed well, however, and the speedy back has been working out and displaying increasing power for two weeks. He believes he is ready to go, and Crisler may use him in Champaign.

Robinson, an excellent passer and shifty runner, would fit well into Crisler's 1945 offense, which stresses passing more than usual. Robinson probably will be used at a tailback spot, but can play on the wing if necessary.

Will Drill on Battle Site

Michigan will leave Ann Arbor tomorrow morning for the trip to Champaign and expects to arrive in time for a brief workout tomorrow afternoon. A squad of 35 men will make the trip.

Hawks to Play Canadiens in Try for No. 2

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

MONTREAL, Que., Oct. 25—The revitalized Chicago Blackhawks, who ignited their 1945-46 National Hockey league season last night with a stirring 5 to 4 triumph over the Boston Bruins, arrived here this evening for another important assignment, Saturday's battle in the Forum against the Montreal Canadiens, last season's league champions.

Manager John Gottselig, making his debut as the Hawks' full time pilot, said tonight that his charges will have a real task on their hands Saturday. Johnny pointed out that it is one thing to whip Boston on its own ice, and another to attempt an encore against such Canadiens as Bill Durnan, Maurice Richard, Elmer Lach, Toe Blake, and Butch Bouchard. These are the five Flying Frenchmen who won places on the all-star sextet chosen at the conclusion of the last campaign by the league's managers and coaches.

John Is Justifiably Pleased

Still, Gottselig, who will introduce his team to the home folks next Wednesday in the Chicago Stadium, where they will meet the New York Rangers, was quite happy over the performance of his boys in Boston. He had special praise for two returned service men, Capt. Red Hamill and Max Bentley.

Neither Red nor Max had savored major league action for two years, yet it was they who delivered four of the Chicago quintet of goals, Hamill making the clincher on a 40 foot drive late in the game. Red enjoyed this thrust most of all, seeing as how the Bruins let him go a few seasons back on the grounds that he wasn't up to their speed.

Others to draw Gottselig's blessing were two one time forwards, Eddie Wares and George Allen, both of whom distinguished themselves on defense.

The Boston-Hawk game sent many a mathematician to his logs, for it has been a long time since six goals out of a final nine were scored without assists, not to mention the fact that four of the unassisted numbers were produced in the final period.

APPS' NOSE BROKEN

HAMILTON, Ont., Oct. 25 (AP) — Center Syl Apps, whose nose was fractured in a Toronto Maple Leaf exhibition game here last night, probably will miss the team's opening National Hockey league game against Boston in Toronto Saturday. Apps was injured in the final period when a stick struck him in the face.

Jacobs Offers Woodcock Bout with Gus Lesnevich

New York, Oct. 25 (AP)—Acting on a report that Bruce Woodcock was now free to come to the United States, Promoter Mike Jacobs said today he had offered the British heavyweight boxing champion a January match with Gus Lesnevich, light heavyweight title holder in the United States. Jacobs said he understood a restriction that formerly prevented Woodcock leaving his job in British industry had been lifted.

17.1 PER CENT GAIN OVER 1944 SEASON SHOWN

East 1st, Midwest 2d in Increase

New York, Oct. 25 (AP)—Football attendance this fall is up 17.1 per cent over a like period in 1944, a survey today of the home games played by 75 representative colleges discloses.

The biggest increase is in the east, where crowds are approximately 33 per cent larger than those of last year. The only area to show a drop is the far west, an area bounded on the east by the Rocky mountains and on the west by the Pacific ocean.

The decrease of 7 per cent can be explained in part by the return of the pre-war schedule in which the major colleges play their arch rivals only once near the close of the season. A year ago the teams played home and home schedules.

18 Per Cent in Midwest

The survey showed the southern crowds to be 17 per cent larger than a year ago, those in the midwest up 18 per cent, and those in the southwest bolstered by 13 per cent.

A part of the 33 per cent increase attributed to the east can be explained by the Army-Michigan game which lured 70,000 to New York's Yankee stadium. Navy's 51,000 customers at last Saturday night's game with Georgia Tech in Baltimore also helped boost the attendance. Neither service team had played to a metropolitan crowd at this date a year ago.

What effect a winning team can have on the box office is demonstrated by both Columbia and Ohio State. Columbia drew 39,500 fans to its first four games in 1944, while the winning Lions of 1945 have been watched by 74,000 in the same number of contests.

233,961 See Ohio in Four Games

Ohio State, on its way to establishing a 12 game winning streak at this time a year ago, provided entertainment for 138,743 at three games. This year's Buckeye team has been watched by 233,961 in four games.

This season's increase virtually duplicates the 19 per cent upward trend the entire 1944 attendance showed over the full 1943 figures. The 1944 advance was the first since 1941.

The attendance by sections:

	Attendance at Home Games
	'45	Attend.	'44	Attend.	Change
Midwest	45	1,051,318	42	833,756	18 up
Far west	21	532,949	17	461,804	7 dn.
Southwest	18	184,566	12	108,500	13 up
East	53	844,554	56	669,802	33 up
South	42	545,073	38	422,255	17 up

End Practice for Iowa Duel at Notre Dame

Notre Dame, Ind., Oct. 25 [Special]—Warning his players that a Notre Dame football team never has defeated Iowa, Coach Hugh Devore sent the varsity squad thru a long defensive drill against an expected Hawkeye passing attack here today as the Irish wound up heavy work for Saturday's game in Notre Dame stadium.

Jack Fallon, right guard, was shifted to second string right tackle, behind Pete Berezney. Fallon, one of the best defensive players on the team, has been hampered with an ankle injury.

Jim McGurk, sophomore full back, was given a chance at the second string full back job and looked impressive on defense. Pep Panelli and Stan Krivik, full back reserves, missed the drill because of injuries but are expected to play Saturday.

36 IOWANS LEAVE TODAY

Iowa City, Ia., Oct. 25 [Special]—Coach Clem Crowe today named 36 players to make the trip to Notre Dame, leaving tomorrow afternoon. It is the first trip to South Bend since 1940, when Iowa scored an upset victory.

Two recent squad additions, Dan Sheehan, right end, and Bob Knowlton, right tackle, are expected to see action. However, John Drew, a reserve guard, suffered a shoulder separation yesterday and is out indefinitely. The traveling squad:

Discharged Soccer Stars to See Action Sunday

Two leading soccer players of Italian descent, Sgt. Archie Rigoni and Sgt. Nino Lacriola, have been discharged from service, and will be in the starting line-up Sunday when their team, John Rago and Sons, meets the Workers in a National league first division game at 2600 Grand av.

LEASE EXPIRES AT HAWTHORNE; WHAT'S NEXT?

Decision Is Not Expected for 60 Days

No decision on the future management of the Hawthorne race track in Stickney will be made for at least 60 days, Robert Carey, representing the estate of his father, Thomas Carey, which owns the property, said yesterday.

It was made known in THE TRIBUNE yesterday that the present operators, the Chicago Business Men's Racing association, of which Charles Krutckoff is president and Charles Bidwill chairman of the board, will lose control next Wednesday upon termination of a lease negotiated in 1931. Carey, an attorney, notified the association that the lease would not be renewed.

Will Continue to Operate

The eight heirs of Thomas Carey, prominent Chicago politician and millionaire brick manufacturer who died in 1925, have not decided upon a course but, according to Carey, Hawthorne will continue as a race track and several proposals for its management are being entertained.

Carey denied rumors, however, that Benjamin F. Lindheimer, executive director of both Arlington and Washington Parks, has shown interest in the property, or that Matt J. Winn and his associates who operate Lincoln Fields and Churchill Downs would take it over.

May Have New Plans

Krutckoff, Bidwill, and Al Sabath, secretary of the association, met yesterday afternoon to discuss the situation. Some circles assumed that the trio were making plans to form a new organization to bid for another lease, tho there was nothing definite to lend strength to the report.

SPORTSMAN'S TO OFFER NINE RACE CARD TOMORROW

BY MAURICE SHEVLIN

A ninth race has been added to tomorrow's program at Sportsman's Park, a card which has as its feature the $5,000 John A. Brown Memorial handicap for 2 year olds. The added event was made necessary by the nomination of 19 thorobreds for the $2,500 Cicero handicap, the secondary attraction, which now will be run in two divisions.

John L. Keeshin, president and general manager of the Cicero half mile plant, also announced yesterday that beginning next Monday post time for the first race will be 1:30 o'clock rather than 2 on week days and 1 o'clock instead of 1:30 on Saturdays for the remainder of the meeting which closes Nov. 17.

Nine Races Every Saturday

Nine races will be run each Saturday of the meeting, which includes one week sponsored by The Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., and another to be operated for a group of charity organizations.

A favorite and an outsider won the first two races yesterday to account for a $71.40 daily double return. Odd Pair, ridden by Billy Nichols, took the opener and paid $3.80. Then Carl Bond booted in Cant Catch at $21.80 in the second event.

Jacalitos Wins Feature

The Fort Wayne purse, the day's feature, saw Mrs. L. H. Thompson's Jacalitos the winner by a length and a quarter over Projoe with Fireworks third. Jacalitos, ridden by Job Jessop, stayed close to the pace set by Marie J. until near the stretch, where he assumed command and drew out to win. Go Devil, apparently best in the race, could not negotiate the turns, running wide at each one. Jacalitos was the favorite, returning $4.40.

The crowd of 8,629 wagered $729,065 on yesterday's eight races.

BOWLER LOSES RACING STABLE; COUNCIL GRIEVES

When John J. [Bathhouse John] Coughlin, once an alderman and power in 1st ward politics, died in November, 1938, Bowler purchased his string of thorobreds. Time took its toll until by last Monday, when Bowler entered him in a claiming race at Sportsman's Park, Private Howie was the entire stable. Private Howie also ran, but he looked so good in losing that he was claimed at the $1,500 claiming price.

At yesterday's meeting of the city council, Ald. J. S. Gillespie introduced a resolution of condolence to Ald. Bowler in his great loss.

TULSANS HEAD NORTH FOR TEST WITH HOOSIERS

Tulsa, Okla., Oct. 25 [Special]—Darkness halted the last home workout of the University of Tulsa football team today and the 36 man traveling squad, after a sendoff by 5,000 fans, embarked for Bloomington to face Indiana university Saturday in Tula's first venture against a Big Nine foe.

Coach Henry Frnka polished up the defense with instructions on how to play against Indiana's single wing back, then directed a scrimmage in which the Golden Hurricane ran thru its own formations.

J. R. Boone and Camp Wilson bore the brunt of the ball carrying, with Boone calling plays, passing to Bob Verkins and Gene Spangler, backs, and Bob Phillips and Dick Moseley, ends, and running behind a hard charging line sparked by 290 pound Chubby Grigg. Wilson, the 200 pound full back, battered the reserve defenders for many gains thru the middle.

HOOSIERS REVIEW PLAYS

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 25 [Special]—The Indiana third team, using Tulsa plays, has looked too good against the varsity, Coach Bo McMillin said today as he sent the Hoosiers thru a review drill on both offense and defense to be used in the football game against the Golden Hurricane here Saturday.

The Tulsa squad is due to arrive at 3 p. m. tomorrow and will hold a short practice in Memorial stadium and set up headquarters in the Graham hotel. Ticket requests indicate 500 Tulsa followers will come to Bloomington to see the game.

CARIS RETURNS TO MIDGET AUTO RACING SUNDAY

Bramham to O.K. Signing of Robinson

Durham, N. C., Oct. 25 (AP)—William C Bramham, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues [the minors], entered the Jackie Robinson contract controversy today.

He made it clear that the contract of the Negro baseball star would be treated like that of any other player when it reaches his office unless circumstances now unknown develop.

But, recognizing the Negro leagues as "well officered and financially successful," he demanded:

Branch Rickey Sr. of the Brooklyn Dodgers signed Robinson for the Dodgers' farm club in Montreal. Robinson has been playing shortstop for the Kansas City Monarchs.

"NO PROTEST," SAYS CHANDLER

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25 (AP)—Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler said today he has received no protest from the Negro American league over the controversial signing of Jackie Robinson by a Brooklyn farm team.

OWNERS TO LET JACKIE GO

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 25 (AP)—Co-owners J. L. Wilkinson and T. Y. Baird of the Kansas City Monarchs, Negro professional baseball club, said today they would in no way attempt to prevent Jackie Robinson, Monarch shortstop, from playing with the Brooklyn Dodgers' Montreal farm club.

At the same time Wilkinson expressed displeasure in the manner in which Branch Rickey signed Robinson. The co-owners said they were positive Robinson not only can make the grade in the International league but will be outstanding in the circuit.

The statement of Wilkinson and Baird followed a recent declaration by Baird that Branch Rickey's move in signing Robinson will be appealed to Baseball Commissioner Chandler.

Monarch Pin Team Retains Classic Lead

TILDEN BATTLE WITH LINDBLOM EXCITES PREPS

BY DAVID CONDON

There's going to be an impromptu prep football rally in Shewbridge field tomorrow night, starting after the final gun has been fired and the scoreboard tells the Tilden Tech boosters and the supporters of Lindblom High that either the Blue Devils or the Eagles have clinched the City league central section title.

The contest, starting at 7 o'clock, is the big meeting in the section and brings together two traditional rivals who battled to a tie last year. Today, Tilden enthusiasts will rally and seek to inspire the Blue Devils to another triumph along the way in their quest of a fourth Kelly bowl appearance in five years.

Meanwhile, at Lindblom, similar rallies will be conducted to cheer the Eagles on toward the league playoffs and a possible meeting with the Catholic league champions in Soldier's field Dec. 1.

Both Undefeated to Date

Tilden has won five straight league games, scoring 153 points to its opponents' 31. Lindblom has scored 62 points to 6 for the opposition in gaining four triumphs without defeat. Tilden finishes its regular season tomorrow: Lindblom has one more contest to play.

Lindblom's remaining game notwithstanding, the victor in tomorrow's meeting will take the section crown. If Tilden wins, it will close undefeated. Should Lindblom triumph, it could lose its final game and be tied with Tilden in the standings, but still would be awarded the title by having won over the tying team during regular season play. Should the contest tomorrow end in a tie and Lindblom win its last game, the elevens would face a playoff.

Gay, Swistowicz Tilden Leaders.

Tilden's hopes for victory will rest on a strong squad, a particularly powerful line, and two veteran backs, Bill Gay and Mike Swistowicz, who paced the Blue Devils to the 1944 league and Kelly bowl championships they share with Austin. Gay is the leading scorer in the section, compiling 61 points. Swistowicz has scored 44 and is second.

Ray Rizzo of Lindblom is third among the scorers in the section, having averaged a touchdown a game, in four contests. The Eagles are an eleven which has developed slowly and is expected to be in top shape.

In earlier games, Tilden has defeated Phillips, 19 to 0; Gage Park, 19 to 6; Kelly, 46 to 7; Du Sable, 44 to 6, and Englewood, 35 to 12. Lindblom's victories have been over Kelly, 18 to 0; Du Sable, 12 to 0; Englewood, 6 to 0, and Farragut, 26 to 6.

NET STAR RACES TO SHIP; WEDS SAILING SOLDIER

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 25 (AP)—Mary F. Arnold, one of the nation's ranking tennis players, raced to Seattle today to marry her fiance as he was preparing to board a ship for Nagasaki.

Miss Arnold and her mother reached Pvt. Raymond A. Prentiss just as his name was being read off by the checker at the gangplank. Once aboard, the army said, it was unlikely that Prentiss would have been allowed to return ashore.

Zavala-Shans Bout On WXYZ Tonight

Anything can happen . . . and probably will . . . when Humberto Zavala, Mexico's leading lightweight (above), meets California's capable Cleo Shans in New York tonight for ten rounds of rapid-fire fisticuffs.

Along Broadway they call Zavala the red-hot tamale for he's full of pepper. Tonight, however, he's up against a tough customer. Aggressive Cleo Shans has won nine out of his last ten matches and is raring to make it ten out of eleven.

NORM NELSON'S 708 LEADS CITY ALL-STAR TRIALS

Southpaw Bowler Rolls 255, 196, and 257

BY CHARLES BARTLETT

Norman Nelson, the southpaw bowler who used to rassle a few tons of ice a day, then drop his tongs and pitch a 16 pound ball for as many as 20 practice games, has moved into the lead in the city-wide trials leading to the fifth annual All-Star match game tournament to be conducted by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc. and the Bowling Proprietors' Association of America in the Auditorium service men's center from Dec. 1 thru 9.

Norm now is head man in the total pin examinations at Garden recreation, 4074 Milwaukee av., one of the nine Chicago tenpin centers where qualifying rounds are being transacted. Nelson began with a 255 game over the alleys operated by Lyman Bolger and Michael Hechinger, slipped to a 196, then fired a 257 on his final try for a 708 aggregate.

Gardine Now Second

Norm's nearest city pursuer is Tony Gardine, who has knocked down 701 pins in his qualifying try at Bowling Lanes. His closest rival at Garden recreation is Lou Labant, who tacked up a 626 last Saturday.

The total pin bowling is open to any Chicagoan carrying an average of 190 or better. In addition to Garden recreation and Bowling Lanes, the local qualifying stages for the world series in the Auditorium in December are Rose Bowl, Pla-Mor, Cascade, Pilsen, Gateway, Park Manor, and Howard Bowl.

Leaders at Other Centers

CASCADE BOWLING CENTER, 3825 W. Madison st. [Lloyd Wevang]—Joe Kilbourn, 591; John Slater, 567; George Calder, 561; Jules Sowa, 551; Joe McGuire, 543; Paul Zima, 541; Joe Velgis, 538, and Mike Fronto, 521.

HOWARD BOWL, 1777 W. Howard st. [Marks Bros. and Rosenfield]—Adam Oczkowski, 628 [204-192-232]; Dr. E. J. Hattstrom, 608; James Dolan, 601; M. F. Hoffman, 589; N. E. Bibow, 585; Larry O'Reilly, 583; Seymour Solomon, 572, and H. W. Muller, 568.

PLA-MOR BOWLING LANES, 1935 E. 79th st. [Eddie Costello, Jerry Skovia, and Art Swanson]—Albert Repzynski, 670 [222-211-237]; John Deering, 661; Dr. J. C. Hetzel, 651; Al Piermatti, 642; George Morrison, 628; Laddie Kulik, 616; G. J. Borg, 597, and L. J. Martino, 586.

ROSE BOWL, 11517 S. Michigan av. [Paul Young]—Ed Brosius, 671 [253-205-213]; Tony Unhock, 667; Harold Swanson, 665; Frank Mansfield, William Arliskas, 646; Tom Bublick, 642; Carmen Scardine, 642, and William Smith, 639.

BOWLING LANES, 5221 Broadway [Ralph Olsen and Jack Samuelson]—Tony Gardine, 701.

GATEWAY, 6432 W. North av. [Joe Gratz]—A. D. Ellensohn, 612.

PILSEN, 1509 W. 18th st. [Jack Whitehead Jr. and Arnold Podzimek]—Carl Winterberg, 684.

The total pin trials will end at 11:55 p. m. next Wednesday. That will be the last opportunity for bowlers to gain the top eight at each of the nine places. These nine octets will gather in each of the nine establishments on Nov. 3 and 4 for a special round robin of match play, with each bowler meeting his seven rivals in as many four-game blocks.

RACE ENTRIES CLOSE SOON

Entries in the Berwyn-Cicero intercity road race for amateur distance runners which will be held Nov. 4 will close on Monday and should be mailed to 5304 25th st., Cicero.

SOUTH CAROLINA, CLEMSON PLAY 0-0 TIE IN RAIN

Columbia, S. C., Oct. 25 (AP)—South Carolina today fought a favored Clemson college to a scoreless tie in the 43d game of their football series. A drizzling rain fell most of the game and drenched a capacity crowd of 23,500.

Clemson drove within the Carolina 20 yard line time and again, only to be balked by a stiffened line, fumbles or pass interceptions.

DUCKS PREFER COOL NORTH TO ILLINOIS GUNS

BY BOB BECKER

Up to last night no flight of big ducks had moved into the Illinois river valley, so the overall picture for hunting this week-end isn't anything to cheer about, according to the latest census made by the Illinois Natural History survey.

Frank Bellrose, game technician of the survey, reports that the duck population of the valley has increased only about 10,000 over last week-end to make a total of approximately 85,000 waterfowl in the whole valley. And more than 30,000 of this number are diving ducks which stay on the big lakes.

Clear Lake Well Populated

The Clear lake and Chautauqua district again is the hot spot for the puddler ducks. There are 18,000 pintails and mallards in that area, which means that hunters there ought to have some fun this week-end.

In commenting on the waterfowl situation along the Illinois, Bellrose said yesterday that it will take a good flight of northern birds to perk up the duck hunting and everybody is looking and hoping for one because up to now the shooting has been slow except in a few marshes.

Need More Ducks

The game technician added that of the 30,000 bluebills, blackjacks, and canvasbacks on the river about 9,000 are on Senachwine lake. In this flock are several hundred canvasbacks. The Crane lake section has some 3,000 ducks.

Some of the owners of shooting marshes have been telling hunters to cancel their reservations until more ducks come down from the north because there aren't enough on hand to give hunters good shooting.

North Central Eleven to Seek 3d Victory

North Central college's Cardinals will seek their third football victory of the season tomorrow when they oppose Illinois Wesleyan in Naperville. Half Back Ken Kouri, formerly of Great Lakes, is expected to lead the Cardinal attack.

VAN DYCK 43's

When the new Van Dyck 43's were introduced about two years ago, they sold at 2 for 15¢. Today, they are being re-introduced at 9¢ each.

This slight increase was necessitated by rising costs of fine workmanship and choice tobaccos. This new price is absolutely necessary to the maintenance of the high standards of quality, value and workmanship which have characterized Van Dyck over the years.

Van Dyck 43's are slightly larger and longer than the famous Van Dyck 32's. They contain the same modern-taste blend that satisfies "smoke-hunger."

ALDERMEN FIGHT PLAN FOR CHA TO SPEND MILLIONS

Kelly Defers Showdown on Slum Bond Issue

Aldermen opposing Mayor Kelly's plan to give the Chicago housing authority control of the 5 million dollar slum clearance bonds approved by the voters last June put up such an argument at the city council meeting yesterday that Kelly postponed a showdown for two weeks. On the one roll call taken the mayor's plan won by a vote of 26 to 13, but the margin was the least favorable of his mayoral career.

The discussion was on an ordinance to give the CHA use of the city's bonds—and presumably of $4,300,000 in state funds—to buy and clear two slum areas on the south side and one on the near west side. The measure came up with the 8 to 5 recommendation of the housing committee, of which Ald. Lindell [9th] is chairman.

Housing Subsidies Issue

After two hours' argument, in which the issue of government low rent housing versus building with private capital was clearly drawn, the ordinance was ordered deferred and published. It will be before the council again Nov. 8.

The assault against the CHA program, with its implication that tax exempt government projects would occupy the cleared sites, was led by Ald. Wagner [14th], a housing committee member.

"Let's question the statement that public housing is the only way to clear slums," the alderman said. "The housing commission reports that 23 per cent of families in Chicago have incomes less than $1,000 a year and that public housing is indicated. Imagine the tax exempt land it would take to house them."

Slum Clearance Not Factor

Wagner said that six of 10 public housing projects erected in Chicago were placed on vacant land and that slum clearance was not a factor.

"I admit that private enterprise is seeking a profit," Wagner went on, "but public housing makes a profit, too. The Jane Addams houses had an income of $341,000 in 1943 and expenses of $282,000. Apartment rents in some projects are as high as $71 a month."

Twice Mayor Kelly said that the city bonds were planned for use of CHA. "I had much to do with the passage of all this legislation," he said at one time. "It never was intended that the money was to be used except as planned now."

Use of All Funds Feared

Ald. Wagner said he understood it was to be a revolving fund and "I took my cue from literature put out at the time." Ald. Merryman [45th] and Ald. Keenan [49th] also said they believed the bonds were intended to promote private building of cleared districts.

Ald. Sheridan [16th] said, "I am fearful that these three projects will eat up all the available slum clearance funds."

Besides the remarks of Mayor Kelly and Ald. Lindell, the only support for the ordinance was given by Ald. Kells [28th], an administration stalwart.

Ald. Merryman made the motion to defer and publish the CHA ordinance and it was adopted with a voice vote.

CRASH PROVIDES FREE WHISKY; 2 DRIVERS HURT

Two men were injured yesterday in a crash between a truck and an auto which netted numerous motorists free bottles of whisky. Those hurt were Floria Lobuhn, 32, of 7608 Odell av., driver of the car, and Henry Passinger, 35, of Indianapolis, the truck driver.

The truck, loaded with 900 cases of whisky, struck Lobuhn's car at the intersection of routes 66 and 45, in Lyons township, between Brookfield and Lyons when, Passinger said, Lobuhn turned in front of him.

The truck swerved and overturned. Forty-five cases of liquor crashed to the pavement. Many bottles were smashed, but a number of undamaged bottles were picked up by passers-by before police arrived. Lobuhn suffered a possible spine fracture and was taken to MacNeal Memorial hospital, Berwyn. Passinger was bruised.

R. K. GERBRACHT MEMORIAL RITES SET FOR SUNDAY

WINS REPRIEVE SHORTLY BEFORE EXECUTION HOUR

About an hour before he was to be strapped in the electric chair in the Indiana state prison at Michigan City, Cleveland Greathouse, 63, Negro, of Gary, a self-styled minister, was granted a 30 day reprieve last night by Gov. Gates. Greathouse was convicted of stabbing to death Rebecca Coaklin, 38, with whom he lived as husband and wife. Gov. Gates told the prison warden he would write to explain the reprieve. Earlier Gov. Gates had rejected a plea of a group of Gary ministers that he commute Greathouse's sentence to life imprisonment.

C. W. FERGUSON'S HEIRS TO CLASH OVER 2 MILLIONS

A hearing on a petition to have Mrs. Lucinda Ferguson Chetlain, 1542 Juneway ter., widow of Charles W. Ferguson, declared incompetent was set for Nov. 19 by Probate Judge John F. O'Connell yesterday. Ferguson, who was a Rogers Park real estate operator, died in 1930 and left an estate estimated at 2 million dollars. Mrs. Chetlain is administratrix of the estate and, if she should be declared incompetent, management of the fortune would be transferred to other hands.

The action was filed by Mrs. Virginia Ferguson Meier, of 1536 Edgewood av., Chicago Heights, widow of Robert Ferguson, a son of Charles who was killed in an automobile accident in 1937. She is the guardian of the estate of her son, Robert Jr., an heir to a part of the Ferguson estate, in whose behalf the petition was filed.

Opposing the petition are Mrs. Ferguson's present husband, Col. Frederick H. Chetlain, of the army; Ferguson's son, Stephen, and a daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Ferguson Jardine Schmidt.

Mrs. Meier's petition named Mrs. Chetlain as defendant and stated that she is confined in a Kenilworth sanitarium. It asked that the Northern Trust company be named conservator.

PROBE DEATH OF MOTHER IN BEDROOM FIRE

The death of Mrs. Ilse Pogel, 32, wife of a service man in Germany, was investigated by police yesterday after a coroner's jury returned an undetermined verdict in the case. Mrs. Pogel died early in Illinois Central hospital yesterday after flames swept the bedroom of her apartment at 5239 Kenwood av.

The blaze was first reported when Mrs. Pogel, severely burned and carrying her daughter, Nancy, 5, knocked on the door of the apartment of Mrs. Esther Mollner, 5245 Kenwood av., about 1 a. m. The girl was not burned.

Altho the report of Fire Chief Eugene Freemon of the 16th battalion attributed the blaze to defective wiring, police said they would investigate statements by Mrs. Pogel and her daughter that Mrs. Pogel had struck a match shortly before the fire. Relatives said Mrs. Pogel had suffered a nervous breakdown and had returned to her residence from a Des Plaines rest home only four weeks ago.

POLICEMAN DIES AS MOTORCYCLE RUNS INTO AUTO

Motorcycle Policeman Roy W. Costello, 44, of 857 W. 52d st., was killed yesterday when his cycle crashed into the rear of an automobile at Archer and Ashland avs. The driver, Edward Oehler of 820 S. Wolcott av., a real estate dealer, said he had stopped for a traffic light. Costello had been a member of the police force since 1924 and had been attached to the motorcycle division since 1932. He had been awarded several creditable mentions for police work. He is survived by his widow, Pearl, three sons, and a daughter.

REPORT DR. TICE HAS OFFERED TO RESIGN TB POST

BY ORVILLE DWYER

Reports were current last night that Dr. Frederick Tice, 74, had offered to resign as head of the Municipal Tuberculosis sanitarium, a post he has held since 1931, when he was appointed by the late Mayor Cermak.

The offer was said to have been carried to Mayor Kelly by Harry J. Reynolds, business manager of the institution. Reynolds is vice president and lay member of the three man board of directors of the MTS. Dr. Tice is president and Dr. Richard Davison, a $5,000 a year surgeon at the institution, is the third member.

Dr. Tice "Under Discussion"

It was learned definitely that advisers of the mayor have told Tice that he should resign. Both Mayor Kelly and Reynolds admitted that Dr. Tice's name came up in a conversation between them, but neither would say they had talked of Tice submitting his resignation.

Reynolds said, "I don't know anything about it; I have no statement to make." Mayor Kelly added: "No offer by Tice to resign has come to me either directly or indirectly. Reynolds and I did discuss him; his name came up as we talked about conditions at the sanitarium. Reynolds, I recall, told me that Tice was very nervous and upset about the charges by patients and others at the institution."

Sanitarium Food Denounced

The mayor referred to recent accusations by patients, nurses, attendants, and guards that the sanitarium food had not been fit to eat.

Tice would not answer telephone calls as to his reported resignation. His office said, "He's examining a patient and can't be disturbed." Requests for confirmation or denial elicited the answer, "He'll call you back."

The physician began his medical career as an intern in County hospital in 1895. He later became president of the County hospital staff.

FORD EXPECTS TO HIKE OUTPUT TO 2,000 DAILY

Models for Display Sent Dealers

Tire Allotment

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25 (AP)—The number of passenger car tires allocated for rationing in November is the same as for this month—2,500,000. OPA said the "passenger tire shortage continues most acute with demand far exceeding available supply."

BY ANTHONY WIRRY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 25—The Ford Motor company is turning out 460 new passenger cars a day and expects to increase the rate to about 2,000 a day by the end of the year if labor difficulties are avoided and parts and materials are available.

Altho current output is 50 to 100 cars a day below the number the original reconversion production charts called for, the company hopes to accelerate assemblies sufficiently to meet the month's quota of 10,000 cars. In November the goal is 25,000 cars, and in December, 40,000. On the basis of 20 working days a month this would mean 2,000 cars a day compared with 4,300 in late 1939.

Need Favorable Conditions

To accomplish the December objective and the long range goal of 8,000 cars a day in early 1947, the company must have relatively favorable conditions, unlike those encountered in recent weeks, company spokesmen said. All Ford operations were shut down late in September and the first half of October because strikes in suppliers' plants cut the flow of parts.

The outlook also depends on the disposition of the CIO United Auto Workers' demand for a 30 per cent pay increase. A strike vote is scheduled at Ford plants Nov. 7, but this does not necessarily mean an immediate walkout. Another uncertain factor is the availability of textiles, tin, and chrome.

Turns Out 5,300 Cars

Despite these obstacles and the fact that government war time machinery occupies valuable factory space, Ford has turned out approximately 5,300 cars since production started in July. These have been apportioned to dealers so that each will have at least one new car on display tomorrow, the planned first public showing of the post-war models. J. R. Davis, director of sales and advertising, said the outlook for additional shipments to dealers was favorable.

[Each Ford dealer in Chicago will have a new car on display today, designated V-8 day by the company. No sales can be made, however, until price ceilings are set.]

The cars will be pro-rated on the basis of each dealer's 1941 sales, at 1942 wholesale prices, subject to adjustment when office of price administration ceilings are announced.

Prices Not Determined

"I had hoped the prices of the new cars could be announced at the time of the public showing, but it does not appear as tho a price will be received from OPA by that time," Davis said. "Consequently dealer deliveries to the public apparently will be delayed."

[Prices proposed by Ford were reported yesterday to have been rejected by the OPA.]

In answer to the question when the nonpriority buyer could purchase a car, company spokesmen quote their president, Henry Ford II. He recently said it may be a year or more before the "average buyer" could get a new car. Essential users are expected to get first call on the post-war automobiles.

IMPROVEMENTS

Multileaf springs for smoother ride.

Lincoln type hand brake lever.

Newly designed radiator grill.

The FAIR

CHICAGO, ILLINOIS

The Board of Directors of the Company adopted a resolution calling for the redemption on November 1, 1945, of the remaining outstanding 7% preferred shares. The redemption price is $143.25 per share. The shares may be delivered for redemption to the Continental Illinois National Bank & Trust Company, Chicago, Illinois, at any time after October 1, 1945.

Hudson Faces Biggest Task in Distribution

The biggest job faced by Hudson Motor Car company is increasing its distribution facilities, said George H. Pratt, general sales manager, yesterday. He addressed dealers from three states who attended the first Chicago showing of 1946 model Hudson automobiles in the Palmer House.

The company plans to have 130 distributors and more than 2,500 dealers to handle the new cars as soon as they are generally available, he said.

Hudson has one of the best integrated plants in the industry and is in a position to avoid production bottlenecks, he explained. It manufactures about 67 per cent in dollar value of the entire automobile.

Can Make Own Bodies

"Among other things, we are in a position to manufacture our own bodies at a time when it appears that the procurement of bodies will represent the bottleneck for some companies," he asserted. "At best the accomplishment of automobile building schedules for some companies will have to depend upon their success in competing with other companies for the product of independent body manufacturers."

Besides bodies the company is capable of making motors, transmissions, clutches, front and rear axles, controls, fenders, hoods and other sheet metal parts, painting, and trimming. Full productive capacity of its plants will be utilized, Pratt said.

First Cars for Display

Current production of about 120 cars a day is going to dealers and distributors for display. Showings will be held thru November until all areas are reached. Pratt said the company does not know how soon deliveries to the public will be possible, nor what the retail price will be until fixed by the office of price administration. Retail orders are being accepted, however.

Two lines of cars, the Hudson Commodore and Super series, were shown. The company has started production of six cylinder models first, with eight cylinder models to follow. Four door sedans are scheduled for first delivery to dealers, with broughams and club coupes later, followed by three passenger coupes and convertibles.

SFA CHANNELS COAL TO UPPER LAKES REGIONS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25 (AP)—Coal producers in southern Appalachian mining district No. 8 have been ordered to cease shipments to lower Great Lakes points and make every possible ton available to the upper lakes docks.

Solid Fuels Administrator Ickes today said the upper lakes docks are 5 million tons short of their quota of district 8 coals. Even the emergency action will leave them about 800,000 tons short by the close of lake navigation Nov. 15.

BETHLEHEM'S LOSS IS PROFIT ON TAX CREDIT

Third Quarter Net Tops Year Ago

Bethlehem Steel corporation yesterday reported net income of $7,761,667 for the quarter ended Sept. 30, or $2.05 a common share, against $6,621,944, or $1.67 a share, a year earlier.

The company had an unusual provision for depletion and depreciation and for amortization of war time emergency facilities of $49,894,478, against $13,013,205 for the third quarter in 1944. Interest and other charges also increased to $7,138,855 [for refinancing and redeeming certain bonds] against $1,804,040 a year earlier.

Tax Credit Cancels Deficit

After deducting these items and before provision for income taxes, the company had a deficit of $27,218,333. But it also had a tax credit of $34,980,000 growing out of the amortization, so the ultimate net income was $7,761,667.

Net income for the nine months ended Sept. 30 was $23,499,258, or $6.23 a share, compared with $19,788,325 for the corresponding 1944 period, equal to $4.99 a share.

Directors declared the usual dividend of $1.75 a share on the preferred and $1.50 on the common.

Eugene G. Grace, president, said the Steel Workers union would have an answer to its demand for a $2 a day wage increase after a meeting in Philadelphia next Monday, adding: "We can't pay $2 a day more and keep our prices as they are."

Number of Employes Falls

Grace said the average number of employes had decreased from 251,000 in the third quarter of 1944 to the curernt force of 177,000. He said orders on hand amounted to 546 million dollars, against 995 millions a year ago. The total was lowest June, 1940.

Net income of Shell Union Oil corporation and subsidiaries in the quarter ended Sept. 30 was $8,628,960, or 64 cents a share, compared with $8,030,693, or 60 cents a share, a year earlier. The 1944 figure was after provision of 1½ million dollars for contingencies and federal taxes of $9,163,000. This year's third quarter taxes were $2,083,000 and no contingency provision was made.

Corn Products Refining company reported profit of $6,099,088 in the nine months ended Sept. 30, compared with $5,418,199 in the nine months of 1944. Per share earnings increased to $1.90 from $1.63.

CREDIT CONTROL MUST CONTINUE, SAYS SZYMCZAK

Regulation W—the consumer credit control—must continue in force to combat inflationary tendencies until enough consumer goods reach the market to meet demands, M. S. Szymczak, member of the federal reserve system's board of governors, said yesterday. He addressed the annual meeting of the Illinois Association of Small Loan Companies in the Edgewater Beach hotel.

He predicted the volume of consumer credit will increase with production and "will be vast" in a few years. He expressed hope that its expansion "will be orderly, will not lead to excessive demands for goods, and will not be followed by severe liquidation."

RAILS REPORTED CONSIDERING BID TO BUY PULLMAN

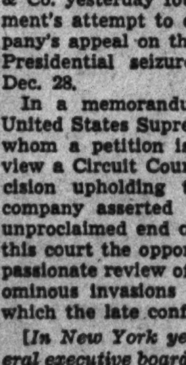
New York, Oct. 25 [Special]—Officials of several railroads have been holding meetings here to consider bidding for the purchase of Pullman company, sleeping car subsidiary of Pullman, Inc., it was learned today. The parent company has been ordered by federal District court in Philadelphia to divest itself of its sleeping car business.

Should an offer be made by the railroads it would probably be made before Nov. 5, the date the court will hold a hearing on the offers already made, it was said. Some sources asserted that should the railroads enter a bid, they would have a good chance of getting it approved.

PEOPLE AND EVENTS

The release from the army of Lt. Col. Harvey Humphrey, public relations officer of the air technical service command's central district, was announced yesterday by Col. Robert L. Finkenstaedt, commanding officer. Col. Humphrey, a past vice president of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce, was director of public relations and personnel for the Title Guarantee and Trust company of Los Angeles before entering the army in May, 1942, and will return to a similar position with the Title Insurance and Trust company in Los Angeles. Capt. Robert M. Rennelsen will succeed him in the ATSC.

Leith V. Watkins, secretary and controler of Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line company, was elected vice chairman of the accounting section of the American Gas association at its annual meeting in New York.



Leith V. Watkins

Appointment of Robert A. Conger as operating manager, Glenn H. Pontious as assistant controler, and William F. Brownell as tax counselor of Encyclopaedia Britannica was announced by E. H. Powell, president.

Appointment of Myron R. Wilson as premium sales manager of Ekco Products company, Chicago, was announced by Frederick Keller, vice president in charge of housewares sales.

John D. Small, administrator of the civilian production administration, will discuss CPA policies and procedures for speeding reconversion at a reconversion problems school of the Chicago Association of Commerce Thursday in the Stevens hotel.

Clarence A. Beutel, president of South East National bank, was elected president of the Chicago district of the Illinois Bankers association at its annual meeting in the Stevens hotel. Norman B. Collins, president of National Security bank, was elected vice president, and Frank C. Rathje, president of Chicago City Bank and Trust company, treasurer.

Clarence A. Beutel

Edward G. Goodchild, secretary of Cole Hot Blast Manufacturing company, was honored at a banquet on completion of 50 years with the company. He began with Cole as a messenger boy.

Robert Groves was appointed executive assistant manager of the Stevens hotel after serving three and a half years in the army as a major.

Government regulation of labor relations will be discussed by Sen. Ball [R., Minn.] at a meeting of the Midwest Conference of Industrial Relations today in Mandel hall at the University of Chicago.

Ward Fights Dismissal of Seizure Suit

Attorneys for Montgomery Ward & Co. yesterday fought the government's attempt to dismiss the company's appeal on the legality of the Presidential seizure order of last Dec. 28.

In a memorandum, sent to the United States Supreme court before whom a petition is pending to review a Circuit Court of Appeals decision upholding the seizure, the company asserted "the actual tho unproclaimed end of the war offers this court the opportunity for a dispassionate review of one of the most ominous invasions of civil liberties which the late conflict encouraged."

[In New York yesterday the general executive board of the CIO United Retail, Wholesale, and Department Store Employes of America voted unanimously to call a country-wide strike "at the most opportune time" against Ward's.]

Charge Decision Is Avoided

The company charged, in effect, that the government again is attempting to avoid a judicial determination of not only the statutory issues but the far more important issue of constitutional power of the President to seize property in the absence of a grant of authority from congress.

The memorandum said the government avoided a decision resulting from the first seizure of Ward's properties by returning possession of the seized properties on May 9, 1944, the day before the decision of the District court was to be announced. In the second litigation, it asserted, the government has twice sought and obtained extensions of time for response to Ward's petition for review on the express ground that the return of the properties was imminent.

Two Claims Questioned

One major problem involved, the company asserted, is the war department's claim for reimbursement of $480,000 paid out in the operation of Ward's over and above what it received from its operation. Ward's has refused to pay this money on grounds the seizure was unconstitutional and void. Another is the government's claim for approximately $450,000 "in connection with army and war department personnel and other expenses" incurred in carrying out the executive order." Ward's contends if the seizure is invalid any such claim is worthless.

Field's Enlarges Evanston Merchandising Facilities

Marshall Field & Co. yesterday announced the first floor space of the building west of its Evanston store, formerly occupied by a tire agency, will be used by its home furnishings department. Frozen foods will be sold and refrigerators, washing machines, radios, etc. will be displayed.

FEWER MODELS, BIG OUTPUT, LOWER COST SET AS GOALS BY G. E.

Schenectady, N. Y., Oct. 25 (AP)—A program of standardization and full production designed to lower the cost of its products and promote full employment was projected today by the General Electric company. In a statement accompanying dividend checks, the company said its goal was "more goods for more people at less cost."

G. E. reiterated that it expected to double its pre-war business and provide employment for nearly twice as many persons.

As examples of its standardization program, the company said that instead of 60 models of fans as produced before the war it would build 21; five types of irons instead of 19, and one kind of mixer instead of three. Twelve models of G. E. radios will be on the market by Christmas, and television equipment will be available early in 1946, the report said.

G. E. announced OPA approved prices for three ranges in production were $116.95, $177.75, and $259.75, the same as in 1942. Two 7 cubic foot refrigerators were priced at $151.50 and $188.25 and a 6 foot model not yet in production at $133.75.

AMENDED TAX MEASURE FAILS TO PASS HOUSE

Committee to Iron Out Differences

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25 (AP)—The house today declined to concur in senate amendments to the first peace time tax cutting bill, which would ease war time burdens by about 5½ billion dollars. The measure then went to a joint senate-house committee to iron out differences.

The erasure of 12 million low income persons from the income tax rolls in 1946 is assured, as this is not in dispute between the two houses.

Chief Issues Over Bill

As the committee of senators and representatives took over the bill, the principal battles pivoted on:

1. House insistence that congress write only a partial repeal of the excess profits taxes on corporations.

2. House belief that a definite date should be provided for the end of high war time excise levies on items including liquor, luggage, jewelry, furs, and cosmetics.

As passed by the house, the tax bill reduces 1946 taxes by 5 billion 350 million dollars. The senate increased the cut to 5 billion 788 million dollars. The bill brought from the conference probably will be between these two figures.

Names House Conferees

Speaker Rayburn [D., Tex.] appointed as house conferees Chairman Doughton [D., N. C.] of the ways and means committee, and these other ways and means members: Cooper [D., Tenn.], Dingell [R., Mich.], Robertson [D., Va.], Knutson [R., Minn.], Reed [R., N. Y.], and Woodruff [R., Mich.].

Senate members of the committee are Chairman George [D., Ga.] of the finance committee, Walsh [D., Mass.], Barkley [D., Ky.], La Follette [Prog., Wis.], and Taft [R., O.].

House and senate versions vary in so many particulars that the conference committee is expected virtually to rewrite the measure.

Speed is essential. Internal revenue officials would like to know the final form of the bill by Nov. 1 so they can send witholding tables and tax blanks to offices thruout the country.

MARKET HOLIDAY

Major securities exchanges and many commodity markets will be closed tomorrow in observance of Navy day. The Chicago Board of Trade, the Chicago Mercantile exchange and live stock markets will be open.

Truman Told Job Bill Faces Fight in House

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25 (AP)—President Truman renewed his support for the "full employment" bill today after he was told by two influential congressmen that the measure would be difficult to pass.

Mr. Truman received his report from Chairman Manasco [D., Ala.] and Rep. Whittington [D., Miss.] of the house expenditures committee. He had called them in to talk over the bill, which has been bogged down since the senate passed it in amended form a month ago.

Seeks Quick Action

Later, at a news conference, Mr. Truman told reporters he is eager to have the measure brought out of committee and passed as soon as possible.

He said the congressmen hadn't told him it would be impossible to pass the bill without amendments, but they did say it would be difficult. Manasco and Whittington told newsmen that they had advised the President they will try to speed some type of legislation to help provide jobs for all.

Questioned by a reporter, neither Whittington nor Manasco would say specifically that a compromise bill is in the making. The prospect of such a move appeared likely, however, on the basis of their comments.

Needs Lot of Amending

"Mr. Truman was very anxious to get the bill approved," said Manasco. "But I told him I could not support legislation giving assurance of a job for every one at federal expense. It told him the pending measure would require a lot of amending."

"I hope we will be able to approve some type of a constructive employment bill, but it will not be the one pending before the committee," Whittington said. "We cannot base an employment program on the deficit spending theory."

WESTINGHOUSE SETS 1946 GOAL OF 369 MILLIONS

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 25 (AP)—One of America's largest industrial companies, Westinghouse Electric corporation, hopes to do 369 million dollars of business next year if it can hurdle current labor and material problems.

A study of its reconversion problems today showed two identical figures in its post-war equation. It plans to spend 63 millions on reconversion and expansion and its unionized employes are demanding a similar amount in back wage claims in addition to $2 a day pay increase.

The figures were given by Gwilym A. Price, executive vice president, to newspaper correspondents making a country-wide tour inspecting peace time industrial progress. Westinghouse has not yet replied to the union wage demands.

BAR ILL. POWER STOCK VOTE BY HOLDING FIRMS

SEC Halts Move to Put 3 on Board

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 25 [Special]—An alleged attempt by the North American company and two subsidiaries—Illinois Traction company and North American Light and Power company—to stack the cards against Illinois Power company, which has filed claims totaling 44 million dollars against them, was blocked today by the securities and exchange commission.

In a precedent setting ruling, the five commissioners unanimously barred the three companies from voting any of their 26 per cent of the voting securities of Illinois Power in the latter's elections of directors until further notice.

Two Linked to Competitor

The decision upheld charges made by Illinois Power and turned aside the contention of James F. Masterdon, attorney for North American and for Light and Power, that the SEC lacked power to enjoin the latter from voting its stock for the three nominees proposed by his clients. The nominees are Nicholas Zech, a utility consultant; Robert Gordon, a director of Ashland Oil and Refining company, and Robert Golding, a Chicago attorney and a director of Middle West corporation.

Thru cumulative voting, Illinois Power averred, the companies intended to elect the three nominees. It said Zech and Golding have affiliations with Middle West, parent of Central Illinois Public Service company, which operates electric and gas utility properties contiguous to those of Illinois Power.

Illinois Power further supported its stand by declaring that its claims against the holding companies would be jeopardized if their representatives were on its board.

Doubts Self Isolation Possible

"We do not see how the directors and management of Illinois Power can engage in a frank discussion of its plans for prosecuting claims and developing evidence, or for trading out a compromise if one becomes possible, in the presence of directors chosen by Light and Power and North American," the SEC opinion said.

"Nor do we believe that directors so chosen can isolate themselves from knowledge of what goes on within the Illinois Power board and management, or fail to be a source of embarrassment and suspicion to the Illinois Power representatives, or that they can act with complete loyalty to both Illinois Power and the North American interests."

This announcement is not an offer to sell or a solicitation of an offer to buy these securities. The offering is made only by the Prospectus.

What is the best Profit Sharing or Pension Plan?

The best employees' pension or profit sharing plan for one corporation may not be the best for another. Your plan should be tailored to fit your needs. The laws and regulations affecting pensions and profit sharing are complex and it is good judgment to secure all the information possible before setting up or revising your program.

We have had over twenty-five years' experience assisting in the formation and administration of employees' retirement plans of various types for our own and many other corporations. Without obligation, our Trust officers will be glad to discuss this important and timely subject with you and your lawyer, or other consultants.

A copy of the booklet, "Simplifying Employee Benefit Plans," is yours for the asking.

WIEBOLDT'S NEW PREFERRED GOES ON SALE TODAY

Other Offerings Include Textron Issue

Among several millions of dollars of securities offerings to be made today are 35,000 shares of Wieboldt Stores $4.25 cumulative preferred stock at $103 a share by A. G. Becker & Co. and associates. Offering of 33,639 of the shares is subject to prior exchange rights of shareholders.

The present $5 prior preferred is exchangeable for the new on a share for share basis and the 5 per cent preferred at the rate of one share for 51/100 share of the new.

Public offering of 200,000 shares of Textron, Inc., 5 per cent convertible preferred stock will be made at $25 a share by Blair & Co. and associates. A 70,000 share issue of Gar Wood Industries 4½ per cent cumulative convertible preferred $50 par stock will be offered at $53 a share and dividends by a Lehman Brothers group.

Railroad Bonds to Be Offered

Other offerings today will include 4 million dollars of Lehigh and New England railroad first mortgage 3 per cent bonds at 100 per cent and interest by Kidder, Peabody & Co.; 223,531 2-3 shares of Montana-Dakota Utilities company common at $11.50 a share by Blyth & Co., and a 3½ million dollar issue of Devoe & Raynolds company 2⅞ per cent sinking fund debentures at 100⅝ per cent and accrued interest by a Shields & Co. group.

Also 50,000 shares of Pacific Greyhound Lines' $100 par 4 per cent cumulative preferred stock at $100 a share and accrued dividends by a group headed by Kidder, Peabody & Co. and Dean Witter & Co., and $9,793,000 Pennsylvania Power company 2⅞ per cent first mortgage bonds at 102½ per cent and accrued interest by First Boston corporation and Blyth & Co.

Big Utility Issue Offered

Offerings yesterday included 75 million dollars of Northern State Power company 2¾ per cent first mortgage bonds at 101 and interest by Smith, Barney & Co.; 13 millions of Lehigh Coal and Navigation company sinking fund 3½s at 100 and interest by Drexel & Co., and 4 millions of Consolidated Cigar corporation 3¼ per cent debentures at 101⅜ and interest by Eastman, Dillon & Co.

NEW CROP HOGS BOOST SUPPLY; PRICES STEADY

Arrivals of new crop hogs swelled yesterday's Chicago receipts to 13,000 head, including direct shipments to packers, the biggest Thursday volume since the middle of June. About 85 per cent of the supply consisted of spring pigs, most of them weighing 225 to 275 pounds, unusually heavy for this time of year.

Demand expanded on reports that much American pork and lard will be exported this winter. Prices held at ceiling levels.

Brisk demand for choice cattle cleared the yards quickly of all steers eligible to the $18 ceiling, but the trade for other classes of steers and heifers was not as lively. Some sales were at reductions of 15 to 25 cents.

Most top grades of lambs sold steady, at $14.75, but occasional lots were off as much as 25 cents.

BROKER AUDITS

It is convenient for me to leave stocks, bonds, and credits with stock exchange member brokers. I would appreciate information regarding the financial supervision of such firms.—H. D.

Supervision of the financial position of member firms of the Chicago and New York Stock exchanges is maintained by the exchanges themselves, and the securities and exchange commission requires all registered brokers to file audited statements of financial condition yearly.

The auditing departments of the stock exchanges require answers to a complete financial questionnaire at least once a year, accompanied by a financial statement certified by independent auditors. The firm selects the auditors, but the "surprise" examination date is determined by the stock exchanges. Questionnaires with no audit are submitted at other times, and the exchanges maintain their own examining staffs.

The exchanges have minimum requirements for capital of commission firms in relation to liabilities. If a broker is found insolvent, the SEC has power to revoke his license. Many member firms offer to furnish their balance sheet to customers on request.

The New York exchange yearbook for 1945 shows a 100 per cent solvency record for its members in every year since 1934 except for 99.78 per cent in 1938. The 45 year average is 99.69 per cent, which the exchange compares with a 98.35 per cent average for all United States banks. Nevertheless, on the basis of financial and other considerations, customers should exercise care in the selection of brokerage firms.

Stocks Turn Higher, Many Up 2 or More

New York, Oct. 25 (AP)—Investment demand returned to the stock market today and enabled selected rails and industrials to rally fractions to more than 3 points. Prices improved in most groups after a hesitant opening.

Dealings expanded occasionally, but many slowdowns restricted volume. Steels, up most of the day, slipped at the last, and top marks elsewhere were reduced in many cases. Transfers of 1,230,000 shares compared with 1,360,000 yesterday.

Belief the list had undergone a healthful technical correction of the lengthy swing upward caused the reinstatement of accounts. Action of the senate in broadening tax cuts was helpful.

At peaks for 1945 or longer were National Distillers, up 3⅞ on brightening business prospects; United Biscuit, on an extra dividend; Paramount Pictures, International Paper, RKO, and Sears-Roebuck. Standard Brands rose 3 points in response to a boosted dividend and an extra declaration.

BOND PRICES RISE

New York, Oct. 25 (AP)—A late rally in a selected list of rails added an advance in the bond market today, altho many issues were lower or stationary. A large total of new offerings detracted attention from existing bonds and sales fell to $5,680,000 from $5,750,000.

CHICAGO LIST GAINS

Prices closed higher on smaller turnover of 37,000 shares yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange. Most active were Sears, Roebuck, up ½; Commonwealth Edison, up ¼; Chicago corporation and Peabody Coal, both unchanged, and Miller & Hart, down ⅛.

GRAIN MARKET CLIMBS, TRADE IN OATS ACTIVE

Grain futures prices advanced yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade and the close was near the top. Wheat gained ⅛ to ½ cent a bushel; corn, ⅛ to ⅜; oats, ⅞ to 1; rye, 1 to 1¼, and barley ¾ to 1⅜.

Trading in oats futures was active, with cash and commission houses on the buying side after announcement the government had purchased 785,000 bushels of 36 pound No. 3 white oats Wednesday for shipment from Duluth, Minn., and marked improvement in the domestic demand.

Canada is expected to refuse permits for more exports of oats to France and Belgium. Brokers believed any more business in that grain will be in American oats.

COUNCIL VOIDS CITY, SURFACE LINES' CLAIMS

BY WILLIAM SHINNICK

Without dissent the city council yesterday adopted two ordinances approving the wiping out of 7 million dollars of claims against the Chicago Surface Lines and of 9 millions claimed by the lines against the city. This was done at the request of the Chicago transit authority which hopes to buy the surface and elevated lines and operate them under public ownership.

The city thus relinquished its rights to a compensation fund of nearly 6 millions, the largest of the claims against the surface lines. This was recommended by the securities and exchange commission in an advisory report to federal District court, which controls both companies in bankruptcy.

Will Go to Present Owners

The compensation fund, under the plan, would be distributed to the present owners and would help to make up the 85 millions which the surface lines investors are promised. Ald. Young [46th], who presented the ordinances, emphasized that the authority would not use more than 75 millions of its own money in making the purchase of the street car lines and about 12 billions in acquiring the "L." There was no debate on the motion to adopt.

The largest suface lines claim was for more than 5 million dollars alleged extra expense incurred by the lines in the construction of the city's subways.

Meet to Plan Fare Hearings

Today attorneys for the attorney general, the city, the office of price administration, and the elevated are to meet in the offices of Daniel A. Covelli, Circuit courtmaster in chancery, to plan hearings on the plea of the "L" for a 12 cent fare, a 2 cent increase.

Judge Finnegan has instructed Covelli to take testimony on whether the "L" is making sufficient money to pay operating costs. A decision of the Illinois Supreme court held that a fare increase should be granted if costs were not being met.

TAKE HARMONICA FROM STOMACH; CHILD SURVIVES

Karen Liberty, 3½ years old, was resting comfortably at Edgewater hospital yesterday after the removal of a three inch harmonica from her stomach.

She swallowed the harmonica, which measured three-fourths of an inch in width, several days ago and when efforts to remove it by instruments failed, doctors decided upon the operation. Dr. M. S. Hazel performed the operation.

The girl is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. Liberty, 5565 Ardmore av.

The Inquiring Camera Girl

BY MARYON ZYLSTRA

[The Tribune will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by The Tribune. Today's question was submitted by T. R. Gilliam, 1260 S. Wabash av.]

THE QUESTION

What has been your most memorable experience as a newsreel cameraman?

WHERE ASKED

THE ANSWERS

Emile Montemurro, Fox Movietone News, 9418 S. Leavitt st.—About 15 years ago I was assigned to photograph the first tests made of the Munson lung. We were in a submarine about 100 feet under water and I stood in water up to my neck in the sub photographing men going thru the escape hatch to the surface.

Sam Savitt, Universal Newsreel, 5435 Kimball av.—During the Indianapolis auto races I had my camera set up in front of another photographer's car. I felt it wasn't a safe place to be so I moved it. A few seconds later a racer came thru the railing and a chunk of timber sailed past the spot where I'd been.

Jack Barnett, Fox Movietone, 1062 Bryn Mawr av.—In Sicily I was photographing the bombarding of Agriento when somebody yelled at me in Italian. I lifted my hands in surrender and turned to see he had his hands up, too. He and 19 confederates surrendered to me and I got credit for capturing 20 prisoners.

Martin Barnett, Paramount, 6301 N. Richmond st.—My greatest thrill was photographing Gen. MacArthur in Melbourne, Australia. I had the privilege of being the first newsreel man to photograph him after he was appointed allied commander of the Southwest Pacific. I long had looked forward to meeting him.

Floyd Traynham, Universal Newsreel, 1301 S. Wabash av.—I nearly got stuck with a bayonet in Red Square in Moscow. I hadn't been in Russia long and I didn't know their national anthem was being played. Instead of standing at attention, I was taking pictures. Leon Trotsky, then minister of war, saved me.

Summit Dice Game Raid Results in Fines for 18

Eighteen men arrested in a dice game at 6314 Archer av., Summit, by the sheriff's office last Saturday, were fined $1 to $20 each yesterday by Justice of the Peace Henry Pendl at Willow Springs. The 19th defendant, Elwood Clark, Negro, 7552 W. 61st st., Summit, was fined $50.

FOUGHT SHARKS, SEA AND SHELLS TO AID LANDINGS

Lt. Frank A. Jameson of Pittsburg, Kas., who survived 13 months in the Pacific working with an underwater demolition team, arrived in Chicago yesterday on navy business. With U. D. T. team 11, Jameson aided in preparing beaches for assault waves at Okinawa, Brunei bay in northwest Borneo, and Balikpapan.

He told of brushes with sharks, sting rays, and a Japanese 4.7 inch shell which laid him up with blast concussion at Balikpapan. "Sharks didn't bother me much," he said. "They usually seemed pretty curious—swam up to look us over and then went away. If you remained perfectly quiet sting rays usually went on their way."

Wore Fins and Masks

It was the duty of the U. D. T. teams to clean out obstacles to landings on all beaches. The men worked under fire usually a week before the assault. The most often discovered obstacles, Jameson said, were posts at the beach edge, designed to tear the bottoms out of landing craft.

"We dived from landing craft," said Jameson, "wearing swimming trunks, fins on our feet, face masks, carrying knives, and towing 200 to 250 pounds of explosive in a bladder. At Okinawa we didn't lose any men, altho there were snipers and machine gun fire.

"Some of the men picked up spent bullets, which fell near them in the water, as souvenirs. At first the teams worked at night, but we changed to day time because at night when some one swam past close to you, you got to thinking the other fellow was a Jap. You could see better in the day time."

Greeting Sign on Guam

Before they stormed and took Guam, Jameson said, one of the U. D. T. men who helped prepare the way put up a sign, designed to greet the marines when they landed, which read: "Welcome to Guam—U. S. O. two blocks right." This form of jest was given up, he said, in order to avoid friction between the two services.

A matter that for a time bothered the U. D. T. teams was the Japanese plan to use burning oil on the beaches and in offshore water. Bombers, however, blasted the pipes and the plan never materialized.

Sometimes, Jameson said, men got lost during the reconnaissance work and were in the water as long as 12 hours before they were picked up. Before the war Jameson taught swimming in the Pittsburg Young Men's Christian association. He plans to go into high school coaching when he is discharged.

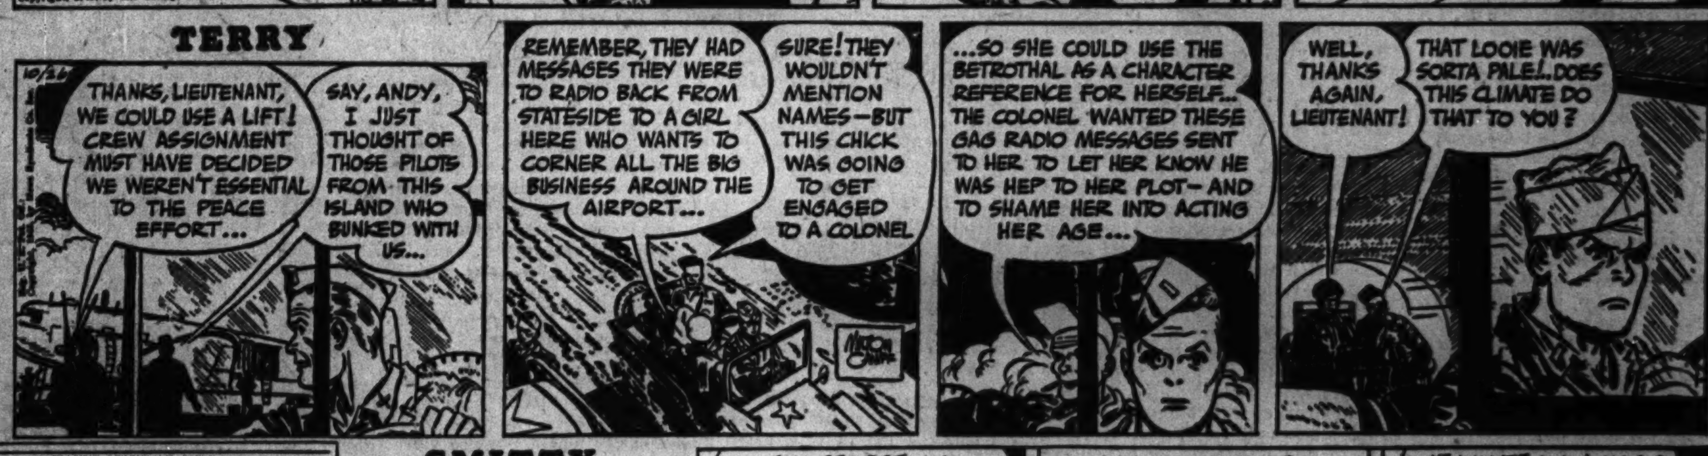
WAR CASUALTY TOTAL IS LOWER FOR FIFTH WEEK

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25 (AP)—The nation's war casualty toll took another downward turn today for the fifth consecutive week.

The new total for the services is 1,069,632, including 922,645 for the army and 146,558 for the navy. This is 429 under last week, a decrease accounted for largely by recovery of men previously listed as missing.

OPEN SCHOOL FOR YANKS

SHANGHAI, Oct. 25 [AP]—An army sponsored school opened today for United States troops anxious to learn Chinese or brush up on their English before returning to the United States.



17,000 TROOPS DUE TO ARRIVE IN EAST TODAY

3,500 More to Return on West Coast

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Approximately 17,000 service men are scheduled to arrive today at three east coast ports aboard nine troop carriers. In addition, 3,500 men are due at west coast ports, the majority of the arrivals being navy and marine personnel slated for discharge. Ships and units arriving today:

AT NEW YORK: [Maritime Victory] 1,909 miscellaneous troops. [Esek Hopkins] 841 troops including 679th tank destroyer battalion, 24th chemical company. [Louis Hennepin] 25 miscellaneous troops. Arrivals at Boston

AT BOSTON: [Marshall Victory] 1,975 troops including 635th tank destroyer battalion; headquarters and headquarters companies, 1107th and 1139th engineer combat groups; 188th and 228th field artillery battalions; also emergency returnees and miscellaneous personnel.

AT NEWPORT NEWS: [Central Falls Victory] 1,951 troops including headquarters and headquarters battery, 196th field artillery group; 203d field artillery battalion; 36th cavalry reconnaissance squadron; 463d medical collection company; 664th medical clearing company; 598th motor ambulance company. [Sea Tiger] 2,315 troops including 731st, 742d, 935th, and 938th field artillery battalions. [Booker T. Washington] 594 troops including 91st cavalry reconnaissance squadron; 3059th engineer model making detachment. [J. C. Breckenridge] 712 troops including 941st engineer aviation topography battalion and miscellaneous personnel.

AT SAN FRANCISCO: Six small vessels including Ata 209, Copahee, Hans Heg, Isabel, Orcas due to arrive with 2,743 passengers, mostly navy and marine personnel.

AT SEATTLE, WASH.: [Aleutian] 87 troops, [North Sea] 23 troops.

AT SAN DIEGO, CAL.: [Landing ship tank 1139] 625 navy and marine personnel for discharge.

AT LOS ANGELES: Transport Hansford and aircraft carrier Steamer Bay due with undetermined number.

16,500 Start Back This Week

PEARL HARBOR, T. H., Oct. 25 (AP)—In the largest contingent of service men to leave the Hawaii area since the war ended, nearly 16,500 army and navy veterans will begin their voyage home this week on 10 escort carriers, a hospital ship, and the aircraft carrier Saratoga.

PUPILS IN GARY HIGH THREATEN TO STRIKE AGAIN

Pupils of Froebel High school in Gary, Ind., who struck for 15 days in September in an effort to force segregation of Negroes, last night threatened to walk out again Monday because Richard A. Nuzum had been reinstated Wednesday as their principal.

The new strike threat was made by Leonard Levenda, chairman of the pupils committee, at a mass meeting of parents in the Spanish castle hall. Nuzum was reinstated after a group of educators who made a survey reported there was no evidence to justify his dismissal. Spokesmen of the parents denounced the board for what it termed a "whitewash" of Nuzum, who had been charged with upholding Negroes in racial clashes.

Levenda said: "The pupils feel that the school is not big enough for them and for Nuzum. They will be forced out Monday by his presence."

Parents said they would support their childrens' protests. The school recessed yesterday until Monday because of a two-day teachers' convention in Gary.

TWO ROB LAUNDRY DRIVER

Richard Simon, 1831 S. Hamlin av., a laundry driver, reported yesterday that two Negroes, one displaying a revolver, robbed him of $30 in the rear of 5051 Forrestville av.

MEETING TODAY TO PUSH BID FOR PEACE CAPITAL

Mayor Kelly informed the city council yesterday that his committee of 123 Chicagoans, named to aid in the campaign to procure selection of Chicago as the permanent capital of the united nations peace organization, will meet today in the council chambers. A subcommittee which has been preparing a brochure setting forth the city's advantages as a permanent headquarters will report, he said.

PUT METEORITE ON VIEW TODAY AT PLANETARIUM

A one-half ton meteorite has been lent to the Chicago park district by the Chicago Natural History museum and will be on display at Adler planetarium after noon today. The meteorite, found in the Canyon D'Ablo in New Mexico, will be moved today by truck. This specimen is composed of 90 per cent iron, 7 per cent nickle, ½ ounce of platinum, and has numerous diamond chips imbedded in it.

HOLLYWOOD
IMMEDIATE POSSESSION
OWNER MOVING! The house IS beautiful, in white, of modified Colonial lines; sturdily built. Interior decorative art is of RARE EXCELLENCE. The 30 ft. living room is quality carpeted, also the stair and master bedroom. A lovely sun porch is off the living room; a similar porch, above, connects with the large master bedroom.
There are 5 extra large rooms and 1 smaller. Fine closets aplenty. Almost new forced air self contained gas heating unit.
AT ITS PRICE OF $18,500.00 WE ENTHUSIASTICALLY RECOMMEND THIS HOME.
And now, the grounds! Included and adjoining the house is a small grove with a variety of trees. A flagstone walk leads to the center of this grove. There, under a canopy of green boughs, is a large circular flagstone disk. Visualize! table—benches—AND YOU, IN THE FAMILY CIRCLE—portable grill—steaks—hamburgers. Let your imagination run riot! It's up to you to make it reality.
